WEDNESDAY EVENING, . . . Nov. 4, 1903

Cotton sold on the local market today at 10 cents.

Caswell Chapter, R. A. Masons will work in the Royal Arch Degree tonight at 7:15 o'clock. A full attendance desired.

The Christian women of the town will hold their weekly prayer service at the Methodist church on Thurs. p. m. at 3 o'clock.

Mrs. Rogers requests those who are to take part in the play for the benefit of the library to meet at the opera house tonight promptly at 8 o'clock.

The mule hitched to one of the garbage carts of the city, became frightened this morning, at the Imperial factory and ran away, knocking the negro driver down.

At the chrysanthemum show Thursday and Friday refreshments will be served at a moderate charge. The show will be held in the afternoons of Thursday and Friday as well as the evenings.

A dog that was supposed to be mad was chased on the streets yesterday afternoon and finally shot to death in north Kinston. He had bitten a number of other dogs and showed other symptoms of hydrophobia.

Mr. V. A. Rountree left this morning for Raleigh, where tomorrow morning he will be wedded to Miss Susan Timberlake, of that city. He was accompanied by Mr. W. B. Coleman, who goes to attend the wedding.

There will be no services at the Episcopal church this evening, the rector, Rev. J. H. Griffith, Jr., being out of the city to conduct the funeral service at the burial of Mr. J. R. Whitfield, at Holy Innocents church, today.

Dr. J. M. Parrott is having erected a handsome, two-story dwelling on Gordon street, next to Mr. S. H. Abbott's residence. It will have nine rooms and be an adornment to that street. The plans were drawn by Mr. C. E. Lincoln.

Alfred Daniels, the man who shot William Maxwell near Lenoir and Duplin county line some time ago while Maxwell was in the woods at work, was arraigned at Duplin county court yesterday and a special venire of 100 men ordered for today. The grand jury found a true bill for murder in the first degree.

Elijah Lewis, a young playwright of North Carolina, was in Washington last week looking after affairs pertaining to the production of his new play, "A Man Without a Country," in this city.—Washington Post. Mr. E. B. Lewis, of this city, to whom the Post refers, was in Washington for the purpose of having his play copyrighted.

Mr. E. A. Stroud, of Vance township, left at THE FREE PRESS office, today, a curiosity in a potato shaped like a snake coiled to strike. The coil is very nearly a perfect representation of a snake ready to strike, with its head elevated at some height about the main body of the coil and if straightened out would measure as long as a good sized snake.

Help the Library.
 An institution that has for its object benevolence should not merely receive the indorsement of the public spirited people in the community in which it exists but have the material support of every person who is interested in the life of the institution.

The Kinston Library has certainly done a great deal for the broadening and enlightening the people of the city in that it has placed in the reach of every one that cared to take advantage of it, the best thought of the world, in book form, and that too at a cost so small to the individual as to be almost nothing. A member of the Kinston Library, and it only costs $1.50 a year to be a member, has access to over 1500 volumes of the choicest literature and why the reading public does take advantage of it is a mystery to every one.

But there is lack of interest shown in the welfare of this public benefactor that threatens its continuance and if the friends of the institution do not come to its aid there is but one thing to do. Subscribers in any considerable number just at this time will help to tide over the present condition, and the reading public is urged to subscribe to the library and not send the price of a year's subscription off for a single book that can be had at the library, as all the new books, if worthy are placed on the shelves as soon as book dealers get them.

It is to be hoped that this will meet with a ready response from the people of this city who are interested in the life of the library and that this great benefactor may be saved.

Contributions from anybody will be gladly welcomed at the library.

PERSONAL MENTION.

[Before leaving town or if you have friends visiting please notify this office for the benefit of your friends.]

Miss Myrtle West, of Dover, came up this morning to visit friends in the city.

Rev. G. N. Cowan spent yesterday in Goldsboro and returned to Kinston in the afternoon.

Mr. H. W. Simpson was up from Newbern this morning looking after his interests in the city.

Mr. E. O. Moore went to Richmond, Va., last night on business for the firm of Moore & Parrott.

Miss Mary Harvey, who has been visiting in Newbern for some time, returned home this morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Schultz left this morning for Charleston, S. C., where Mrs. Schultz will remain for some time at her old home to try and recover her health, which has been falling of late.

Mr. J. R. Whitfield Dead.

Mr. James Richard Whitfield died last evening at 7 o'clock, at his father, Col. N. B. Whitfield's residence, in north Kinston, of diphtheria, after an illness of about two weeks. The remains were taken to Holy Innocents church, of which the deceased was a vestryman, and there laid to rest in the cemetery of the church, today, Rev. J. H. Griffith, Jr., went with the funeral party and performed the last sad rites at the grave, the burial being private, according to sanitary laws in cases of death from contagious diseases.

Mr. Whitfield was 32 years old and was highly regarded in this city for his high Christian character. He was employed as salesman at Dixon & Hooker's hardware store at the time he was taken ill of the disease that caused his death.
