SATURDAY EVENING, SEPTEMBER 9, 1916

Congress has adjourned. Congratulations for everybody!

No evidence of that "all-in" condition of the tobacco supply in this region yet. More than four million pounds have been sold on the local floors to date this season.

An Alabama Confederate veteran died from the effects it is claimed, of a bullet wound received in battle fifty years ago. The old gentleman would have probably rivaled Methuselah had he not been shot.

According to Berlin, the Russians have sacrificed more than a million men in the past three months for empty victories. According to the viewpoint of the right thinkers, all the men who have been sacrificed in the war on both sides have given their lives for results which were far short of the cost.

Ordinarily our sympathies are naturally on the side of the newspaper which is being sued for libel, but in the case of the suit of Mr. Ford against the Chicago Tribune we can't help but feel that it would be in justice to the South if another suit should be brought against the "muck-raker" for slandering the best section and the best people in the world with its "blatant ignoramus" allegations.

A contemporary in emphasizing the advocacy of its choice for a judgeship, urges his election, among other reasons, on the strength of his being a Democrat and a member of a certain religious body. We are convinced that every judge entrusted with the interpretation of the law should be a God-fearing and God-serving man, but his peculiar religious tenets should neither bar nor qualify any man for public office.

Col. Fairbrother, editor of the Greensboro Record, wisely suggests that when the law is so fixed that pistol-toters will go to the roads for five years the number of self-defense cases in the courts will diminish. We can certainly go with the Colonel to most any limits in the advocacy of drastic laws for the suppression of this menace to society. Five years at hard labor for every scallawag convicted of transporting a deadly pistol about would not be a bit too severe.

Some few men, who have resisted the work of midnight intruders, have succeeded in either holding the fellows for the officers of the law or driving them off empty-handed, but in a great many cases the householder is a victim of the weapon of the burglar, who comes prepared and who has every advantage over his victim, who is suddenly aroused from his slumber and begins to resist in a dazed and half-awake condition. Safety first suggests giving the burglar right of way unless the drop can be gotten on him unawares.

A WAR OF COMMERCIAL GREED.

That the terrible European struggle is in reality a trade war has been repeatedly charged since the cannon began to roar in August, 1914. The intense rivalry of Anglo-Saxon and Teuton for world commerce supremacy has frequently been assigned by more than one critic as the contributing cause for the awful catastrophe, which now devastates the continent of Europe and more or less affects the people of the entire world. That these views are more or less well founded has been given color by the attitude of the Allies and their declarations of threatened boycotts of the products of their enemies even after the war shall have been brought to a termination.

It has been quite evident from the developments of the past year that Great Britain is mad with the greed for continued supremacy on the high seas. The retaliatory measures adopted and proposed by the British Government have done much to wean public favor in this country from the cause of the Allies and a continuance of the seeming utter disregard of the right of this country to engage in legitimate commerce where and when, and with whom the citizens of this Nation desire to trade, will create a breach which will not be easy to bridge.

The United States cannot afford, and it will not submit to having the dust of jealousy thrown in its teeth by the British or any other self-seeking folk.

According to Manager Hayes of the Kinston-Carolina Railroad, the recently inaugurated extension service to the heart of Duplin is already producing splendid results both from the passenger as well as the freight standpoint. So it will be with every railroad extension tapping territory tributary to Kinston and making the way easy for the residents to come here to trade.

WHAT OTHERS SAY

MORE BAKER-WILSON TESTIMONIALS.

Winston-Salem Journal: "After hearing Secretary Baker, it would be hard to convince the average Democrat that a vote against Woodrow Wilson in this campaign would not be almost equivalent to casting a vote against the Christian civilization. In fact, one gentleman who has been hearing speeches and sermons a long time remarked, when Mr. Baker had finished, that his speech was the best sermon he had heard in years."

BRINGING HOME THE GUARD.

Raleigh Times: "If the mustering out of twelve National Guard regiments marks the beginning of a policy which will return the entire organization to their homes, it is expressive of a confidence in a satisfactory Mexican settlement that the country cannot share upon any reason of hope yet given it."

