WEDNESDAY EVENING, APRIL 12, 1916

Paris announces that the Germans have advanced five hundred yards in their desperate struggle to capture Verdun. This battle has waged for fifty days, and according to the various reports, two hundred thousand men have been sacrificed. In other words, Germany has advanced an average of ten yards a day at a cost of four hundred men per yard.

Representative Gardner accuses Secretary Daniels of "hoodwinking the public" about the real condition of the Navy. He said to Secretary Daniels' everlasting credit, that the general public knows a great deal more about the serious state of unpreparedness of this government than it ever did when Mr. Gardner's party was in power and when it was misled to believe that the United States Navy ranked second only to Great Britain's.

We had a most pleasant visit from Dr. Clarence Poe, editor of the Progressive Farmer of Raleigh, who was a welcome visitor to our county yesterday, coming to make a commencement address at the Grainger group of the rural schools. Dr. Poe was interested in learning of the attention being given in Lenoir to stock raising, particularly the importing of many blooded swine. We were glad, too, to tell him that Lenoir exported corn last fall for the first time in more than a generation.

We join with the papers all over the State in urging citizens of this section to pay their poll tax before May 1st, and thus qualify themselves for exercising their franchise in the elections to be held this year. North Carolina is to have its first state-wide primary election. Local, state and national officials are to be elected. No citizen who is worthy of the privilege of the ballot will intentionally disfranchise himself by neglecting to pay the prescribed taxes. "Do it now."

Friend Britton of the Raleigh News and Observer, in bidding welcome to the Southern Newspaper Publishing Association, which at its last annual meeting elected to hold its meetings each year at the Grove Park Inn, near Asheville, takes considerable liberty with the name of the proprietor of the Grove Park Inn, who is Mr. Fred L. Seeley, founder and former publisher of the Atlanta Georgian, when he speaks of Mr. Seeley as "L. F. Seeley." It is, of course, expected that when he makes his apologies the linotype will be held accountable.

Announcement comes from Greensboro that Col. Al. Fairbrother, Editor and proprietor of Everything has acquired control of the Greensboro Record, the purchase having been made from the heirs of the late Joseph Reece, founder and publisher up to the time of his death of Greensboro's afternoon paper.

We know of no better opportunity in the State for the successful operation of a live afternoon newspaper. We congratulate Col. Fairbrother upon his far-sightedness in having acquired this property. We wish him every success in giving the people of Greensboro "today's news today."

THE CAUSE OF ANAEMIA

It is universally known that iron is a very important element of the blood, and lack of it is the direct cause of run-down conditions and anaemia. It may interest our readers to know that Druggists J. E. Hood & Co., of this town have in Vinol a reliable, constitutional remedy for such conditions. Vinol supplies iron to the blood in its most nourishing properties of beef peptone and the medicinal curative extractives of fresh cod livers, without oil, all dissolved in a pure native tonic wine. That's what makes Vinol so successful in overcoming run-down and anaemic conditions. adv

A GOOD FAMILY COUGH SYRUP.

Can be made by mixing Pine-Tar, Aconite, Sugar, Hyocyanus, Sassafras, Peppermint, Ipecac, Rhubarb, Madrake, Capsicum, Muriate Ammonia, Honey and Glycerine. It is pleasant, healing and soothing, raises the phlegm, and gives almost instant relief. For convenience of those who prefer not to fuss, it is supplied ready-made in 25c bottles under the name of Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar-Honey. Can be had at your druggist. Insist on getting Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar-Honey and see that the formula is on the package. adv

AS WAS TO BE EXPECTED.

The statement credited to General Gavira, Carranza's commander at Juarez, that his forces were ample now to relieve the American troops of the responsibility of running down Villa, should it be desired by the American authorities to withdraw from Mexican territory, was just what might have been expected upon publication of the War Department's orders to General Funston and the statement of the United States that American troops would not be kept in Mexico longer than necessary to put to rout the bands of outlaws infesting the American border. Very naturally the Carranza forces would make quick to claim their ability to handle the situation. They did that when recognition was first given to the de facto government by President Wilson. Assurances were given by General Carranza to this Government that American lives and property in Mexico would be taken care of. It was upon just such assurances that the party of American mining men ventured to return to their work in Mexico and fell victims of the Villa outlaws in a most terrible massacre at San Ysabel, and it was on the strength of such assurances that the American Government depended too much upon the forces of the de facto government in protecting our border, which resulted in the Columbus outrage, and other such deprivations.

The War Department will hardly accept such statements as those attributed to General Gavira or any of the other Carranza representatives unless they are supported by tangible evidence of ability to make good. What the United States wants is protection for its citizens and property, and the Administration will not be disposed to take the chance of having another hundred or two of them shot up because of the inability of the Carranza forces to fulfill their promises.

The "dire straits" in which the American soldiers in Mexico are reported because of their inability to secure their accustomed coffee supply, is pretty good material for anti-coffee advocates to use in their arguments.

WHAT OTHERS SAY

BRYAN SAYS REMARKABLE RECORD HAS BEEN MADE.

Richmond Virginian: "W. J. Bryan in the April Commoner predicts the renomination of the President by acclamation. He declares that all differences between the President and Congress will be compromised, and says he party will present a united front. He says of the work done by the Administration and Congress:

"It is a remarkable record of achievement, nothing to compare with it in number and importance of reforms accomplished, where Republican leaders have been wrong the President and the Democratic Congress have been right. The Republican leaders have opposed all that has been done in favor of low tariff rates, an income tax, currency reform and anti-trust legislation. They have insisted on war with Mexico and even want to enter the European war. Where the President has conceded more than he should to the scaredness program, the Republican leaders have demanded even more so that the President is nearer to the people than the Republican leaders. Let every Democrat get ready for the campaign and go to work."

SILENT CAR WHEEL.

Norfolk Ledger-Dispatch: "Those who live along the line of street cars, and catch the early morning song of the flat wheels, will be glad to know that some genius has invented a silent car wheel.

"This boon to humanity, we learn, has been designed by Edwin C. Madden, formerly assistant postmaster-general, and is asserted to have a number of important advantages over the old-fashioned wheel. It is said to consist of two wheels, one within the other, and separated from each other by means of a rubber filling, and the combination is said to take up vibration and shock, so that the noise is reduced to almost nothing. Some of these wheels have been in use on a trolley line at Portland, Me., for nearly a year, and the degree of success which has attended their use has resulted in declaring the new invention a success, and a factory is now being built where their manufacture on a large scale will be engaged in. Not only is the noise eliminated, but the riding qualities of the car are greatly improved and the life of the rolling stock prolonged. The tires and cushions are renewed easily and economically, and the life of the wheel itself is far longer than that of the ordinary cast wheel."

A SAVING YOU MAY HAVE MISSED

WHAT DOES IT MEAN to you to be told that Titan engines burn kerosene? Not much, does it? Yet because of that fact, you would make the mistake of your life if you bought any other engine.

Gasoline and kerosene engines burn about the same amounts of fuel. Gasoline now costs, in most places, over 100 per cent. more than kerosene.

A 6H. P. engine, gasoline or kerosene, burns 700 to 800 gallons of fuel in 1,000 hours' work. At present average prices, 700 gallons of gasoline would cost you about $175, while 800 gallons of kerosene costs but $96 or thereabouts.

A Titan 6 H. P. engine, burning kerosene, would therefore save you somewhere around $70 a year. Now do you realize what a startling statement that is? Titan engines burn kerosene. See me before you buy any other engine. Prices right and terms to suit you.
