Jr. Order to Meet.
The Junior Order of U. A. M. has its weekly meeting this evening at 8 o'clock.

Talk Recorder's Court.
Discussion of a recorder's court for the county is said to be a leading topic in legal circles now. Judge O. H. Allen is among the advocates of a court of this kind, and prominent barristers endorse it.

Spoiled Firemen's Fun.
The fire department was called at 12:20 today to the home of Miss Joanna Ennis, 308 E. Gordon street. A spark from a flue ignited the shingles of the roof. A negro discovered the blaze in its incipency and it was extinguished before the firemen arrived. The damage was trifling.

Escaped Convict Caught.
Policeman J. F. Skinner Wednesday night returned Norfolk, bringing with him Will Green, colored, who some time ago here sold a man water for whiskey, was given 12 months sentence, hired out, and escaped after a week. Green was picked up by the officer on a Norfolk street.

The Texas Quartette Pleases
It is very seldom that the average vaudeville performance of a moving picture theatre can be endorsed or commended to the public. The Texas Quartette, which is playing at the Dixie this week, is an exception. The men possess good voices and the songs they sing are decent and well rendered. Their entertainment is well worth hearing.

Coroner's Inquest.
The coroner's jury in the case of the murder of Joe Smith, colored, by Annie McGee, colored, held its inquest at city hall Wednesday night, and rendered a verdict that the deceased came to his death by a revolver bullet in the hands of the woman. Witnesses who appeared in the city court at the preliminary hearing in the morning were before the jury. The coroner's jury had viewed the body of Smith, which was sent to Smithfield, N. C., early Wednesday, Tuesday night after his death.

ASK AID FROM KINSTON
Snow Hill People Want City to Furnish Them Electricity.

City council has under advisement a proposition from Snow Hill to furnish light for that town. Since the destruction of the town's plant by fire about two years ago, Snow Hill has been without electricity. It is believed that the council favors furnishing the Greene county town with current, at the same rates as apply in Kinston, which are lower, according to water and light department estimates, than those in any town of similar size in eastern Carolina, provided Snow Hill erects the wire line from the city limits, a distance of 16 miles. Snow Hill has the local wires and lights already installed, and the greatest expense to the town would be the main transmission line. The fact that the local plant may not be able to carry any big additional load until after it has been enlarged may stand in the way of making the contract this fall.

GOD DON'T LOVE UGLY
Therefore Emma Tilghman Will Find Consolation in Coals of Fire.

Upon the complaint of Emma Tilghman, an old colored woman, Ed. Grainger, his wife and another female of his establishment, were haled into a magistrate's court Wednesday afternoon at the courthouse. The charge was larceny. A deputy sheriff with a search warrant had gone over the premises of the three Graingers in Southwest Kinston in an effort to locate household goods the old woman accused them of having stolen, to-wit: Bed quit, heater, bed springs, sheets, mattresses, ticks, quilts and squares, umbrella and clothes irons. The officer found nothing that looked like "Aunt" Emma's property.

The plaintiff was not satisfied until the matter was brought up in the court. She was certain the stuff had been hidden out by the trio. She summoned many witnesses. While she was off to find a party she depended upon as the star witness, however, the magistrate, tired of waiting for her and with the testimony of the officer who had the search warrant, dismissed the case and taxed Emma Tilghman with the costs, $4.85. "What it takes to git it wid, I got it," declared Aunt Emma; "shux, dat little money ain't nothin." The Graingers, she protested, if they remained her next door neighbors, would in time take her off along with the other things she charged them of having "lifted." "God don't love ugly, do He?" she asked. "Ne-er mind; I'se giin to pray for dem."

Florence Told All the Neighbors

"You come in and see my Florence oil cook stove work just once—and you won't be happy until you have one."
"You can have a slow, simmering fire on one burner at the same time you have a quick hot fire on another—and the other one regulated exactly to any work you want done. Just set the levers as you want them—and you can go away for two hours and find all the burners at exactly the same heat when you come back. That's because the oil supply is automatic and there are no sticks."
"It's so simple, so clean, so convenient, so cool, that I don't know what I should do without it."
"My husband has tested the FLORENCE with other stoves and he says it produces a wonderful amount of heat for the oil consumed and that it costs only about two cents an hour to run four burners."
