LARGEST CONGREGATIONS OF CAMPAIGN HUERTA MAY GO TO ITALIAN SAILINGS ATTENDED VARIOUS SERVICES THURSDAY WASHINGTON TO SEE FROM U. S. PORTS AT DROP OF THE HAT ORDER FOR KINSTON SCHOOLS APPOINTED NIGHT---MASS-MEETINGS FOR SUNDAY AFT WILSON AND BRYAN

Two mass meetings for men have been announced for Sunday afternoon. These will be conducted by Evangelistists Wharton in the Loftin Opera House and Cross in the Gordon Street Christian church. Dr. Roseborough will speak to the young people in a mass meeting at the Atkinson Memorial Presbyterian church. All meetings in the simultaneous campaign were given increased attendance Thursday night. Caswell Street Methodist, led by the pastor, Rev. E. N. Harrison, is enjoying a splendid series of services. The attendance and interest have been most encouraging and professions of faith have been made. Evangelist Cross held the rapt attention of an overflowing congregation Thursday night, who gathered to hear him talk about "The Sins of Kinston." Dr. Wharton told his hearers that his meetings were non-denominational and a part of the great campaign now going on in the city. Dr. Roseborough and Evangelist Browning are stirring their hearers with their earnest, soul-searching messages.

Dr. Wharton preached to steadily increasing congregations. yesterday afternoon and last night. His subjects were "The Assurances of a Christian," and "The Christian's Inventory."

At the evening service he strongly emphasized the fact that these services are strictly not denominational, but simply the Baptists' part in the city-wide evangelistic campaign. He preaches no sensational nerve-wrecking sermons, but always interests, and never fails to hold his audience.

On Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock Dr. Wharton will preach to men only. His subjects will be "Death at the Frolic." At this service Prof. Busch will sing as a solo "At the Feast of Belshazzar." All men of the community are cordially invited to attend this service.

of Chamber of Commerce Gives Advice, But Does Not Set Date-Independent Street Site Chosen

Secretary Sutton of the Chamber of Commerce is in receipt of a letter from the Corporation Commission stating that the order has been issued for the construction by the Atlantic Coast Line and the Norfolk Southern interests of the union passenger station at the corner of Gordon and Independent streets. The letter is vague in the extreme, and gives no idea of the date when the Hines declared that he was too much work will be required to be commenc-

The Corporation in 1914 determined upon the joint depot, but withheld the order for building at the time to give the railroads time to recuperate from the period of depression which was undeniably working hardships upon them. The depot followed the demand of the people of Kinston for better passenger facilities, and was decided upon in the face of the protests of the railroads.

It is believed that work will be commenced some time during the next six or eight months. Several dwellings and the Presbyterian church, occupying the site will be condemned, appraised and removed to accommodate the structure, which will cost, it has been reported, about $35,000. The station as proposed would be similar to that of Winston-Salem, an inferior building for a city of that size, but adequate for local use. It would be a very poor sort of a station anyway that would not be an improvement over the present small, poorly-constructed and unsightly depots of the Norfolk Southern and A. C. L. here, according to members of the Chamber of Commerce, who are delighted over the fact that the building the Chamber has so consistently labored for is about to be erected.

Old Board With Exception of Mr. Hines, Who Declined, Was Chosen-Mr. Cowper New Member-

Poliholders Appointed

Messrs. J. W. Goodson, J. O. Miller and William Hayes, members of the Board of School Trurstees of the city, whose terms expire in May, were re-elected by the Board of Aldermen Thursday night. Mr. W. T. Hines, another trustee whose tenure of office culminates at the same time, declined to be reinstated and Mr. G. V. Cowper was named in his stead. Mr. occupied with private business to give the office the attention he thinks it deserves. Messrs. Goodson, Miller, Hayes and Hines have made excellent trustees. They are all representative men, and it is certain a more capable quartet could not be found in the city. Mr. Cowper is regarded as being au strong a man as his colleagues on the board and is sure to fill the bill in the manner the aldermen expect him to.

The occupations of the four elected are: Mr. Goodson, tobacconist; Mr. Miller, furniture dealer; Mr. Hayes, railroad and lumber man; Mr. Cowper, lawyer.

The aldermen also appointed pollholders for the coming municipal election as follows: T. R. Lee, First Ward; J. C. Smith, Second Ward, and J. C. Kennedy, Third Ward.

MACHINIST A SLICK CHECK FLASHER

W. H. Preston, a machinist in the employ of an oil company at Pollocksville, was arrested near that town Thursday, but allowed to get away through some inadvertence, for flashing a check for $750. Preston had been at Pollocksville four months and left there and went to Petersburg. Va., where, claiming to be a director of the Bank of Pollocksville, he gave the bogus check in exchange for an automobile. The manager of the Petersburg concern sent a man along with Preston on some pretense or other, but at Goldsboro Preston swindled the other out of all his money, and continued his trip to Pollocksville. He joined his bride of a few weeks there, and the couple put out in the machine. The agent wired clock. Open air exercises were held ton through Kinston. He ran across the couple several miles from Pollocksville, dispossessed them of the car, but careleasly permitted Presto to make his get-away.