"It must not be forgotten that Carrizal was an act of war officially sanctioned by a man with whom the country is now dealing as a sovereign of equal dignity. It went unpunished, it even met with a silence that seemed to accept the act itself as one which Carranza was justified in taking. In the withdrawal of the Pershing forces from Mexico which the demobilization order in all probability foreshadows, it is given the effect of a smashing victory. When the American soldiers are out of Mexico, what can the Mexican people think except that they put them out by force and threat of arms? When we come to negotiate with Mexican representatives, what hope have we that they will fail to reflect at the conference board the child-like pride which such a circumstance is sure to foster?"

"From the point of view of the personnel of the National Guard, we can all look with satisfaction on the prospect of their early relief from a character of service which can be justly expected of them, but which not one of them contemplated when he enlisted, either before or after the order of mobilization. These men are doing a patriotic duty at great personal sacrifice. They are entitled to every particle of sympathy they receive from the public or from the War Department. But pending a settlement through the Mexican Commission that is both reasonable in its formal assurances and capable of practical enforcement, the material weakening of the border guard is no more than an invitation to further trouble calling for another and even larger mobilization."

LIKE A BOY AT FIFTY BUBBLING OVER WITH VITALITY—TAKING IRON DID IT

Doctor Says Nuxated Iron Is Greatest of All Strength Builders—Often Increases the Strength and Endurance of Delicate, Nervous folks 200 Per Cent. in Two Weeks' Time

New York, N. Y.—Not long ago a man came to me who was nearly half a century old and asked me to give him a preliminary examination for life insurance. I was astonished to find him with the blood pressure of a boy of 20 and as full of vigor, vim and vitality as a young man; in fact, a young man he really was notwithstanding his age. The secret he said was taking iron—nuxated iron had filled him with renewed life. At 30 he was in bad health; at 46 careworn and nearly all in. Now at 50 a miracle of vitality and his face beaming with the buoyancy of youth. As I have said a hundred times over, iron is the greatest of all strength builders. If people would only throw away patent medicines and nauseous concoctions and take simple nuxated iron, I am convinced that the lives of thousands of persons might be saved, who now die every year from pneumonia, grippe, consumption, kidney, liver and heart trouble, etc. The real and true cause which started their diseases was nothing more nor less than a weakened condition brought on by lack of iron in the blood. Iron is absolutely necessary to enable your blood to change food into living tissue. Without it, no matter how much or what you eat, your food merely passes through you without doing you any good. You don't get the strength out of it, and as consequence you become weak, pale and sickly looking, just like a plant trying to grow in a soil deficient in iron. If you are not strong or well you owe it to yourself to make the following test: See how long you can work or how far you can walk without becoming tired. Next take two five-grain tablets of ordinary nuxated iron three times per day after meals for two weeks. Then test your strength again and see for yourself how much you have gained. I have seen dozens of nervous, run-down people who were ailing all the while, double their strength and endurance and entirely get rid of all symptoms of dyspepsia, liver and other troubles in from ten to fourteen days' time simply by taking iron in the proper form. And this after they had in some cases been doctoring for months without obtaining any benefit. But don't take the old forms of reduced iron, iron acetate or tincture of iron simply to save a few cents. You must take iron in a form that can be easily absorbed and assimilated like nuxated iron if you want it to do you any good, otherwise it may prove worse than useless. Many an athlete or prize-fighter has won the day simply because he knew the secret of great strength and endurance and filled his blood with iron before he went into the fray, while many another has gone down to inglorious defeat simply for the lack of iron.—E. Sauer, M. D.

NOTE.—The manufacturers of Nuxated Iron have such unbounded confidence in its potency that they authorize the announcement that they will forfeit $100.00 to any Charitable Institution if they cannot take any man or woman under sixty who lacks iron and increase their strength 200 per cent. or over in four weeks' time, provided they have no serious organic trouble. Also they will refund your money in any case in which Nuxated Iron does not at least double your strength in ten days' time. It is dispensed in this city by J. E. Hood & Co., and all other druggists. adv.
