TUESDAY EVENING, APRIL 4, 1916

A few days ago a correspondent for the Raleigh Times, who is also a bank clerk, inadvertently addressed a letter intended for one of the Raleigh banks to The Times, containing $300 in new bank notes. News Editor Lyon of The Times opened the letter, but reports from Raleigh indicate that he is expected to survive the shock.

News comes from Richmond that the wholesale liquor dealers are already laying their plans to unload their stocks before the operation of the new prohibition law. It is unfortunate that provision could not have been made to buy those stocks out of the public funds and empty them in the sewers instead of being unloaded on North Carolina and other prohibition territory. Considerable harm can be done in this unloading process, and it is a pity that the damage cannot be averted in some way.

TIME FOR COUNCIL TO SHOW ITS GOOD FAITH

Again City Council holds its regular monthly meeting and omits to refer to the much-needed sanitary and health laws. The work of paving the city is very important, and as The Free Press has before said, it is to be hoped that the entire city will be paved before the present campaign is completed. The Free Press does not regard the paving of paramount importance, however. It still believes that Council should have a care for the health of the city, and that it should manifest its realization of the responsibility resting upon it by making provision for better sanitation and health measures. While Council is considering petitions for additional paving, the actual work of which will perhaps not be reached before late in the summer, the fly crop for the season is multiplying and getting such a start that it will be impossible for any remedial action against the pest to be taken. Already the time is approaching when the opponents of clean-up measures can have the face to call for "more time" and ask that action be deferred until another season, as was the case last year. If anything is to be done it is time Council was giving some evidence of its good faith in the matter.

DUPLICITY OF THE GERMAN ADMIRALTY

Reports from Washington indicate that President Wilson and his advisers suspect the German Admiralty of duplicity in the conduct of their submarine warfare. There has been evidence which would give rise to such a presumption, since the inception of this campaign of barbarism. There has been no inclination on the part of the German authorities to acknowledge that their submarines were responsible for the sinking of any ships except where the attacking undersea craft was sighted by the victims, and there was a preponderance of evidence convicting the German boats. There is mystery about all of those ships which have been sunk without warning and without some of those aboard having sighted the submarine; for instance, the sinking of the Persia, in which an American consul lost his life, has never been cleared up; no responsibility has been placed.

It is a serious matter to accuse either an individual or a nation of bad faith and dishonorable conduct, and to be sure, President Wilson will make no such charges against the German Government until he has the evidence to sustain it. If, however, such accusations are made and sustained, it will be a reflection on the honor and integrity of the German nation from which it will not be possible to recover for a long time to come, and it is to be hoped that appearances in this case are deceiving, and that the German Admiralty is keeping the faith and proposes to fulfill its promises, made in good faith, to the American Government, insuring the lives and property of non-combatants, taking passage on passenger ships. Should it be proven otherwise the United States nor any other neutral power could maintain its self-respect and continue to recognize Germany and accord it diplomatic representation.

THE ATTACK ON SECRETARY DANIELS

It appears that there is a very deep seated conspiracy on the part of the enemies of the Administration and of the plans advocated by Secretary of the Navy Daniels to disparage Mr. Daniels' work as civilian head of the navy. There have been many vain attempts to reflect upon Mr. Daniels! Unwarranted attacks have been made upon him in the public press, and he has sustained his position and put to rout his critics.

On Monday members of the House Naval Committee undertook to grill Mr. Daniels, and made some serious charges, alleging that he had furnished intimate details and important secrets of the navy to Russian and German authorities. Mr. Daniels, as might have been expected, flatly denied such allegations; and nobody who knows Mr. Daniels, or has followed his creditable record in the present campaign, believes for a minute that he has been guilty of any breach of faith in the conduct of his high office. The complaints that are being made against Mr. Daniels evidently come from disgruntled interests. He openly charged in the hearing above referred to that Rear-Admiral Fiske was disgruntled and grouchy because he had not been assigned command of the Atlantic Fleet to succeed Admiral Badger, and because his (the Admiral's) personal ambitions had been thwarted. It is very natural that the Steel Trust and the munitions manufacturers, which have been enjoying the unlimited patronage of the Government at their own prices, should become disgruntled because now Secretary Daniels and the Administration proposes to horn them away from the "trough of graft," and it is perfectly natural that those men in the navy, who aspire beyond their deserts, should become disgruntled when they do not attain their desires.

