Off again on again—Mexico! Mexico! Note: This is the latest from the world's greatest hotbed of rebellion.

Kinston continues to demonstrate its ability to head the list of tobacco markets in the bright leaf section. The prices are gradually getting better as well. Just a booster note, that's all.

The business of spying is a most hazardous one. Almost as much so as that of flying. In the first case a fellow has a minute or two after he is detected to make preparations, and in the latter he has to go prepared.

There are 31 shopping days before Christmas. Do your shopping early and avoid the rush, at the same time you will render a service to mankind by distributing the work of the salespeople and not force them to work long hours the last week or two.

A news item says that a flour barrel of money was collected between the halves of the Yale-Princeton football game Saturday for the benefit of the Belgian sufferers. It is to be hoped that the coins were of the "offering" variety, and not the "collection."

The salespeople and the store managers can do much to push along the Christmas shopping by displaying their Christmas wares and making suggestions to all their customers that the Christmas stocks are ready for inspection. A hint to the wise is (quite frequently) sufficient.

A special "punching match" between Joe Mandot of New Orleans and Hal Stewart of Fort Wayne is slated for tonight in Kalamazoo, and admittance will only be given to women. The alleged object of the meet is to demonstrate to the women that prize-fighting is not so brutal? The "scrap" will no doubt be a tame affair "for demonstration purposes only."

Brother Cowan from Wilmington observes: "Madhouse Micky," in the Charlotte News, declared that the paragraphs' cry is "On to Charlotte!" The question is, however, will they be onto Charlotte? For Charlotte's benefit we suggest that she get onto "them," as they arrive, and not take any chances on allowing too many to get astray in the city limits.

The Free Press is glad that the City Council didn't find a way, even if that body had desired to do so, to reinstate the forfeited franchise rights of the Philadelphia gas concern. If that corporation means business and has the "stuff" to back its desires, the machinery for proper rights will be set in motion without difficulty. If it lacks those requisites, the next applicant should have the floor.

The National Women's Christian Temperance Union celebrated its fortieth anniversary yesterday. The annual convention now in session in Atlanta listened to addresses urging the ballot for women as an aid to national prohibition. Great strides have been made by the forces of temperance in the four decades, and long before another such period elapses, it is safe to predict, the Nation will be as dry as a desert.

The day for that "notorious meeting" in Charlotte is approaching. The Governor hasn't called an extra session of the legislature or taken any other emergency steps to prevent the "unlawful" gathering." The full burden of preserving order should not devolve upon one city. Charlotte should have the State's backing in controlling the bunch of free talkers who are expected to assemble.

The esteemed Raleigh Times is quite optimistic in its prediction of good times. In commenting upon the opening of the Federal Reserve Banks and the New York and New Orleans Cotton Exchanges, it says that Monday should have been a holiday and everybody should have celebrated it. In this connection The Times should bear in mind that the banks always observe holidays, and the naming of Monday as a national holiday would have been similar to the calf that ate up "whar he wuz goin'."

Some of the lesser lights in the foreign war seem to be trying to involve Uncle Sam and other neutral nations. Evidently with an idea of drawing the fire of their enemies away from their shores. Turkey had the audacity to fire on a launch carrying the Stars and Stripes, and was promptly informed by the commander of the cruiser Tennessee that he expected to enter the harbor. The incident, which made Bob Evans famous, is recalled in which he informed some South Americans that the lower regions would have the "aroma" of their garlic breath should any water be splashed on Uncle Sam's boat over which he sat. The wireless has altered the spectacular stunts of the commanders of Evans' palmy days, for now the Admiral has to await orders from Washington, as was the case in the famous salute the flag episode at Tampico.

PAY-UP WEEK FOR KINSTON

There has been some favorable comment on the suggestion made last week by The Free Press for a "pay-up week" in Kinston. The plan has not taken any definite shape, however, but it should. Winston-Salem will observe the week of November 27, and urge all its citizens to dig down and "ante-up." Greensboro has already set the pace and turned loose a goodly sum of small change, which in the aggregate has helped to swell the circulation in that city considerably. Raleigh is talking about the plan. Why not set aside the last week in November for Kinston people to attend to their obligations? There are just hundreds of little accounts, insignificant in themselves but consequential in the total, open on the books of every firm in Kinston, which does a credit business. Accounts that could be paid without hardship or deprivation on the part of the payer, and which would help the merchants materially. Can't the capable Secretary of the Merchants' Association put the movement a-going?

