French and Russians Engaged With Bulgarians at One Point, Italians Hammering Them at Another, Allies Crossing at Two Places—Serbians, "Coming Back," Use Knife and Bayonet in Assaulting Invaders—Germans Get Into Action Around Dead Man's Hill In Sector Occupied by Russ. Expedition—Checked Without Gain—Ferdinand's Armies, Falling Back From Greece, Offer Slight Resistance to Allies

London, Sept. 19.—A steady downpour of rain has halted the British operations in the Somme. There has been no important fighting, according to General Haig, but the British have entered trenches around Richebourg and Laboue at three places and taken prisoners.

The Allies have crossed the Serbian frontier in two places, advancing on the Bulgar base at Monastir. There are Serbs fighting on their native soil for the first time since the retreat through Albania last winter. They have taken a series of heights. The Bulgars from Kamachal-an have crossed the frontier north of Lake Ostrove. Russian and French troops have engaged the Bulgars at Kernali, in Serbia. Practically all the territory captured in the recent Bulgar invasion of Greece, has been recaptured. The most savage fighting has been where the Serbs and Bulgars have come into contact. Eager for revenge, the Serbs are flinging themselves against the Bulgarian lines with knives and bayonets. Desperate hand-to-hand fighting is occurring north of Ostrove. The Bulgars are steadily retreating northward and have put up slight resistance, except at Florina, where they defeated a number of Greek volunteers who fought with exceptional bravery.

Italians In Action in Balkans.

Paris, Sept. 19.—A most violent battle is occurring between Italians and Bulgars east of the Beles Mountains, in Macedonia, it is officially stated.

The Germans broke out in five violent attacks on the Champaign front last night, attempting bold strokes against Dead Man's Hill, northwest of Verdun, where there has been little fighting for several weeks. The Russians in the Champaign checked the attacks and now all is again serene, says the war office. The onslaughts were delivered west of the Sousain-Somme road, the Germans losing heavily.

New York, Sept. 18.—A torpedo sank the British ship Kelvinia, carrying 28 Americans, according to G. W. Dillard of Richmond, Va., one of the Americans who arrived at New York today on the Cunard liner Tuscania.

Dispatches from England left in doubt the question whether the Kelvinia, bound from Newport News, to Glasgow, was torpedoed or sunk by a mine on September 2. According to Dillard, the Kelvinia was torpedoed at 2 o'clock in the morning without any warning having been given.

BATTLES OF DRY LAND DREADNAUGHTS AS RESULT INTRODUCTION OF NEW BRITISH ARMORED CARS IN SOMME, IS PREDICTION

LONDON, Sept. 19.—Great battles between fleets of land dreadnaughts may result from the introduction of the new armored car "tanks" in the Somme by the British. A Somme correspondent says that in "one short hour the tanks did more military service and killed more men than all the zeppelins that ever were." He wires that there is a possibility that before the war is over there will be land battles between whole fleets of these "dreadnaughts," or terrestrial monsters, each hungrier and more horrible than the last. Only one of the "tanks" has been destroyed in the Somme, it is learned. In the center of Boucaux Wood, where there has been fierce fighting, one of the new monsters lies with its nose buried in the earth between the opposing lines, forming a barricade between the British and Germans. How it was destroyed is not revealed in the dispatch.

LIVE WIRE MEN ARE CHOSEN TO ASSIST FAIR CHIEF MARSHAL

Each Section of Big Opening Day Pageant to Have Its Director, Selected for Qualification and Entrance

