Electric Sign Announces Sales.
Messrs. Hooker & Buckler, proprietors of the New Brick warehouses have installed an electric sign which announces the order of the sales. At night the sign tells whether the first or second sale will be held there the following day, and will no doubt prove quite convenient for the farmers and others who have business with the tobacco folks.

GRASS MAY HIDE LURKING SERPENTS
Sanitary Inspector T. C. Conway desires that persons having grass plats in front of their homes trim the grass off if it needs it. When it reaches old age it harbors mosquitoes and all the other bugs native to the region. In a number of places, especially in West Kinston, pea vines are planted and allowed to encroach upon the sidewalks. Inspector Conway reports seeing persons walk in the roadway rather than risk being bitten by snakes that might be sheltered under the overgrown vines. "And that is not so foolish," says Inspector Conway, for the other day in Norfolk they found a bad specimen in a downtown lot allowed to grow up in weeds.

DESSERTERS TAKEN OFF.
C. A. Ronk and James A. Davis alleged deserters from the First Infantry, were taken from the local jail to Camp Glenn this morning by Lt. J. W. Welch. The men were arrested by the police late Monday, and confessed that they intended deserting, although the time that was required to make them deserters under military law had not elapsed. They were in civilian clothes. One of the men had left Camp Glenn before, and told the police that he would "skip out" again if the opportunity was presented. The police do not believe the opportunity will present soon. The men, it is said finished doing time for the other "desertion" on Saturday, and left the same afternoon.

According to the testimony of witnesses for Dr. Akeley, none of which was contested or even replied to by Mrs. Akeley, she had been guilty of the impropriety of traveling through Italy and other parts of Europe for her health with one "Sam Charles."

Any time after today the Rev. Mr. Akeley may remarry, but his former wife is forbidden to remarry in less than five years.

O. MARKS, PROMINENT NEW BERNIAN, IS DEAD

New Bern, Aug. 23.—Oscar Marks, one of the city's best known men, died at his home here yesterday as the result of an attack of paralysis of the throat. He was about 76 years of age and was born across the ocean. He located here in 1864 and became successful in business. He married Miss Fannie Green of New York in 1867. She, together with five sons and daughters, survives him. The latter are: Miss Hattie Marks and Mrs. Belle Hyman of New Bern, Mrs. Fred Thomas of Williamsburg, Va., and M. M. and Harry B. Marks of New Bern. Several brothers and sisters are living.

Mr. Marks was a member of the Masons and Elks. The funeral will be conducted on Thursday at 10 a. m. by Rabbi H. A. Merfeld of Columbia, S. C., with interment in the New Bern Jewish cemetery.

ALL WORN OUT.

Does morning find you with a lame, stiff and aching back? Are you tired all the time—and work a burden? Kinston people endorse Doan's Kidney Pills. You can rely on their statements.

Mrs. Sarah J. Dupree, 301 Gordon street, Kinston, says: "My kidneys were weak and gave me lots of trouble. I also suffered a great deal from inflammation of the bladder. The kidney secretions were unnatural and caused me much annoyance. I have used Doan's Kidney Pills, procured from J. E. Hood & Co.'s drug store, and they have never yet failed to relieve me. I keep them on hand all the time and cannot praise them too highly."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Dupree had. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y. adv.

UNCLE SAM TO GIVE AMERICAN HIGH SCHOOLS THE PRIVILEGE OF VOCATIONAL COURSES IF A BILL THAT SENATE HAS PASSED GOES THROUGH LOWER HOUSE

(By the United Press)
Washington, Aug. 23.—Uncle Sam will put a vocational course of training in every high school in the country if a bill that has just passed the Senate also passes the House of Representatives. Indications today are that the bill will become a law soon. The bill was introduced simultaneously in both houses by Senator Hoke Smith and Representative Hughes, both of Georgia. It is an elaboration of the federal aid system by which the United States government annually contributes nearly $100,000 to each State for the maintenance of agricultural colleges and experiment stations, as well as four million, one hundred thousand dollars to carry on the rural extension system of vocational instruction for farmers throughout the country.

The proposed law is the result of a healthy growing conviction that the prospective farmer, or, nowadays, scientific agriculturalist, should be extended the opportunities of an agricultural schooling at an early age and not be compelled to attend the agricultural college for the rudiments of his trade. It has been felt that a large proportion of boys destined to make their living from the soil are unable to afford a college education and need high school credits for college entrance now. Eighteen States now extend aid to their high schools for courses in agriculture, the mechanic arts and horse economics. Minnesota annually appropriates $300,000 for this work. To standardize and nationalize the high school aid the Smith-Hughes bill provides that the United States shall share in the payment of salaries to State teachers, inspectors and directors in State high schools. It also provides for a Federal Board of Vocational Education.

This Board, which would consist of the Commissioner of Education of the United States as Chairman and four members to be appointed, (not more than two from any political party), by the President. This board and State educational authorities will co-operating in outlining courses. The States Relations service of the Department of Agriculture has pursued the system still further by preparing a comprehensive system of courses in agriculture. These have been offered to the States for use in their grammar schools, in the rural districts. Alabama, Mississippi, Wisconsin, Maryland and Vermont have installed the course in all their elemental schools since the initiation of the plan a year or so ago.

Some of its good Points

Steel-dust-proof roller bearings are used in the axle and bevel gear shaft. These insure easy running. The large gear and a small pinion are set back of the main axle and are well shielded. They always mesh perfectly, and the machine is in perfect balance. The crank shaft, of special steel, runs in a horizontal position under the main axle and retains oil on the bearings. Separate boxes at each end hold the shaft in line. The cutter bar is steel and smooth on the under side. The guards are fitted with serrated steel plates. The steel push bar is in one piece and is adjustable. Let us show you
