New Shoe in White Grey Is
"Exciting" — Margaret
Mason, In a General Discussion of Headgear, and Dresses and Boots.

By Margaret Mason
(Written for the United Press.)

"Is my hat on straight, dear?"
You never more hear
For its proper angle
Is now on one ear:
"Does my skirt hang straight,
love?"
Is also old stuff.
If chic now it can't be Quite crooked enough.

New York, Nov. 21.—You've simply got to be a bit "crooked" if you are going to be fashionable. The very newest skirt models are either short to the shoe tops in front and back with a fall to the instep on either side or they are up to the calf on each side, and to the shoe tops at front and back. Some are cut in jagged points around the bottom and others are finished in scollops while one daring model advocates that erstwhile sloppy effect whereby the front barely touches the boot-tops and the back just grazes the heels. Along these lines is a skirt whose long tunic edged with fur hangs to the heels in back and just below the knees in front. Under it, only visible in the front, is an underskirt to the shoe-tops. Another skirt shown at the recent New York Fashion Fete was so hung that the length of the front was on a line with the tops of the band of fur edging in back. The effect of a front view then was that of two rows of fur with a pair of tootsies thrust between rows for the back band of fur was set on the whole width of the fur band longer behind.

The ripple skirts are also very good and invariably fur finished. They are usually cut circular, but some are shown shirred on a hip yoke or even at the waist line.

Never has fur been used so extensively as a dress trimming and the lovely new shades of putty and sand are exquisite in combination with the rich brown of sable, skunk and the less expensive dyed squirrel. Sand and putty are the exact shades their names signify and the former shade especially should prove extremely popular aside from its beauty, for it certainly does take sand these days to wear some of the styles.

Black tulle overskirts and sleeves in black velvet gowns continue to be a favorite combination for smart afternoon costumes gleaming here and there with ropes or buttons of jet. Where a relief from such sombreness is desired the sand and putty shades are combined with the black with charming results. This color long and so dearly beloved. Black tulle over velvet or satin and heavily be-decked effort to supplant the tulle, but as a smart fashion authority boldly announced that the lace is not to be worn by any woman under twenty-eight its chances for favor can be seen with half an eye are very slight.

As an inevitable outcome of the sleeveless fashion for evening has come the wristlets of fur with a fluff of tulle attached to fall over the hand. This dainty little conceit will undoubtedly play the good Samaritan to many an ungainly hand and ill turned wrist this winter.

There is an exciting new shoe or boot rather which comes in white or grey or beige buckskin, and laces up the inner side of the shoe instead of the front. It is chastely plain and tight fitting, save for a saucy little pointed tip of black patent kid stuck on the toe with an effect of piquancy for all the world like that of a beauty spot against the damask of milady's cheek.

A dashing little debutante wore a pair of those startling boots in white buckskin at the Ritz the other day and you brought up with a start from the tip of her pretty toes to the tip of her pretty nose, only to find that it was daintily dusted with rougeon its retroussee end in the very latest mode.

Another pair of comic opera boots sported on the same occasion were of all over black patent kid. They laced up the front to a height half way of the calf where they ended in a swaying black tassel.

Some of the quaintest little black patent kid dancing slippers have very bright red heels. With this hectic touch to her pedal extremities and her nasal appendage of milady is certainly going to extremes for her bit of color these days. Eh! What?