Mr. Harvey C. Hines, Chief Marshal for the coming fair, today announced the following as his assistants: L. M. LaRoque, in charge of decorated automobiles. J. J. Stevenson, automobiles for officials and guests of honor. H. H. McCoy, commercial floats. T. V. Moseley, industrial floats. O. F. McCrary, agricultural floats. E. B. Lewis, fraternal and educational floats. Dr. Lunsford Abbott, mounted marshals. Dr. W. C. Knox, "knights." J. F. Hooker, Jr., patrol, to be aided by the Boy Scouts. Leonard Oettinger, marshals' ball. Mr. Hines is preparing to write a thousand representative men in ten surrounding counties to request them to act as marshals, or as knights—mounted, plumed and shahed, and carrying lances—participate in the parade and the tournament that is to be a feature of opening day. That tournament is to be an old-fashioned affair, full of thrills and color and prancing horses. Mr. Hines expects fully 500 men to accept. The parade will be a tremendous affair. Last year's was on a grand scale, but this one cannot be described with an adjective of smaller calibre than prodigious or something equally impressive. It is to be made up in sections on different streets, each section to be assembled under the supervision of its assistant chief marshal. The floats will be especially attractive. It is planned to have scores of commercial, industrial and agricultural floats in the pageant. There will be, possibly brick houses and wooden houses on wheels, representing the brick and lumber lines; pedigreed pigs will graze from miniature wheeled pastures if the pig club boys do what is expected of them; the cotton industry will be played up from the growing stalk to finished garments. Mr. Hines is giving over a big part of his time to preparations for the occasion.

APPEAL TO PEOPLE OF NORTH CAROLINA TO AID IN RAISING STATE'S PORTION OF WILSON-MARSHALL FUND; PEOPLE'S FIGHT

The following appeal is made by the Finance Committee for North Carolina to raise the State's part of the Wilson-Marshall Campaign Fund:

An Appeal to the People. "Others may follow the Lords of War, who ride among the corpses of mankind. We follow the President of the United States and seek inspiration of humanity that aspires to higher things."

We must have money to defray the expenses of the Democratic presidential campaign. This is the people's campaign and it is all important that it be conducted with the people's money.

There are innumerable items of legitimate expense never thought of by the average person. To mention only a few, there is the cost of maintaining national and divisional headquarters, printing and mailing tons of literature and millions of letters, of effecting organizations in every town in every one of the forty-eight States. In preparing and distributing publicity matter, in maintaining a speakers' bureau, in printing and circulating pictures of candidates, etc.

A Record of Achievement. The Democratic Party has been in control of the government for nearly four years, and in that time has written more of constructive legislation than any other administration in the Nation's history, and guided the ship of State safely through crises more numerous and more grave than had arisen in the preceding fifty years of our diplomacy. The Democratic administration has kept the country out of war, while preserving its honor unscathed and unimpaired. It has prepared for adequate preparedness against aggression of any

Things to Hum as Soon as President Gets Back—Remarkable Tribute Paid Executive at Columbia—Big Silent Crowd

LEADERS GETTING BUSY

Washington, Sept. 19.—There is to be more political noise at Shadow Lawn from now on. The President, Chairman Vance McCormick and other political leaders have decided that the political horses are to be spurred up all the way down the remainder of the stretch. There are to be several big "Jersey Days" and "Open House Days" at Shadow Lawn, together with occasional sallies into the surrounding States. Some heavy artillery is being unlimbered. The Democratic leaders admit the campaign has been necessarily lagging for the last week or so. But from the time the President gets back to the summer White House things are to be set humming. On leaving Columbia, S. C., the President was accorded a remarkable tribute by several thousand persons who stood silently, the men with their hats off. As the train pulled out there was no sign of cheering. Upon entering his car the President said "That was splendid."

Dinner Pail Is Full. It has established prosperity more general and genuine than all the people ever enjoyed before, so that every dinner pail is full, every factory working, every man employed, and the average of wages higher.

It has given the nation a system of finance and banking that shielded it from panic and depression when the whole structure of European credit was destroyed by war, and which overwhelmed other neutral nations whose statesmen lacked the foresight and capacity of America's Democratic statesmen.

It has amended the anti-trust laws making guilt personal, defining it for the first time without ambiguity, and preventing trade monopoly with prohibition of interlocking directorates; and has set up in the Federal Trade Commission a court of business.

Labor Not a Commodity. It has taken labor out of the classification of commodity and bid it aspire to the higher things it naturally craves without fear of punishment for so doing.

It has afforded the farmer easy credit and diminished the burden of
