Missionary Society to Meet With Mrs. Quinn.

The social meeting of the Missionary Society of Queen Street Methodist church will be held at the home of Mrs. J. M. Quinn, on South McLevean street, Friday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock.

The following program will be rendered: Devotional exercises, led by Mrs. R. A. Whitaker; solo, Miss Clara Hargett; paper, "Children in Heathen Lands and What We Owe Them," Mrs. H. A. Humble; reading, "The Bank of Heaven," Mrs. J. W. C. Hewitt; closing prayer, Mrs. S. H. Isler; benediction in concert. Every member of the society and all interested in the work are cordially invited to be present. The secretary, Mrs. Bettie Lee, announced today that the meeting was transferred from the home of Mrs. N. B. Moore to that of Mrs. Quinn because of illness of Mrs. Moore.

Ervin-Jones.

On last Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock, in the residence of the bride's father in Jones county, Mr. James Ervin and Miss Annie Jones became bridegroom and bride. The attendants were Mr. Benj. Andrews and Miss Eva Jones, Mr. Wm. Gooding and Miss Gertie Ervin, Mr. P. Ervin and Miss Alice Horne and Mr. Jack Westbrook and Miss Bena Westbrook. After the ceremony the contracting couple with a few relatives and friends drove to the home of the bridegroom, where a cordial reception was given them. The bride is the daughter of Mr. J. B. Jones, well-known in her section and reputed to be a very attractive young woman. Mr. Ervin is a successful farmer of the Chinquapin section.

Celebrated Silver Wedding.

The storm of Wednesday evening interfered very little with the pleasure of several hundred persons who gathered at the Caswell Hotel to assist in the celebration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Kennedy. The anniversary of the year that rounded out the quarter century of conjugal life for this popular couple was perhaps the happiest day for them since the wedding, in this county, on March 22, 1891.

The Kennedy apartments, on the second floor, and the double hallway leading to them and the dining-room, an improvised coffee-room and a registration room, on the first floor, were very attractively decorated. Hundreds of flowers, natural and artificial, bolts of ribbons and many yards of tulle had been expended in the decorative preparations. In the reception-room a large wedding bell of tulle intertwined with smilax was suspended from the ceiling, and in the dining-room there was another such bell, hanging over a table which had for its centerpiece a large basket of bridesroses. The gift room and the hallways were arrayed in pink and green, the reception-room in white and green, but in places throughout the parts of the building utilized for the occasion colors ran riot.

The gift-room resembled a small jewelry store. The presents from intimates and other admirers numbered nearly a hundred. Everything was of silver or glass, of course, sterling predominating; many of the gifts were expensive, and all were useful; the whole array was exceedingly ingly ornamental. And numbers of them recalled friendships of many year's duration.

Receiving the guests at the door were Master Bruce Kennedy and little Miss Marjorie Hunter. At the first landing Mr. Richard Patrick and Miss Susie Phillips greeted them, and at the top of the steps Mrs. Alice Hunter repeated the welcome. The callers were met at the reception-room door by Mrs. Clarence Oettinger, who introduced them to the receiving line, headed by Mr. and Mrs. Kennedy, a bridegroom and bride again; Mr. Harry Murray and Mrs. Murray, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kennedy; Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Kennedy. Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Russell, Miss Ruth McKinnie of Winston-Salem, Mrs. Eva Cranford of Durham, Miss Leggett of West Union, W. Va.; Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Howard and Miss Kathleen Wooten. The receiving line was in a semi-circle. The gowns of the ladies of the party were all handsome, and attracted considerable attention from the members of the sex amongst the callers.

Mrs. J. H. Parham conducted the guests to the punchbowl, where Miss Charlotte Parrott and Mr. Chester A. Walsh and Miss Mary Pridgen and Mr. Douglas McDaniel presided. Miss Nettie Kilpatrick was at the gift-room door, and Mr. and Mrs. Plato Collins were in charge of the room. Miss Susie Daly directed the guests to the dining-room, Mrs. Kleber Denmark received them at the door. Misses Mildred McDaniel, Brooks, Jennie Shaw, Mesdames J. B. Leonard, Grey, Saunders, Hardy, Marston and Knott presided in the dining-room, where ice cream and cake, in white and green, were served. Mrs. Boney was at the coffee-room door, and there Misses Bryce Wooten, Nell Wooten, Ella Haskit and Hortense Moseley served. In the registration room Mr. Elliott Russell and Miss Lucile Collins officiated. The callers registered with a silver-colored fluid. Mrs. Grover Cox said the adieux as the guests departed.

During the evening Mrs. Eva Cummings and her talented daughter, Miss Doris, rendered appropriate music on piano and violin, respectively.

The reception was from 8 to 10, callers having been invited to be present between 8 and 9 or between 9 and 10.

HEALTH

Sickness Survey for North Carolina.

A plan to determine the amount of sickness among the wage earners of North Carolina has recently been instituted by the State Board of Health and a New York life insurance company. This unemployment survey, which will probably take place the week beginning April 10th, and which will be made by the company's agency staff, has for its purpose to know approximately what per centage of the unemployed among the earners in North Carolina is due to sickness and other disability.

The survey will take count of the nature of the occupation, the age and sex of the employe, and if sick or disabled, the disease or cause of disability.

It is the opinion of the State Board of Health, at whose request the company is making this survey, that the facts and figures obtained relative to the amount of sickness that exists in North Carolina will be of incalculable value to the health work of the State and to public health work in general.

MORE RHEUMATISM THAN EVER BEFORE

Clergymen, Lawyers, Brokers, Mechanics and Merchants Stricken

Our old friend Rheumatix is having his inning this year, and a few words of caution from one who knows all about it may not be amiss.

Wear rubbers in damp weather; keep your feet dry; drink plenty of lemonade, and avoid strong alcoholic drinks.

If rheumatism gets you, or sciatica, and you have sharp twinges, gnawing pain or swollen joints or muscles, you can get rid of all agony in just a few days by taking one-half teaspoonful of Rheuma once a day.

All druggists know about Rheuma; it's harmless, yet powerful; cheap, yet sure, and a 50-cent bottle will last a long time. Ask J. E. Hood & Co. or any druggist. adv
