MONDAY EVENING, Nov. 30, 1903

Quite a few Rhodes' boys returned on the Coast Line train last evening from their Thanksgiving holiday.

Durham and Henderson put in a bid for the North Carolina conference for next year and Henderson was selected.

Alex Harris, a colored drayman who worked for Oettinger Bros., died Friday night and was buried Saturday. Alex was a well known and generally liked darky.

Mr. J. W. Mohr left yesterday morning for Hale's Ford, Va., where Wednesday, he will be married to Miss Lula Duncan, of that place, and will return here Thursday.

The tobacco market opened again today after the holiday for Thanksgiving and the sales were pretty good for a Monday's break and the prices were very good. About 50,000 pounds were sold.

The services at the Free Will Baptist church, conducted by Rev. S. B. Stephens, continue each night. His sermons yesterday were very interesting and instructive. Let all turn out and hear him tonight.

In the mention of the fight between the convicts near Dover THE FREE PRESS was in error as to its being the gang working for the Goldsboro Lumber Co., it was the force recently sent down there to cut wood for the A. & N. C. Railroad Company.

The Junior Auxiliary, of the Episcopal church, of which Mrs. M. H. Carr is president, expects to give a conundrum banquet and an art loan exhibition Friday evening of this week. A more specific notice will be given later concerning same.

Tickets for the Helen May Butler Ladies' Military Band are on sale at Dr. C. B. Woodley's drug store. This band of lady artists which shows here tomorrow night will be favorably remembered by Kinston theatre goers who witnessed their performance here last year.

Instead of the regular sermon yesterday morning at the Methodist church there was an address by Rev. W. B. Lee on the subject of Brazil, its life and his work in that country. Mr. Lee is well known in this community, having taught school here before his removal to Brazil as a missionary. He was heard by a large and appreciative audience. Last night he preached a fine sermon from the Methodist pulpit.

Charlie Davis, the young man referred to in Saturday's FREE PRESS, who was arrested Friday night on going to a meeting with his wife whom he was indicted for whipping, was tried Saturday evening before Justice Cox. According to the wife's testimony the trouble between them was not very serious and this morning the justice suspended judgement on the payment of cost. The trial Saturday resulted in a "making up" between the two and it is to be hoped that they will live happily ever after.

Clerk of the court Collins called the attention of the reporter to chapter 354, acts of the general assembly of North Carolina, 1903 session, relative to the registering of trained nurses in this State. This law requires all persons practicing this profession to register at the clerk's office before Jan. 1, 1904, or they will be compelled to undergo an examination before a State board of examiners and pay a fee of $5 to that board. One has already registered and THE FREE PRESS offers this information for the benefit of those in this city who have not done so.

Pretty Bad Record.
 Newbern Journal.
 Solicitor Rodolph Duffy of the fifth judicial district, was passing through this city yesterday, and remarked upon the unusual record which his district had during the present term. "There are six counties in my district," said the solicitor, "and we have seven capital cases, six homicides, one arson.
