STAFFORD SENTENCE REVERSED BY COURT

States Circuit Court of Appeals reversed the conviction of Frank D. Stafford, a hotel clerk of Plainfield, N. J., who was sentenced to nine months' imprisonment on a charge of perjury in connection with the now celebrated Rae-Tanser-Oliver-Osborne case. The decision of the court was based on testimony given by James W. Osborne, a prominent New York lawyer, which was held to be hearsay, and therefore should have been excluded by the lower tribunal.

Stafford was one of several persons indicted for perjury as a result of the identification of the attorney as the mysterious "Oliver" Osborne who, according to Miss Nazer, failed to keep a promise to marry her.

Washington, May 10.—Creation of a commission of naval officers to investigate the advisability of establishing an additional navy yard on the Atlantic south of Norfolk and one on the Pacific provided in an amendment to the navy bill approved by the House Naval Committee.

The bill was amended to call for a 1,000-foot dry dock at Philadelphia instead of a 1,700-foot dock, in order to keep within the $3,500,000 appropriation previously agreed on for construction. The bureau of docks and yards advised the committee that a 1,700-foot dock would cost $5,000,000.

The committee also adopted a proposal for a $31,000 appropriation for civilian training camps for the marine corps. May 18 was set as a date for a vote in the committee on the building program.

El Paso, May 11.—General Funston is seriously considering a request to the War Department to call out the First Cavalry, Illinois National Guard, of Chicago, for border duty. More Raids Expected.

Marathon, Texas, May 11.—A bandit raid at Blocker has convinced the Federal investigators that an organized system of assaults on the American border is being carried out. Officials expect additional raids on small towns within a few days, and plans are being laid to frustrate the plotters.

Fricion Between Armies Intense.

El Paso, May 11.—Despite the increased tension along the border, there is still prospect for a peaceful settlement. Friction, however, between the military forces has reached the danger point and officials believe peace will be hard to maintain unless a full settlement is speedily reached.

S. H. ISLER IS CANDIDATE COUNTY COMMISSIONER

Well Known Farmer and Cotton Buyer Announces His Entry—Is Capable and Successful Business Man and Has Wide Acquaintance.

In the political announcements today appears the card of Mr. Sim H. Isler, who is a candidate for county commissioner. Mr. Isler has been a resident of Kinston for the past 14 years. He has never before sought or held public office. He is a farmer, cotton buyer and man of affairs. He takes an active interest in matters of public interest, is successful in his own business affairs, and his friends consider him well qualified for the important position he seeks. He is not in any slate, but will conduct his campaign as he is privileged to do by virtue of his citizenship. He believes that better results can and should be obtained for the county from the outlay that is being annually expended.

Mr. Isler's wide and favorable acquaintance with the cotton farmers of this section, as well as in the city, will make him a strong candidate.

WHAT EXCUSE FOR NOT WINNING A CAR?

The End Is Only 48 Hours Away—Over Twenty People Are Within Reach of a Car—Last Report to Be Decisive—Three Prominent Men Named As Judges

Forty-eight hours—then the final count begins. Forty-eight hours and the contest for honors and valuable prizes will be history. Forty-eight hours and the winners will be made. Forty-eight hours and the losers will be the busiest bunch of people you ever saw trying to explain to their friends why they didn't win.

Who Will Win?

Yet, in industry there is pleasure. The winners will feel that they are amply repaid for the time that they devoted to the contest. The winners of the cars will have made a year's salary in less than six weeks. And the winners of the other prizes will receive no small rewards for their time. However, the winners of any of the prizes are just as much in doubt today, two days before the close as they were two weeks ago. There are so many in the winning class that a good final report by any of at least twenty-five will land them the cars. Everything is going to depend upon the final report. Surely this is the most surprising and the most interesting contest that the contest manager has ever been connected with. After becoming acquainted with the different candidates and their friends, and knowing how they have set their hearts upon winning one of the cars, the contest manager cannot help but feel regret that there is not cars enough, so that each deserving candidate might receive one.

Best Wishes.

However, it is all up to the contestants' and their friends, and if there are any two in the contest who are a little more deserving than the rest, and who have shown by their work that they deserve the cars, the wish of the contest manager is that these two will finally triumph, and that the highest honors to be given by the judges will be theirs.

The Judges.

The following gentlemen have been appointed judges of the contest and will make the final count and award the prizes as soon after 9 o'clock on Saturday night as the contest manager has the votes issued:

Mr. W. A. Allen, Bookkeeper, at Farmers and Merchants Bank.

Mr. Clarence Oettinger, Secretary Kinston Realty & Insurance Co.

Mr. J. A. Bizzell, bookkeeper at First National Bank of Kinston.

