

OF LOCAL INTEREST

MARRIAGE LICENSE. License was granted this morning to one colored couple of the county, Jesse Blackman, 21, and Annie Williams, 18.

SALE OF PLANTATION. The Burton Bros. Realty Co. of Wilson are selling at auction today the J. F. Harper farm in Vance township. The plantation was parcelled off for the sale.

AN OYSTER FAMINE ... IN SOUNDS TOWNS

The laying off of oyster boats for the holidays has caused a famine of the bivalves in the Eastern Carolina markets. The Christmas trade was exceedingly heavy and exhausted the supplies on hand prior to Friday. Kinston is not materially affected, since the majority of the local dealers are supplied from Norfolk.

WEATHER LOOSENS UP.

Higher temperature and the elimination of ice by the rain of Monday, gratified early risers today. The ice which had coated the streets for the past three days occasioned a number of accidents in this section, although but one has been reported in Kinston. Travel over the country roads was exceedingly bad, and farmers driving into the city on Monday abandoned the trip rather than risk their horses on slippery bridges.

DOVER MILL OFFICE REPORTED ROBBED

A report reached here today of the robbing of the office of the Goldsboro Lumber Company at Dover. Thieves are said to have taken about $100 from the safe. The Craven county sheriff went to Dover with bloodhounds, which started to work in a very encouraging manner, but for some reason lost the trail. The robbers have not been apprehended. D. W. Richardson, very well known here, is manager of the big plant.

BROTHERS ARRESTED FOR CUTTING AGED DARKEY.

Deputy Sheriff H. V. Allen Monday night arrested Raymond and Henry Sutton, colored, brothers, at a country dance near Falling Creek, for an assault with knives upon Henry Williams, an elderly darkey, on Christmas. The Suttons are accused of inflicting ugly cuts on Williams' head, neck and back while the three were drinking. Allen located them in the midst of a breakdown in a negro house. They gave bond.

WAYNE YOUTH TO BE TRIED FOR PATRICIDE.

At the instance of uncles of the youth, Leroy Price, who shot and killed his father near Seven Springs several weeks ago, will probably have to stand trial for the murder. The grand jury had previously liberated young Price upon the ground that the killing was justifiable. R. B. Price, the father, had been accused of mistreating his wife, who, it was said, had been defended by their son. The elder Price's brothers are understood to have secured new evidence which will be introduced against the defendant, who is now under bond, at the next term of Wayne Superior Court.

NO DAIRY INSPECTION YET.

Meat and Milk Inspector Foley has not secured the inspection by State experts of local dairies that he had hoped for. Dr. Foley had hoped to start the new year off with a clean slate, although he has been in office less than a month. The weather, however, has been too bad to undertake the inspection, which will necessarily be tedious and slow, since there are probably 150 head of animals supplying the local market. The daily inspection of markets and frequent visits of Dr. Foley to the dairies have already resulted in much good. The visit of the State expert, who will come to Kinston as soon as conditions are favorable, will be principally for the purpose of making tuberculin tests.

INTEREST IN FAIR DOES NOT LAG NOW.

One of the most important matters to come up before the Chamber of Commerce next Tuesday night probably will be discussion of the proposed sectional or county fair for Kinston next year. Prominent men, including President J. Herman Canady, will advocate the establishment of the fair, which, Mr. Canady says, can be started off at a very reasonable expense. Other enthusiastic champions of the fair include Mr. J. F. Taylor, Mr. P. S. B. Harper and Dr. W. C. Knox and others. The favor for a sectional instead of a county fair grows, and it is expected that if the plans are formulated in January, as the Chamber will probably decide upon, Greene, Onslow, Duplin, and the other bordering counties possibly, will be invited to participate.

AGED MAN BAREFOOTED ON STREET IN SEVERE COLD

Neighbors of L. B. Cox, an elderly well known man of 110 West Bright street, had to be assisted into his home by neighbors who found him standing on the icy sidewalk in his bare feet and night clothes, in a bitter temperature. He had to be resuscitated, having been almost frozen during the exposure. Mr. Cox is an octogenarian and lives alone.

JOHN HARPER'S ACCOUNT OF KILLING LATHAM

John Harper, held in the county jail for the murder of Lark Latham, denies that he struck Latham with a board. The men, negroes, engaged in a fight on North street Christmas night which culminated in Latham's skull being fractured by a blow from some heavy instrument, presumably in the hands of Harper. Harper declares he struck Latham with a walking cane. The slayer probably intends to plead self-defense, and says Latham was about to attack him with a knife when he used the cane. The officers found no knife in the vicinity where Latham laid unconscious on the ground after being struck. The case, in the opinion of the authorities, looks like a first degree affair.

$10,000 OFFERED FOR SERIAL PHOTO PLAY

The Thanouser Syndicate Corporation and the Chicago Tribune have made a very remarkable offer of $10,000 for an acceptable photoplay serial story. The offer states that there are no strings or qualifications but a bona-fide offer for a big idea. Any who wish to try for the money can get further information by applying to Mr. H. F. Stallings, manager of the New Grand Theater. The Grand will open about January 15th, and the great Thanouser serial, Zudora, which has been attracting so much attention wherever it has been shown, will be one of the features of the new playhouse.

NICKLE IN THE SLOT TO GET A RAINCOAT

Fayetteville, Ark., Dec. 29.—The raincoat has taken its place alongside the egg sandwich, chewing gum and insurance policies placed before the public in vending machines. The man who drops his nickle for a package of gum to aid in the digestion of his nickle-in-the-slot meal, and then pays a quarter to another machine for a policy insuring him against the consequences may soon get a raincoat from an adjacent machine as a result of the ingenuity of Miss Elizabeth Galbraith, head of the art faculty of the University of Arkansas. Miss Galbraith has obtained letters patent on a paper raincoat, said to be waterproof. She plans to manufacture the coats in large quantities and distribute them in specially devised vending devices.

Stirring Times.

"While coming back from Europe our ship was swept by the searchlight of an English cruiser." "Very thrilling, no doubt, but while we were coming back from Europe our ship was swept by a wave of Germanophobia and there were enough German-Americans on board to put up a fight."

LENOIR ALUMNI OF UNIVERSITY SMOKER

Hon. Victor Bryant of Durham Will Be Chief Speaker Tonight—All Alumni and Students Are Cordially Invited to Attend.

Hon. Victor S. Bryant of Durham is in the city the guest of Mr. C. Felix Harvey, on North Queen street. He will address the Lenoir County Alumni Association of the University of North Carolina at its dinner tonight in Pythian Hall.

The association is preparing for forty-five members and guests of honor, and the occasion will be a notable one for the friends of the White and Blue in Lenoir.

The boys row in attendance at the University will be guests of the Alumni, and will live the occasion with some of the songs and yells that terrified every opponent on the athletic fields of the South this year, with one sad exception. Several talks will be made by members, and it is hoped that all will attend.

Any alumni visiting in the city are cordially invited and will receive a hearty welcome. It will be entirely informal as to dress.
