

HUGHES AND COL'L ROOSEVELT NAMED

AFTER ROOSEVELT HAD PLEADED WITH BOTH PARTIES TO COMPROMISE ON LODGE; THE COL.'S MESSAGE HOOTED BY PROGR'SIVES

Nomination of Justice Seemed Certain When G. O. P. Convention Met Today—Weeks Threw Strength to New Yorker—Claimed Fairbanks Will Be Running-Mate—Borah, Popular With Third Party, Also Mentioned—Massachusetts Man Stands for Americanism, Teddy Told Chicago Gatherings—Of Highest Integrity, Broadest National Spirit, Knows All About Preparedness, Declared—Colonel's Secretary Bobbed Up

Chicago, June 10.—The Progressives this afternoon nominated Roosevelt unanimously and adjourned until 3 o'clock. The vote on Hughes' nomination on the third ballot resulted as follows: Hughes, 99 1-2; Roosevelt, 18 1-2; Weeks, 3; Lodge, 7; LaFollette, 3; DuPont, 5; Absent, one.

Chicago, June 10.—Hughes was nominated by the Republicans this afternoon.

G. O. P. Hear Message From Teddy.
Chicago, June 10.—At meeting time today John McGrath, Roosevelt's secretary, appeared on the platform of the Republican convention, bearing a written statement from Colonel Roosevelt. The Republican Peace Committee, secretly discussing, was asked to delay the convening. Weeks' supporters, after an all-night session, were released from their pledges and agreed to vote for Hughes. John P. Goodrich, Republican gubernatorial candidate from Indiana, claimed Fairbanks would be the vice-presidential candidate. The convention was called to order at 11:47. Hitchcock, Hughes' manager was overwhelmed with congratulations as he appeared on the floor. Senator Weeks announced that he will withdraw. Hughes' nomination is considered certain. Senator Smoot read a report from the conference committee submitting Hughes. Then he read Col. Roosevelt's telegram agreeing to Lodge as a compromise man.

When the Progressive convention convened the delegates hooted the Roosevelt telegram endorsing Lodge. It was read by Perkins. Perkins explained that the Republicans had offered Hughes. He said it would be a question of the Progressives accepting second choice and that that was to be deeply considered. Colonel Roosevelt in his telegram pleaded that the parties forget their past differences and find a common ground to express their Americanism. He appealed to the Republicans and Progressives to help him. In suggesting Lodge, he said he was a man of the highest integrity and broadest national spirit, in close knowledge of army and navy affairs, and pledged to protection of the canal.

He said he believed the nomination of Lodge would meet the vital needs of the nation. "I ask you to do what you can to bring about his nomination in the name of our common Americanism." Asked even if he didn't agree to Lodge to read the telegram. Perkins pled with the delegates to wait until he heard from the Republicans. The telegram was laid on the table. The Progressives adopted their platform. J. J. O'Connell, a New York delegate, moved to suspend the rules and proceed with nominations. Hamilton Fish, Jr., of New York, said O'Connell didn't represent the real sentiment of the Empire State delegates.

Chicago, June 10.—Justice Hughes will probably be the Republican nominee this afternoon within five roll-calls—maybe in one or two. Any one of the half dozen favorite sons may be his running mate. This was the situation when the G. O. P. Convention convened this morning.

Senator Sherman of Illinois, the favorite on the first ballot, will withdraw in favor of Hughes. Others are expected to follow.

The peace conference adjourned this morning without an agreement. The Progressives are demanding Roosevelt, the Republicans offering several. The insignificant showing to Roosevelt in last night's balloting encouraged the Republicans to defy the Rooseveltians. The Allies were unable to agree on a test of strength against Hughes. They tried to kill him, but Sherman's order to give his votes to Hughes smashed their plans.

DARIO RESTA CHICAGO DERBY FAVORITE; LOT OF POLITICIANS THERE

Speedway, Maywood, Ill., June 10. Twenty-seven of the world's fastest auto drivers are ready here today for the start in the western automobile classic, the second annual Chicago Derby.

The distance is 300 miles and the prizes amount to $30,000 cash. It was estimated that 30,000 auto fans were crowded in the grandstand and along the speedway course shortly before Starter Fred Wagner sent the speed demons on their way.

Half of the crowd were visitors to the Republican, Progressive and Woman's Party conventions.

Dario Resta, who won the Derby last year in a Peugeot, established a record of 97.58 miles an hour; also winner of the 300-mile run at Indianapolis May 30th, was back at the job again, a strong favorite. The diminutive Italian couldn't see anyone but himself as the winner.

LA FOLLETTE LAW PROVING OF BENEFIT TO MARINERS, STATES

Washington, June 10.—Uncle Sam, employment agent, is putting into real effect, to the benefit of employers and seamen alike, the new Federal seamen's law, Secretary of Commerce Redfield declared today.

Under the law, ships cannot put to sea from an American port without the requisite number of registered seamen.

"Here is a good illustration of how the seamen's law is operating," Secretary Redfield said. "We received a few days ago a telegram from the captain of a schooner at Boothbay, Maine, saying that he could not find the required number of registered seamen at the port, and asking for permission to clear with what help he could employ."

"The port officials had refused him clearance because he did not have the required quota of registered seamen."

"The Department immediately notified the port officials to make an investigation, asked the Department of Labor to notify through its representatives at Bath and other nearby ports any registered seamen there and send them to Boothbay, and gave assurance to the captain that the government was looking out for him. "Within a remarkably short time a sufficient number of able seamen to man his vessel arrived at Boothbay; idle men were given employment, and he was able to sail with a competent crew."

"The law is working out to good advantage of both employers and seamen," the Secretary said.

AGRICULTURAL

SILOS AND SILAGE.