The ballot box has been locked and sealed and the final count made by the contest manager. The ballot box will be opened by the judges who will count all of the votes which they find in the box and add their totals to the totals that are printed in the paper on Saturday. The prizes will be awarded according to this final count.

UNION PASSENGER STATION WILL GO ON CUMMINGS PROPERTY AT JUNCTION NOR. SOUTHERN AND COAST LINE RIGHTS-WAY

Chamber of Commerce Committee Decided to Report for Site Favored by Railroads Wednesday Night—Corporation Commission to Be Asked to Withdraw Order Directing Construction of Depot at Gordon and Independent—Companies Expected to Erect Handsome Building With Parked Grounds Facing Caswell Street. Believed Movement to Secure Property Held By Individuals North Caswell Street Will Be Stopped

The union passenger station will go on the Cummings property in Southwest Kinston if the Corporation Commission approves that site.

That was the decision Wednesday night at the end of a conference between representatives of the Atlantic Coast Line and Norfolk Southern Railroads, and the Chamber of Commerce committee appointed for the purpose of investigating all the available sites.

Three Sites Considered.

Three sites were under consideration when the conferees first got together in the afternoon. One of these was the Gordon and Independent street's site, referred to by Col. W. B. Rodman, chief counsel for the Norfolk Southern, as "the Corporation Commission site" from its having been officially selected by the Commission months ago. That was soon eliminated by both sides as inadequate in nearly every way. The Chamber of Commerce's committee, in fact, decided against that location on the day after the appointment. The others were the "Wooten site," at the head of King street, and the Cummings or "Caswell street site." Members of the committee strongly favored the Wooten property. Other sites were discussed, as the present Atlantic Coast Line station site, but all of these presented difficulties which the railroads contended could not be overcome except at great expense to them. There were the objections of sharp and dangerous curves, acquisition of more property than the companies could well afford to invest in for a station in a city the size of Kinston, damage to private interests in the section and others.

Action Supposed to Be Final.

Finally, about 10:30 o'clock, the committee consented to the Cummings or Caswell street site. Upon this agreement the Chamber of Commerce, it is presumed by members of the committee, will recommend to the Corporation Commission that the order for construction on the Gordon-Independent site be withdrawn and one issued for a building on the Cummings property. Colonel Rodman stated to a meeting at 6 o'clock that the railroads were willing to begin building immediately on the Cummings property. Plans are to be drawn for the station there at once. The property is a triangle of two or three acres, formed by the junction of the A. C. L. and N. S. The depot will sit well back from and facing Caswell street, with parked grounds in front and lateral canopy sheds to the tracks of the two roads, so that trains may discharge and take on passengers on their respective tracks. At least, that is the proposition from tentative plans. The Norfolk Southern plans new freight platform facilities a short way north of the station.

Property Litigation May Be Stopped.

It is assumed that the Norfolk Southern's attempt to "recover" property claimed by it between Caswell and Gordon streets will be stopped, since when notice was served on the property-holders some days ago it was stated the action was caused by the necessity of constructing the station at the Gordon-Independent site. That necessity was obviated by Wednesday night's action. Col. Rodman has that matter entirely in his hands; he is en route to Asheville, and is not known to have expressed himself publicly. General Superintendent Stack said today that he did not know what action Col. Rodman intended.

The convention will hear problems confronting the young men discussed by prominent men. Reports will be heard from a dozen far eastern countries and the method of administration hereafter in those countries will be determined.

Among those scheduled to address the meetings are: John D. Rockefeller, Jr., Raymond Robbins, Chicago social worker; C. T. Wang, until recently vice speaker of the Senate Chinese republic; John R. Mott, general secretary of the International committee; Bishop William F. McDowell; Dr. John T. Stone, Chicago; Dr. Douglas Mackenzie, Hartford, Conn.; and F. L. Brockman, Shanghai.

EZRA MEEKER READY FOR ANOTHER COAST TO-COAST JAUNT NOW

Washington, May 12.—It was the same old "limousine" but a modern ox-less chassis, that the same old Ezra Meeker, 85-year-old transcontinental traveler, hauled out of its shed here today to look over in preparation for Ezra's fourth jaunt from coast to coast.

Meeker calls his renovated vehicle a "schoonermobile." It's all of that. The top is the same, label-covered prairie schooner top which Ezra's oxen have dragged three times over the roads between here and the Pacific. Under it is an up-to-date, motor driven chassis.

Within a few days Meeker starts for Olympia, Wash., a distance of 3,560 miles. Meeker is the original triple-exponent and proponent of a national, coast-to-coast highway. He expects to drive over one before Old Man Time gets him.

Put a sharp edge on your campaign and win a car on the 13th of May.
