FRIDAY EVENING, SEPTEMBER 22, 1916

"Railway Executives discuss 8 hour law." Probably arbitrating with each other.

The deadly grade crossing snuffed out the lives of two young people in Henderson Friday night. The same old story, "buildings obscured the approach of the train, etc."

Ten new stores for Queen street is the proud boast of the Kinston Chamber of Commerce for the period of the past few months. And that is no mean record. One that a city many times larger would be glad to lay claim to.

Wilmington Star: "The Sub Rosa has torpedoed numerous friendships." Yes, the trouble is that this method of imparting information becomes an endless chain rather than the intended terminal and with each added link the embellishments are increased.

One of the horrors of war is told in the story from the Serbian-Bulgarian battlefield, where the bodies of killed and wounded have been stripped of flesh by vultures hovering over the lines awaiting the fall of their human victims. Can anybody dispute Mr. Sherman's characterization of war?

One of the younger members of the Kinston bar took the speech of Mr. J. J. Parker, candidate for Attorney General on the Republican ticket, a little too seriously and proffered his services to care for the cause of the Democrats. So well and good, but there was really no need for any "anxiety." Mr. Parker made a good speech, far better than the average of his party in these parts, but then he made little progress in decrying the record of Democracy because actions speak louder than words.

The general use of the "twitch," an inhuman and cruel method of subduing horses and mules, by the blacksmiths in Kinston is a matter that might engage the attention of those who have to do with the prevention of cruelty to animals. The use of this "torture" may be necessary in some rare cases, where the animals are particularly vicious and unmanageable, but to apply the "twitch," whereby the lip of the horse or mule is put into a vice-like grip of rope twisted as the movements of the animal require to keep it docile while the shoeing operation is going on, in every case, or as a general rule is, we believe, unnecessary and should be stopped.

Clinton reports are loud in praising the way Hon. "Hot Stuff" Ward of Washington took the Hon. Moses E. Clapp, Senator from Wisconsin, and Hon. J. J. Parker of Monroe, Republican candidate for Attorney General, in tow in an impromptu joint debate on the political issues of the day. Mr. Ward is accredited with having disposed of his two opponents entirely to the liking of his Democratic hearers. To be sure, it must be remembered that Mr. Ward had "something" to talk about. In such circumstances it is always easier to make a good speech than when in the sad predicament of his opponents, who were but following the lead of their distinguished candidate for President of the United States, "sounding" for an issue, which was not there.

HUGHES THE "DESTRUCTIONIST."

Mr. Hughes is busy "foaming at the mouth" about the eight hour law, but Mr. Hughes has so far overlooked telling his audiences what steps he would have taken, if by any ill-wind he had been at the helm when an industrial tie-up of the country was threatened because a few employers and employes were at loggerheads. Mr. Hughes has been denouncing the policies and methods of Mr. Wilson ever since he took the stump, but he has failed in any instance to enlighten the people as to the course that he would have pursued.

The people know Mr. Wilson's record; they know that he has been confronted almost since the very day of his inauguration with problems more grave than many of his predecessors have been called upon to solve; they are entirely familiar with the course that he has pursued; they realize that the United States has weathered some high storms under the able leadership of Mr. Wilson; they know that the country is at peace and that its dignity has been maintained in spite of serious and menacing situations which have arisen thick and fast during the past three and a half years. But they don't know that the country would have been at peace if Mr. Hughes had been in the White House; they don't know whether or no several hundred thousand of our best young men would now be lying somewhere in unmarked graves below the Rio Grande; they don't know whether the country would now be facing a famine for lack of transportation facilities; they don't know whether countless workers all over the country would now be idle because of a tie-up in the railroads; they don't know whether the country would have been at the mercy of the Wall Street gang because of the continued operation of an antiquated currency system; in fact, they don't know what would have been the situation, had Mr. Hughes and his party been in control, or what will happen if he is given control after November. Mr. Hughes has failed to let it be known just what he would do and the people are therefore unable to intelligently form an opinion as to the efficacy of his methods and policies.

Mr. Hughes is a "destructionist," he tears down but he has so far failed to give any evidence of constructive ability.

