GERMANS RECAPTURE STRONG REDOUBT AT THIAUM'NT, ADMIT'D

Terrific Fighting Continues Around the Works, However

TRIED OUT A NEW SHELL

Teutons Introduced Projectile That Blew Into Ten Thousand Pieces on Contact, But Missile Seems a Failure

(By the United Press) Paris, Aug. 8.—The Germans recaptured the strong Thiaumont works northeast of Verdun in a powerful assault early this morning. It is officially admitted. Fighting is still raging around the redoubt.

Last night a terrific bombardment and five violent attacks in larger force were directed against the French positions from Fleury to Thiaumont redoubt. They were repulsed near Fleury, but in an attack at Cuillement, north of the Somme, the Teutons reached the outskirts of the village.

A new shell with a "fragmentation" of ten to fifteen thousand pieces was introduced. The shells have burst formerly into five or six pieces. The Germans are believed to have tried glass shells to secure the high "fragmentation." Powdered glass was found where the shells had fallen. These were later abandoned because the fragments were too minute, it is believed. Tests of German shells today show the fragmentation to be less than one hundred. The advantage of the French is immense.

CITY TO HAVE ONLY ONE POLICE CHIEF, COUNCIL'S DECISION

Office of Night Chief Abolished; Heath Becomes Assistant, Same Pay

WALL ST., NEAR DOGTOWN

Was An Alley, But an Important Thoroughfare—To Be Paved, Together With 4 1-2 Blocks on Other Streets

City Council Monday night decided to dispense with one of Kinston's two chiefs of police. For several months the city has had the distinction of being the only place in the world with two heads—with equal rank and pay—of one department. The situation might have been compared with the Nicaraguan army, for the personnel of the force was 33 1-3 officers. Alderman Webb moved that the office of night chief be abolished. The action of Council was unanimously in favor of the motion. Night Chief Heath, whose administration of the department nocturnally had been satisfactory and whose ability is unquestioned, was named assistant chief, to retain the same salary as heretofore, while Day Chief Skinner was elected chief—just straight chief. Both officers are generally popular, and conditions have gradually improved under their vigilant, watchfulness and energetic efforts to squelch crime. Criticism of the "freak" action of Council in naming two chiefs is said by administration members to have had most to do with the decision to go back to the old order of things.

Walnut Alley, between North and Blount streets, on the square between Queen and Heritage, Monday night became Wall street. The City Council changed the designation at the instance of Messrs. N. J. Rouse, A. S. Cappeland and P. S. B. Harper, and after that action granted a petition for paving the street, which is only a block long. The three gentlemen above are among those owning property along the thoroughfare; nearly all the property owners signed the petition. The street is an important one for wheeled traffic, especially in the tobacco season, when it is a "shortcut" for hundreds of vehicles and frequently relieves congestion on North street. It is not a financial center, however. Mr. Harper states that it does not come under the jurisdiction of the Mayor of Dogtown, Mr. Eugene Rouse, who will in all likelihood be delighted with the aristocratic appellation bestowed upon it, though, for it adjoins his domain on the west. Along with authorization of the paving of Wall street, Council granted petitions for asphaltting a block on North street between McLevean and Independent streets, three blocks on Independent between Blount street and Lenoir avenue, and about one-half of a block on McLevean south of the present end of the paving at Bright.

Messrs. J. H. Canady, secretary, and P. S. B. Harper of the Kinston Fair Association, asked Council to furnish the grounds west of the city with water and lights during the coming exhibit. This was granted. Very little additional wiring will have to be installed, and a temporary water pipe of small size will be run for a distance of 2,600 or 2,800 feet to the grounds. Members of Council evidently would have preferred putting down a permanent water line, but it was estimated that because of the expensiveness of pipe a temporary line would be preferable this year. A permanent line just now would cost possibly $700.