(By Alvin J. Reed, Dairy Field Office.)

You and I believe in the dairy cow as a producer of wealth, a conservator of fertility, and as a foundation of a cash business. We are continually confronted with the high prices of feed and low yields of milk when the profits should be the largest.

Since profit is the chief inducement that attracts farmers to the cow, it is necessary that he realize this profit. Insufficient, high priced, and unsatisfactory feed is the profit thief of most farms.

Profitable dairying demands abundance of cheap feed grown on the farm. Plenty of pasture and rich legume hay must be provided, but the greatest of all is silage.

Silage will keep up the milk flow when the summer drought burns the pasture. For winter feed it is unequalled. Silage is easily produced, readily stored, and is the cheapest feed that can be produced on the farm. With silage summer pasture conditions are produced and because it is green, succulent, and relished by the cattle, they grow better and produce more than without it. Silage is cheap food.

Because you can produce the most tons per acre.

You can grow early hay and silage on the same land in one season.

You can harvest, store and feed silage cheaper and more conveniently than other feeds.

Silage saves other feed.

When silage is fed, less hay is needed. The grain bill is considerably less. A larger proportion of cotton seed meal can be fed.

A silo is not a luxury for the well-to-do farmer, but it is a safe investment for every farmer who has eight to ten head of cattle to feed.

Vice-Presidential Possibilities.
By R. J. BENDER, United Press Staff Correspondent.

Chicago, June 10.—Vice-presidential possibilities are interesting the Republicans. Fairbanks and Senator Borah of Idaho are the favorites. Borah is popular with the Progressives.

Moose Say They're Through Dickering.

Chicago, June 10.—The Progressives today will do what they ought to have done early in the week—nominate Roosevelt, said Gov. Johnson. A split was threatened when Perkins reported to a meeting of Progressive State chairmen that the Republicans had suggested an amalgamation program eliminating Roosevelt. Johnson and J. M. Parker of Louisiana refused to attend the meeting. They said they were through dickering, and that they would go ahead and nominate Roosevelt when the Progressives convened.

Betting Favors Hughes.
Betterers are offering six that Hughes will win against five that he will lose; Roosevelt five that he will lose to four that he will win.

GUARANTORS ASKED TO AID IN SELLING CH'TAUQUA TICKETS

Some Hustling Has Got to be Done to Bring Backers Out Safe In Very Limited Time—Income Ends On Tuesday Night

The following are the ticket committee for the Chautauqua: E. Y. Speed, chairman; W. E. Parrott, T. V. Moseley, R. E. Mewborn, J. C. Hood, W. D. Hood, Miss Leah Oettinger, Miss Susie Perry, Miss Margaret Goodson, Miss Ann Hyman Harvey.

There will be a meeting of the Chautauqua guarantors in the City Hall this evening at 8:30 o'clock sharp. Every guarantor is urged to be present. It will be an important meeting.

Less than half a week remains in which to purchase chautauqua season tickets. The sale closes Tuesday night. After that the proceeds from all sales will go to the Chautauqua without counting one penny for the local guarantors. The guarantors will have to show $1,400 by the close of business Tuesday night. This is a business proposition:

Persons who intend patronizing the Chautauqua should buy their tickets tonight, Monday or Tuesday, say local boosters. Every dollar received will help to make the guarantors safe. Let the guarantors come out bad on this deal and the chances are that there won't be another Chautauqua here for some time.

Season tickets to the Chautauqua may be used by any member of the family, and the idea that the ticket can only be used by the purchaser is wrong. Purchasers of season tickets will be able to witness the entire series of performances for what only three or four admissions at the box office would cost. No one need anticipate any trouble in the use of the ticket.

The guarantors themselves are asked by the ticket committee to show a little more interest. Something like work must be done around this town in the next two work days.

These are the guarantors: William Hayes, W. H. O'Berry, N. B. Evans, O. M. Rutledge, E. G. Barrett, C. W. Hartsfield, R. L. Patrick, J. F. LaRoue, D. E. Wood, W. B. Douglass, J. P. Taylor, T. V. Laws, George T. Sullivan, Dr. R. A. Whitaker, Sol. Oettinger, D. Oettinger, J. T. Whitfield, R. E. Bland, J. E. Bonner, W. E. Parrott, W. B. Coleman, G. V. Cowper, J. W. Braxton, L. A. Claytor, W. O. REPORTER WITH BOIL ON FINGER MADE BIG DISCOVERY IN LONDON

By WILBUR S. FORREST, (United Press Staff Correspondent)

London, June 1.—(By Mail)—The strain of twenty months of war on the composite brain of a nation today showed that common, ordinary bandage is the new insignia of sympathy.

Walking along a crowded London thoroughfare with your arm in a sling transforms you from an able-bodied slacker to a hero just back from the front.

Just like the eight of shamrock flashes to the brain of an individual that it's St. Patrick's Day, the sight of bandage tells the average Britisher that he should be sympathetic.

To have on your finger a semi-carbonized furnace (which is an over-zealous boil) is to wear your arm in a sling. This means a liberal display of bandage.

A uniform isn't necessary. The sympathetic "composite war brain" overlooks all that is lacking. You have been wounded, and it can readily be seen that you are tired of wearing your uniform and you are modest about attracting attention anyhow.

Old ladies beam on you in trams, busses and subways.

You are petted and pampered by conductors who hold their vehicles while you get safely seated.

Men on the street who wear the Derby armet look sheepish when you pass.

Barbers take special care not to postle your "wounded" arm. Waitresses and waiters sympathetically carve your meat.

Ushers in theaters follow you to your seat and take your things back to the cloak room.

Shop clerks tie up your bundles with a special loop of string so you can hook it over an unwounded finger.
