Austrians Claim to Have Gained Victory Over Russians—Japanese Take Possession of Railroad—German Aeroplanes Menace Paris—Germans Have Renewed Offensive Action Along Their Center—Allies' General Staff Withholds Plans for Resistance.

(By the United Press.)

Paris, Oct. 12.—It is officially announced that four were killed and twenty hurt in yesterday's aerial raids by German monoplanes.

A Naples Dispatch says that twenty Italian transports, heavily escorted by Italian naval vessels, have sailed for Cyrenacia, and that volunteer troops are being raised in Italy to take the place of the regulars who sailed. Although it is announced that this action was taken because the enlistment terms of many of the men soon expire. It is generally accepted that this is another step by the Italian government for its eventual participation in the war. If Italy takes possession of Trieste and Trent, as is confidently expected, she will then join the Allies. Italy has a hundred thousand trained soldiers ready for service. It is stated that the move is only a "precautionary mobilization." The army consists of five hundred thousand men.

OFFENSIVE WORK OF GERMANS ALONG CENTER RENEWED.

Paris, Oct. 12.—There is a renewal of the German offensive along the center of the battle front, this move having been expected several weeks. The rigid censorship will not permit the detailing of the plans the general staff of the Allies have adopted to meet the new conditions, but it is reported additional regiments have been sent from the east for the relief of Ostend. The allied forces are asserted to now extend to the northwest of the German right wing.

FRIENDS OF KINSTON-SNOW HILL LINE WANT EXTENSION TO FARMVILLE.

THROUGH SERVICE LATER

Norfolk Southern Expected to Give Consideration to This Extension When Conditions Are More Favorable—Other Work.

Agitation for the extension of the Kinston-Snow Hill Railroad to Farmville from Snow Hill is about to be renewed, and it is probable that the Norfolk Southern, controlling the line, may be urged to agree to make the improvement as soon as the present depression has been displaced. The extension would require the building of about sixteen or eighteen miles of road from the Greene county seat to a junction with the Norfolk Southern's Raleigh-Washington line at Farmville or elsewhere. The Norfolk Southern recently agreed to the early extension to the south of the Kinston-Pink Hill line, under the same management as the road to Snow Hill.

The idea is to make the line from Kinston to the Raleigh-Washington route a part of the Beaufort district and operate trains direct from Beaufort to Raleigh, instead of to Goldsboro as now. The twenty-six miles of road between Kinston and Goldsboro would then become a branch line. The agitators claim that the distance to Raleigh from any point east of Kinston would be considerably lessened and the present long waits in Goldsboro would be eliminated. There is no hope for the improvement immediately, since it is certain that the Kinston-Snow Hill road has not been making expenses during the past two months, although its losses have not been considerable. The road traverses an exceedingly fertile section in Lenoir and Greene counties.

MEXICAN SHELLS FALL ON U. S. SOIL.

Naco, Ariz., Oct. 11.—Four shells from Governor Maytorena's guns fell on American territory last night during a renewed attack by Villa adherents on the Carranza garrisons of Naco Sonora.

General Hill, commanding the garrison, lost about eight killed. Maytorena's loss was estimated at not less than 50 killed and many wounded. One of the four shells wrecked a large residence. Several Yaquis crossed the boundary line in order to attack the Naco garrison in the rear. They were disarmed promptly. Precisely, American soldiers were fired upon and returned the fire.

In addition to the shells many bullets fell on the American side.

LABOR SCARCE IN KINSTON ACCOUNT TOBACCO SEASON

SILK MILL MAY BE FORCED TO CLOSE BECAUSE WORKERS ARE LACKING.

TOBACCO CO.'S PAY WELL

Rural Darkies Engaged in Picking Cotton and School Enrollment Suffers—No Interruption in Silk Shipments.

As a result of scarcity of labor in Kinston one manufacturing enterprise is expected to suspend this week and the colored school enrollment is more than 200 off from the maximum enrollment of last year. The Ashley Company, operating silk mills in New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Virginia and North Carolina, will probably have to close down its plant here, employing colored labor only, because of the superior prices paid the labor in the tobacco redrying and stemming factories. Hundreds of black children which should be in school are no employed in the cotton fields, picking the crop from sunrise to dusk and receiving good wages for the work.

Last year there were 464 colored children in the school in South Kinston, but this year to date only 234 have been listed, an average of less than 35 pupils to a teacher. The Ashley mill in Kinston is the only one which the company will be required to close down. Silk shipments from Japan and China are practically unaffected by the war and every condition for the operation of the mill is said to be satisfactory except labor. The tobacco plants pay perhaps the highest wages paid to colored workers in North Carolina, and employ practically all the local surplus labor from September to January.

PHILADELPHIA	0	3	.000

Boston, Oct. 12.—The weather conditions are ideal for the third game of the world's championship series between the Boston Nationals and the American League team of Philadelphia today. Four thousand men were in line for the bleachers, when the gates were opened, and there were twenty-five thousand in line when the advance sale of seats opened. Two of those, in line all night, were prostrated. From the time the sale of seats opened, at 7 o'clock, the crowd grew by leaps and bounds. More than a thousand persons were in line yesterday afternoon.

Fenway Park, Boston, Oct. 12.—Fifteen thousand fans are packing the bleachers and ten thousand are on the outside clamoring for tickets. The ability of the police is taxed to its utmost to keep order. The conquering Braves came on the field for practice at noon, and the Athletics appeared on the scene at 1 o'clock. The fans gave the boys a big reception. The Braves are practicing both left and right-handed pitchers, seemingly to be in readiness for any emergency.

The game was called promptly at 2 o'clock, when the umpire announced the batteries. For Boston, Tyler and Gowdy were called upon, and Connie Mack sent his youngster, Bush, who succeeded in getting away with one of the series in 1913, played against the Giants, to the mound. Schang is catching for the Athletics.

First Inning. Philadelphia scored in the first inning, the first lead that she has had in the present series. Boston was goose-egged.

Second Inning. Boston evened up matters in this frame by pushing a lone run over the plate while Connie's boys were held scoreless.

Third Inning. Neither side scored in the third. Both pitchers going nicely.

Fourth Inning. Both sides put one over, and they are still even.

Fifth Inning. The rubber was not touched by either aspirant in this, the fifth frame.

Sixth Inning. Nothing doing for either side.

Seventh Inning. The same story, there was no scoring in the "famous" seventh.

Eighth Inning. And still neither side is able to break the tie.

Ninth Inning. The first extra inning game of the series is being staged for neither side did anything in this inning.

Tenth Inning. Philadelphia made two in the tenth and Boston did likewise. They're now four and.

Eleventh Inning. Philadelphia 0; Boston 0. James now pitching for Boston.

Twelfth Inning. Neither side scores.