Secretary Daniels has the confidence of the people "back home," and we believe he has the confidence of all the best thinking people of the Nation.

WHAT OTHERS SAY

"MUDDLING THROUGH."

Columbia State: "Were the outstanding fire insurance policies in South Carolina to be cancelled, the condition thereby created would be most serious. Of that event, however, there is little likelihood. Before the great companies withdrew most of the policies on houses were rewritten for a year or more, one supposes. With the companies, twelve or thirteen, remaining in the State, the risks written and to be written by brokers, the mutual companies coming into the State, the farm mutuals in operation and to be organized, and the factory mutuals, the people will 'muddle through somehow' the next ten or eleven months. To be sure, many people will be inconvenienced and some will suffer—but there is no good reason for excitement or recourse to desperate measures.

"Were it impossible for the cotton mills, for example, to obtain fire protection, it would be almost impossible for them to operate. Were 125,000 people threatened with sudden loss of employment, it would be time to talk about 'State insurance.' "Undoubtedly this insurance mess is embarrassing. Many foolish things have been done and said from first to last. The powers behind the Southeastern Underwriters' Association in the North have their share of responsibility for it. The insurance community in South Carolina was taken by surprise by the drastic action of the withdrawing companies.

"In one way or another we 'shall muddle through.'" the best possible breeds for general use. Dr. Winters also stated that Lenoir and the other counties here should produce cotton of longer staple. The cotton should be of inch staple, he said, instead of three-quarters of an inch or less. A lot of the cotton has to be put with inch cotton from Mississippi and Alabama in manufacturing. The mixing of seed in gins, etc., causes the product to degenerate. Mr. R. F. Hill, a well-known local farmer, bore Dr. Winters out in his assertions.

RAISE COTTON WITH LONGER STAPLE, EXPERT ADVISES

An interesting visitor to the city Monday night was Mr. R. W. Freeman of Wilson, a South Carolina agriculturalist in charge of the demonstration work in the 33 counties of Eastern Carolina. He arrived too late for the meeting of the board. Mr. Freeman said there are 18 demonstration agents in his territory. There are three districts in the State, with a total of about 75 cents. The western and central districts are supplied with agents almost to a county, except in the mountain counties beyond the "Ridge." But his is an extraordinary district, Mr. Freeman declared. For instance, there is Dare county. Dare county has but one farmer—that is, but one person depending upon agriculture for a living. Then there is Hyde. Hyde is the richest county in possibilities. It is a fact that many farmers there go into their fields, push a cane into the soil, thereby making little holes into which they drop the seed, and cover the holes with their heels. "They make 50 bushels an acre without bothering with it any more," Hyde said. Mr. Freeman has land with 88 per cent. of humus—organic matter. That is a world record for tillable soil, probably. Then there is Carteret, which has two zones—semi-tropical and temperate. And it is a progressive district; a very progressive district, Mr. Freeman thinks.

ALL FASCINATED BY WOMAN'S HAIR

Nearly every woman who has an ordinary head of hair can by giving it just a little attention have luxuriant hair, soft, fluffy and radiantly beautiful. It's a good thing to know this because hair preparations that put life and lustre into dull looking hair are scarce, but it is a fact known to nearly every druggist in America that Parisian Sage, a delightfully clean and refreshing tonic not only will make your hair look 100 per cent. better, but will quickly stop it from falling—rid it of dandruff and scalp itch. It's well worth a trial and J. E. Hood & Co. always guarantee Parisian Sage. adv

SEVERE PUNISHMENT

Of Mrs. Chappell, of Five Years' Standing, Relieved by Cardui.

Mt. Airy, N. C.—Mrs. Sarah M. Chappell of this town, says: "I suffered for five years with womanly troubles, also stomach troubles, and my punishment was more than any one could tell. I tried most every kind of medicine, but none did me any good. I read one day about Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I decided to try it. I had not taken but about six bottles until I was almost cured. It did me more good than all the other medicines I had tried, put together. My friends began asking me why I looked so well, and I told them about Cardui. Several are now taking it." Do you, lady reader, suffer from any of the ailments due to womanly troubles, such as headache, backache, sideache, sleeplessness, and that everlasting tired feeling? If so, let us urge you to give Cardui a trial. We feel confident it will help you, just as it has a million other women in the past half century. Begin taking Cardui to-day. You won't regret it. All druggists.