WHAT OTHERS SAY.

GOOD SOUND—IF EMPTY

Henderson Gold Leaf: "The South has her ears to the ground hoping to hear something more about that report from New Orleans that Germany is paying eighteen cents per pound for cotton."

NEW ENGLAND NEGRO CONDEMNED

Wilmington Dispatch: "It is a mark of enlightenment, of manliness that many leaders of the colored race do not approve at all of Trotter's conduct at the White House. Several such leaders have written President Wilson expressing their regret and assuring him that they are perfectly satisfied."

IN THE MINORITY

Durham Sun: "The election of a Republican congressman from the tenth district will be of no benefit to North Carolina or the tenth district. Mr. Britt may be an able man, but he will naturally have to oppose the administration which will not get him anything. His election virtually means fifteen thousand dollars and mileage waste for the national government so far as any benefit may result. His election will produce no good results to his constituents and he will be the only one to be benefited."

AGE IN THE FOREFRONT

Norfolk Ledger Dispatch: "The great European war has again demonstrated that men past fifty, sixty and even seventy years of age, are still filling the most important places. An observer calls attention to the fact that Lord Kitchener, who is directing the operations of the British army, is sixty five, yet there is no man in all of Britain so competent as he. Lord Fisher, first lord of the admiralty, the new chief of the navy, is 73; and Lord Roberts, who, while not in the field, is actively co-operating with the military authorities, is far past seventy. Kaiser Wilhelm is approaching sixty, and the men commanding his armies are older than he. General Joffre, the head of the French army, is in his seventies. It is also recalled that General Robert E. Lee, considered by many the greatest military genius the world has known, was nearing sixty at the time he was displaying his greatest ability."

BELGIAN REFUGEE ENTERED IN SIX-DAY BICYCLE RACE

New York, Nov. 17.—Here's a real war item. Victor Linart, a Belgian, entered in the six-day bicycle race here got in training for the event by running from the Germans. Linart admits that he won the now famous dash from Antwerp when the Germans captured the city, but was the first to reach the famous coast resort. Linart is the middle distance champion of Belgium. After reaching Ostend ahead of all the other starters, Linart went to Folkestone, England, where he was a refugee. A German shell wrecked his home during the bombardment of Antwerp and he lost his racing outfit. This did not interfere with his speed in reaching Ostend, however, and Floyd McFarland, managing the six-day race, had new togs awaiting him here. In a letter to McFarland while at Folkestone, Linart said: "I rode my wheel from Antwerp to Ostend, and it was a hard ride. I was one of the last to leave Antwerp and the first to arrive in Ostend. My making wide detours to escape the awful congestion on the main highway, tripled the distance, and riding at top speed all the time, put me in fine shape."

CLYDE LINER NAVAHOE HAD ROUGH VOYAGE.

Wilmington, Nov. 17.—Ten hours behind her schedule and listing badly to starboard on account of shifting cargo, the Clyde line steamer Navahoe came into port late yesterday afternoon and brought to Wilmington the first news of the proportions of the storm disturbance which swept the Atlantic coast Saturday night and Sunday. According to one of the officers on the Navahoe, the storm was the worst that he has encountered in twenty years of service on the sea.

WOMEN ONLY TO SEE BOUT.

Kalamazoo, Mich., Nov. 18.—A four-round boxing bout between Joe Mandot, New Orleans, and Hal Stewart, Fort Wayne, Indiana, two lightweights, will furnish a precedent in sporting circles this afternoon for women only will be admitted to see the scrap.

Two sporting writers are staging the affair in order to convince the fair spectators that there is nothing brutal in boxing. Admittance will be free.

KINSTON'S REPLY

Kinston Accepts the Evidence and Many Kinston Readers Will Profit By It.

Which is the more weighty proof—a few words from a Kinston resident, whom we know and respect, or volumes from strangers in distant towns? There can be only one reply. Emmett Haskins, carpenter, 403 East Street, Kinston, says: "My kidneys were out of order, and I had dull pains across my back and loins. In the morning I was sore and lame and could hardly bend to pick up my tools. The kidney secretions were scanty, highly colored and contained sediment. I finally got Doan's Kidney Pills from the J. E. Hood & Co.'s drug store and they soon relieved me of the backache and all other symptoms of kidney trouble. Whenever my back or my kidneys bother me now, I always use Doan's Kidney Pills and they never fail to relieve me."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Haskins had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.
