HONOR MEMORY LEE AND JACKSON THIS EVENING IN CHURCH

The Edifice of the Gordon Street Christians to Be Used for Services to Be Participated in by Three Full Congregations and the Public

(By the United Press)

The congregation of Atkinson Memorial Presbyterian, the First Baptist and Gordon Street Christian churches will unite in religious services to be held in the edifice of the Christians this evening in commemoration of the natal anniversaries of Robert Edward Lee and Thomas J. (Stonewall) Jackson, and the general public is cordially invited to attend. The services will be under the auspices of A. M. Waddell Chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy. They will start at 7:30 o'clock. The speaker of the evening will be Mr. B. P. Smith, pastor of Gordon Street church. There will be special music.

Nearly every ex-Confederate soldier in the city will, of course, attend these services. Hundreds of persons should be attracted through a sense of patriotism, and many will be present just to do homage to the surviving characters of the two great Southerners, whose biographers refer to them as "Christian gentlemen" and "soldiers of God and a lesser cause."

The customary midweek prayer services in the three churches named will be dispensed with, of course, and their pastors will attend the exercises in Gordon Street church with the congregations.

George Rooks, brother-in-law of Emily Burger, was a State witness. He identified a card alleged to have been sent by Mrs. Mohr threatening Emily's life. He said he heard the defendant threaten her husband.

DEATH CLAIMS CHAS. H. FOY AFTER LONG FIGHT FOR HEALTH

Well-Known Kinston Man Passes Away In Jones County—Funeral Here Tomorrow—Was of Excellent Character

Many months and thousands of dollars spent in pursuit of health availed Charles H. Foy naught. Mr. Foy, 59 years of age and one of this city's well known men, died at a country home in Jones county some miles from here Tuesday evening between 8 and 9 o'clock. Tuberculosis was the immediate cause of his demise. He is survived by his wife, two daughters, Misses Elizabeth and Ruby Foy of Kinston, and one son, Mr. Henry Foy of Norfolk, and several brothers and sisters. The remains were to be brought here this afternoon. The funeral will be held from the city residence, on McLewain street at 10:30 a. m. Thursday.

Mr. Foy had been in declining health for several years. He had travelled extensively in the West and had spent some weeks at a Michigan sanatorium in the hope of regaining his wasting vitality. Specialists said chronic stomach disorder was troubling him. Probably that complaint aided the disease which veaued his death. Through all the months of his indisposition he maintained excellent spirit and until he left the city for the country was frequently on the streets to chat with his friends. The rural life, he believed, would benefit him more than all other treatment if there was any improvement in store for him.

Mr. Foy was born in Jones county and has lived practically all of his life in this section. He was a member of the Methodist church. He was a large landowner and of independent means. He was a Mason. His character was exemplary.

Interment of the remains will be in Maplewood cemetery. The funeral is expected to be largely attended, since the majority of people in the county were acquainted with the deceased. He was prominently connected.

FIRST SESSION OF MISSION CONFERENCE TO BE HELD TONIGHT

Scores of Methodist Women of East Carolina to Gather in Kinston

AN IMPORTANT MEETING

Not Much Formal Tonight. Rev. H. A. Humble to Open Convention—Address of Welcome by Mrs. Bettie Lee

The majority of the officers and delegates to the annual missionary conference of the Methodist women of the Eastern half of the State will arrive on this afternoon's and evening's trains. Probably a half dozen had arrived this morning. Homes were assigned for about 130 visitors on Tuesday. Mrs. R. B. John, the President, will arrive this afternoon from Smithfield. Members of the local society, of which Mrs. N. B. Moore is the president, will meet the delegates at the depots and conduct them to the homes in which they will be entertained during the remainder of the week. Practically all of the visitors are expected to remain through Sunday. They will be from as far East as Wilmington, Washington and Elizabeth City and as far West as Rockingham, Raleigh and Durham.

The first session of the conference will be held tonight at 7:30 o'clock in Queen Street Methodist church, in which edifice all the sessions of the week will be conducted. The choir of the church will render an anthem, after which there will be scripture reading by Pastor H. A. Humble of Queen Street church, another musical number and a prayer by Mr. Humble. Mrs. Bettie Lee of the local society will make a brief address of welcome. There is no responses scheduled. With Mrs. Lee's speech the formal program of the evening will be concluded, after which there will be a get-acquainted period in which the visiting women will be introduced to one another and their more than half a hundred hostesses.

Not more than 200 will be in attendance upon the conference, it is believed, but officers of the local society will not be surprised if that number is attained. The conference will get down to actual business on Thursday, with reports and plans for future work. Sessions will be featured during the remainder of the week by addresses by noted mission workers and returned missionaries, etc. The Conference Society is one of the most influential organizations of its kind in the South. It raised between $95,000 and $40,000 for mission work last year.

FIRST REPORT SAYS GAS EXPLODED IN SUBMARINE

Washington, Jan. 18.—Gas generated by the new Edison storage battery and ignited by a spark of unknown origin is held responsible for the explosion on the submarine E-2, at the New York navy yard Saturday in a report to Secretary Daniels today by the board of inquiry to determine the cause of the disaster in which five men lost their lives and nine were seriously injured.

As only one of the survivors was in a condition to testify, the report is regarded by the secretary as inconclusive.

BABY DIED, FATHER COULDN'T BE FOUND.

(By the Eastern Press) Washington, N. C., Jan. 19.—Telegrams told relatives here of the death yesterday in Denver, Col., of the infant son of Thos. Clark and wife. Mr. Clark was a prominent business man here until ill health drove him west. Many attempts had been made to locate him, but he had not been found when the baby died, said the telegram. He was traveling on the Pacific coast.
