ITEMS OF INTEREST AND IMPORTANCE TO LENOIR'S TEACHERS

The Group Teachers' Meetings.

On Monday, February 21, the second series of group teachers' meetings will be held in the county at the following group center schools:

Airy Grove, Monday, February 21.
 Woodington, Tuesday, February 22.
 Moss Hill, Wednesday, February 23.
 Farm Valley, Thursday, February 24.

Graingers, Friday, February 25.
 Pink Hill, Monday, February 28.
 Mr. L. C. Brogden, State Supervisor of Rural Schools, the County Superintendent of Schools, and the Assistant will meet the teachers of the various groups at the group center schools at 9:15 o'clock each day, and a regular program of work will be carried on until 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

At 2:30 o'clock, all committeemen of the different schools making up each group of schools are especially invited and urged to attend the meeting.

The regular meeting of the Lenoir Teachers' Association will be held the third Saturday in March. At this meeting reports from all the group meetings will be given. Let each group center school as well as each teacher and committeemen in the different groups work now to make the best report, to have the best attendance of both teachers and committeemen, to be at the meeting place on time, to come prepared to help make their group of schools the best group in the county, is the advice of the education authorities. How the County Paper Helps Our School.

The following was sent to the school column by Cecil N. Stroud, a pupil at Piney Grove School:

"The county paper is very helpful to our school. We are fortunate in having two papers carried to our school daily. This gives a great many children who do not have the papers in their homes an opportunity to read the news which they would not be able to get otherwise.

"We find the papers useful in the discussion of Current Events. They furnish many topics of National interest as well as home interest. From these topics we get splendid material for our debates on the country's problems.

"The school column is of special interest. By reading it we learn what our neighbor schools are doing. When we read of the spelling matches, debates and other contests between the different schools it creates in us a desire to do more work and better work along those lines.

"The honor roll in the papers has a good effect. After reading the names of those who have been so fortunate—I often hear a whisper through the school room—'Let's try to be good for one month of our life.'"

How the Children of Piney Grove School Spend the Recess Period.

(By Miss Eunice Albritton, primary teacher)

The children's recreation periods are as essential as their work periods if directed in the right way.

Our school is divided into two groups. We thought it best that this should be done, as the same games are not suitable to children of different ages. The right-hand side of our grounds is given to the larger pupils for a ball ground and other games. This is superintended by one teacher. The left-hand side of the grounds is given to the little folks, where singing and rhythm games are carried on under the direction of the other teacher. All the children enjoy the games and all play at every recess. Among the games played are the following: Looly-Loo; King of France; Musicians; Oats, Peas, Beans; The Wind Mill; See-Saw.

To the teachers interested in outdoor games and organized play I would suggest the following books as helps in planning the work for the playground:

List of games suggested in "Instructions for Primary Teachers." Singing Games, by Marie Hofer, Education by Plays and Games, by Johnson, What to do at Recess, by Johnson.

Copies of the above books are in the County Superintendent's office for your examination as well as several bulletins on the playground work.

Entertainment by Literary Society. The Literary Society of Piney Grove School will entertain the pupils of Moss Hill School Friday evening. The patrons and friends of the two schools are invited to be present at 7:30 o'clock.

Refreshments will be served.

MRS. SUE BOND DIES AFTER LONG ILLNESS

Well-Known East Street Lady Was Closely Related to Governor Caswell, Revolutionary General and First Chief Executive of State Under Constitution

Mrs. Susan Bond, 72, a granddaughter of Richard Caswell, the first Governor under the Constitution of North Carolina, died at her home, 111 North East street, about 12 o'clock Tuesday night. She had been ill for several months, and was a sufferer from heart trouble for a long time. The funeral was to be held this afternoon at 4 o'clock by Rev. E. N. Harrison, pastor of Caswell Street Methodist church, of which Mrs. Bond was a member.

Mrs. Bond was well-known in the city. She was the mother of the late W. R. Bond. Mrs. Atwood Bizzell and Paul and Clarence Bond, grandchildren, were reared by her after the death of their mother when all were small, and their affection for the aged lady was remarkable. She had spent all of her life here, was a woman of plain ways and flawless character, and was never wont to pride herself upon her distinguished ancestry.

Many of the older citizens knew Mrs. Bond well, and regret her demise, and those of the younger generation who were acquainted with the fine old lady considered her friendship a rare privilege and are equally sincere in deploring her death.

FILM NEWS OF THE DAY

Broadhurst with Morosco.

The importance of the affiliation of George Broadhurst with the Morosco organization, which releases its productions on the Paramount program, can hardly be overestimated in its far-reaching effect upon the motion picture industry. Those who discussed this remarkable announcement were of the opinion that no more marked evidence of the development of the business has ever been given than the association with a photoplay company of this writer, whose previous efforts have been devoted practically exclusively to the speaking stage. It is understood that Mr. Broadhurst begins his services with the Morosco Company at once, although the announcement has yet to be made as to which of his plays will be the first to be filmed.
