MONDAY EVENING, MAY 22, 1916

Information from Oyster Bay indicates that the Colonel continues to train for the jumping stunt which will stand him in good stead as usual if the occasion arises at Chicago for another hurdle.

A North Carolina boy is reported to have gained favor and promotion in the aerial forces of France because of having attacked and brought down a German dirigible. The young man could be giving his talents to better and more lasting undertakings if he were back at home.

The way the Hughes stock is climbing through the preferential primaries it begins to appear that the Colonel will have to be more "strenuous" than ever before if he hopes to be the standard bearer of the prospective coalition of the Bull Moosers and the Old Liners.

There have been such a variety of estimates as to the number of people who attended the Charlotte celebration crowds can't give some authentic information. The reports from the passenger departments are awaited with interest.

It is good news from Washington to the effect that the revenue tax on loans is to be lifted. The "two per hundred" has been a considerable item with some who are fortunate to have a line of credit with their banks.

Woman's right to a speaking part continues to receive recognition as evidenced by the consideration now being given, by the Southern Presbyterian General Assembly, in session in Orlando, Florida, to the question of creating the office of deaconess.

WHY THIS FEVER?

This same question was asked Saturday. It was provoked by the presence of at least two cases of typhoid fever in Kinston. In Saturday's issue The Free Press suggested that no time should be lost by the city authorities in starting an investigation to ascertain the source of the infection. The situation is not yet alarming, although two cases of typhoid fever, a disease pronounced by the medical profession as positively preventable when well-known precautionary measures are taken, should be sufficient cause to arouse the community.

PAULINE BEATS THE WORLD'S MILK RECORD

Cleveland, May 22.—Jolie Topsy De Kol, a four-year old Holstein cow, has just set a new world's milk production record for one year. Topsy produced 28,416 pounds of milk the last year, or 3,304 gallons. She beat the previous world's record by 1,671 pounds.

The cow is owned by the city, and her milk, produced at the Warrensville correction farms, goes to work-house prisoners.

they will not become victims of the scourge. The time for action is now. The milk supply, as was suggested Saturday, may be responsible. The fly pest, the most dangerous of germ carriers, which has been given free and unrestricted privileges to operate in Kinston at will, largely by virtue of the successful effort of stable men and others joining with them to thwart the operation of the anti-fly ordinance, may have and no doubt will be found upon investigation to be playing a very important part in the infection, not only as pertains to typhoid fever cases, but other diseases with which the people of this community are suffering. Be that as it may, regardless of where the responsibility lies, there should be no guess work about it. A competent and thorough investigation should be instituted at once to ascertain beyond a shadow of a doubt the cause, or causes, and then such remedial steps as may be required should be taken.

ASPHALT HAS STOOD THE TEST.

The attention of Kinston citizens is particularly directed to an article appearing on the front page of today's Free Press containing a letter from paving experts explaining the characteristics of asphalt paving. The letters should allay the apprehension and suspicion of any who have felt that the visible signs of traffic on the new asphalt paving was an indication that the work being done was not of a durable character. The paving being done in Kinston is of similar material and quality to that which has stood the test on some of the most heavily traveled thoroughfares in the world. Fifth avenue, New York City, more heavily traveled perhaps than any other thoroughfare in the world, famous Pennsylvania avenue, Washington, and countless other important streets are paved with the same material that Kinston is using. Tests, which Kinston will never, perhaps, give to its paving, have been applied in other places, and the asphalt has proven equal to them. There is no cause for uneasiness. The work here is being done by responsible people, and their guarantee stands back of it in addition to the known wearing qualities as demonstrated by the experience of other places.

WHAT OTHERS SAY

KITCHINETTES!

Greensboro Record: "The news comes from the eastern part of the state to the effect that Claude Kitchin will win hands down. Those posted say New York, in the vicinity of Herald Square, will return a majority against him, but in his own district he will win all right."

Winston-Salem Journal: "Mr. Kitchin is getting good. He is actually well pleased with the plan proposed by the Administration for raising revenue to meet the expenses of Government. If he keeps on improving, Mr. Kitchin will eventually take his place as a genuinely constructive leader of Democracy in the House."

Raleigh Times: "Mr. Kitchin's belated satisfaction with preparedness measures may be due, in part, to certain other things that have been shown to his satisfaction."

GEN. GEO. P. HARRISON COMMANDS.

Birmingham Ledger: "Alabama is proud of the fact that General Harrison of Opelika has been chosen Commander-in-Chief of the Veterans of the Confederate organization. General Harrison is a lawyer of distinction and was noted for bravery as a soldier before he was grown. He was promoted for courage and was made a brigadier general soon after he became twenty-one."

"Since the war General Harrison has filled honorable positions in his profession, and has been a State senator and president of the Senate. He has the respect and love of the State of Alabama, and his election Wednesday proclaims that he is held in the highest esteem by his comrades in arms."

"Alabama soldiers earned the honor of first place in war, and it is fitting that the greatest honor of the Confederate veterans should go to one of her most distinguished sons."

Major J. G. Bair of Charlotte, Grand Chancellor of the State Pythians, will speak at New Bern next Sunday.

Washington is experiencing an "epidemic" of speeding. Seven car owners were tried before the recorder at one session.

MR. ISLER NAILS STATEMENTS OF ENEMIES.

"It is reported that I vote the National Republican ticket. This is an invention of my enemies, and is absolutely false. It is also reported I have a road to build; so I have, but I am now building it. At the same time paying for it out of my pocket. I further believe that every township in the county should have its share of road work. In other words if the township pays $1,000 road tax, it should have the benefit of same. Quit ringing up the County Commissioners for the benefit of a few and the people will be satisfied."
