HAS CURE FOR HOG CHOLERA
Apropos of the epidemic of hog cholera in the counties south of here, Mrs. Francis Farmer of Wilmington suggests the following remedy to The Free Press:
One-half pint castor oil, one-fourth pound soda, in a pint of warm water. Salts is also fine, combined with soda and hot water.
Her prescription, Mrs. Farmer says, will prove effective when most all other home-made remedies fail.

KINSTONIANS IN CAROLINA-GEORGIA FOOTBALL GAME.
Reynold Allen and Phil. Hines of this city participated in the football game at Atlanta Saturday in which the University of North Carolina overwhelmed the University of Georgia by the score of 41 to 6. Allen was at quarterback and Hines at right halfback for the University of North Carolina. Tayloe, the Carolina captain, was the star of the game. The Tarheels will remain in Atlanta all this week practicing for the game with Vanderbilt at Nashville Saturday.

NEGRO EDUCATIONAL CONFERENCE STARTS.
The first of three educational meetings to be held in St. James' African Methodist Episcopal church, in South Kinston, will be featured tonight by addresses by Rev. W. H. Bryant and Dr. C. H. Bynum, a physician, leading local colored men. The final meeting will be on Wednesday evening. Rev. H. A. Humble, pastor of Queen Street Methodist church, will address Tuesday night's session. White people are especially invited. Collections will be taken up for the negro denominational school at Kite-trell.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE WANTS MORE MEMBERS.
The membership committee of the Chamber of Commerce is vigorously seeking new members for that body. All business men who join before the annual meeting on Wednesday evening will be entitled to membership and including the annual meeting of 1915. This inducement is offered in order to have as many representative men as possible enrolled by Wednesday, when the Chamber hopes, Kinston will put forth its best effort in the entertainment of visiting railroad men and 100 planters who will be the organization's guests.

AGED SWISS FARMER MURDERED IN CRAVEN.
New Bern, Oct. 18.—One of the most heartless murders to occur in Craven county took place some time yesterday afternoon between 3 and 4 o'clock, when some unknown person struck and killed H. J. Staub, a well known citizen of New Bern, while he was in the cow shed at his dairy farm two miles from the city. The crime was discovered by Henry Daw, a colored man who has been employed by Staub for twenty years or more, and who was on the place during the afternoon.

PEDDLER ON TRIAL FOR CHILD'S MURDER.
Pittsburgh, Pa., Oct. 19.—Jacob Taylor, twenty-two years old, a peddler of herbs prior to his arrest on June 16, last, went on trial here today for the murder of eight-year-old Florence Dove, who was brutally assaulted, killed and then hacked to pieces on a barren hillside at North Braddock

TODAY'S BREAK ECLIPSES ALL PRECEDING RECORDS

Three-Quarters of a Million or More Pounds Tobacco Will Be Sold in Kinston's Warehouses Today, Is the Estimate.

Seven hundred and fifty thousand pounds of the finest bright leaf tobacco ever grown was sold on the four warehouse floors in Kinston today, breaking all records for the market. Never in the history of the industry here has there been as much of the golden weed seen here at one time. The sales were twenty times as great as the total production of the season of 1885, when tobacco had its inception in Lenoir county, nearly 250,000 pounds more than on any previous day since the market's establishment, and 247,000 pounds greater than on any previous day of the season.

Every stall and driveway in the warehouses was filled at an early hour. Countless wagons came into town over every road, and the streets in the vicinity of the warehouses was lined with vehicles before the sales commenced. Buying was spirited, and the quality averaged so well that it is believed the prices averaged in excess of 13 cents a pound. Tobaccoists are at a loss to explain the great breaks of today, since Monday is notoriously the smallest sales day of the week customarily. The precedent seems to have come from no source other than accidental. The sales are continuing, and it is possible that the day's figures may be greatly increased.

BUSINESS MEN TO HEAR IMMIGRATION AGENT

C. A. Maul of A. C. L. Ry. Co. Will Tell How to Get Desirable Settlers to Come to This Section.

C. A. Maul, a special agent of the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad, will address Kinston business men in the Courthouse Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock on the subject of immigration. The A. C. L. is desirous of locating immigrants in this section from the Middle Western States and other parts of the country where the rural population is dense. Special Agent Maul will explain to the business men the best methods for inducing Ohioans, Indianans, Michiganders and people from other lake and middle States to Eastern Carolina, with its great area of virgin and inexpensive lands and superior climate. The Chamber of Commerce is interested in Mr. Maul's coming, and is striving to arouse interest in the business men to hear him.

Florence Told All the Neighbors
"You come in and see my Florence oil cook stove work just once—and you won't be happy until you have one."
"You can have a slow, smoldering fire on one burner at the same time you have a quick, hot fire on another—and the other one regulated, exactly to any work you want done. Just set the levers as you want them and you can go away for two hours and find all the burners at exactly the same heat when you come back. That's because the oil supply is automatic and there are no wicks."
"It's so simple, so clean, so convenient, so good, that I don't know what I should do without it."
"My husband has tested the FLORENCE with other stoves and he says it produces a wonderful amount of heat for the cost of coal and that it costs only about two cents an hour to run four burners."

FLORENCE Oil Cook Stoves
"Look for the Lever"

In the Florence you have—at last—the safe, reliable oil stove. Safety—and simplicity—and economy. They go together. Come in and see these wonderful cook stoves. They carry the manufacturer's guarantee in addition to our own.