Reports coming from Georgia indicate that the "surmise" that the notorious Frank case, which he prosecuted so vigorously, had been the chief stepping-stone to the gubernatorial nomination for Hugh M. Dorsey, was correct. Dorsey, it is said, is indebted to Tom Watson, the "red-headed" sensationalist, who has made sharp racial and religious attacks in his papers. Watson, it is said, proposes to introduce a resolution in the Georgia Democratic convention next week condemning President Wilson. It is indeed unfortunate that an unnatural and revengeful desire for gore has developed in Georgia sufficiently to elevate men to high office and it is even more to be deplored that men of the Tom Watson type should appear to occupy a seat in the saddle of a great Southern State.

WHAT OTHERS SAY

Hickory Record: "The public is indebted to Mr. A. J. Maxwell of Raleigh for calling its attention to a worthwhile fact just at a time when politicians are likely to make statements not in accord with the exact truth. From a table in the census report of 1913 Mr. Maxwell shows that the per capita cost of both State and county government in North Carolina is $4.46, only South Carolina spending less than our State. The figures range anywhere from $4.45 to nearly $30 per capita in the several States.

"Mr. Maxwell does not point out that a considerable sum in the cost of government is pension money in Southern States, a sum that Northern States do not have to provide, if we are not mistaken.

"We don't envy any man any good argument he might make in this campaign, and we do not know for a fact whether any candidate is straining the truth, but the public has a right to know whether his government is costing each citizen more than the same government is costing other States.

"We don't believe the State is doing enough, and in this belief we do not expect to be in a majority, probably. The State cannot do too much for its citizens. The cost of running each household has increased three-fold, and it is but natural that the cost of State government should increase along with everything else."

A SOUTHERN R. R. FOREMAN COMES OUT WITH FACTS

J. L. Bradley Tells How Tanlac Helped His Daughter When All Else Failed

I believe in giving credit where credit is due and in justice to Tanlac I give it full credit for the good condition my daughter is in today," declared J. L. Bradley, yard foreman for the Southern Railroad, at Charlotte.

"My daughter Grace suffered from a peculiar form of stomach trouble. Doctors' treatments, a stay in a sanatorium and trials with various medicines failed to help her. We were uneasy about her condition and, as a last resort, tried Tanlac. From the first few bottles my girl gained ten pounds. Her complexion is clear, she is much stronger and has gained wonderful relief from those awful attacks which would come from eating different kinds of food. She would become very sick at her stomach, suffered intense pains, especially around her heart and her whole body would be drawn up and she would break out in cold perspiration. It's all different now and I gladly praise Tanlac, for it did the work."

Tanlac is sold in Kinston by J. E. Hood & Co.; New Bern, Bradham Drug Co.; Weldon, W. M. Cohen; Warsaw, Brown Drug Co.; Trenton, Trenton Drug Co.; Edenton, Mitchner's Pharmacy; Ayden, J. R. Smith & Bro.; Hookerton, W. F. Taylor, adv.

"Goodnight Corns!" We Use "Gets-It!"

3 Drops in 2 Seconds. That's All "GETS-IT" Does the Rest. Never Fails.

"Really, I never could see how some few people use the most difficult and painful way they can find to get rid of corns. They'll wrap their toes up with bandages into a package that fills their shoes full of feet and makes corns so painful they've got to walk sideways and wrinkle up their faces. Or they use knives that cut right into the toe and make it raw and sore, or they'll use plasters that make the corns bulge, or pick and gouge at their corns and make the toes bleed. Funny, isn't it? "GETS-IT" is the simple, modern wonder for corns. Just put 3 drops on. It dries instantly. No pain, fuss or trouble. The corn, callus or wart loosens and comes off. Millions use nothing else. "GETS-IT" is sold and recommended by druggists everywhere. See a bottle, or sent on receipt of price, by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago, Ill.

SALE OF LAND BY MORTGAGEE

Under and by virtue of the powers contained in that certain mortgage, made by R. A. Wooten and wife, Emma Wooten, to Hines Brothers Lumber Company on April 18th, 1912, as appears of record in the office of the Register of Deeds for Lenoir County in Book 44 at page 261, said mortgage and the indebtedness thereby secured having duly come by transfers to the undersigned B. F. D. Albritton, and default having been made in the payment of the indebtedness by the said mortgage secured, the undersigned will on the 25th day of September, 1916, at about 12 o'clock M offer for sale to the highest bidder for cash at the Courthouse door in Kinston, N. C., the following described tract of land, which is that described in the said mortgage, and is more particularly described as follows:

Situated in the aforesaid State and county, and in Vance township, adjoining the lands of Mrs. L. L. Parrot and others and bounded as follows:

Beginning at a stake on the West edge of the Kinston and Snow Hill Public Road near a tenant house on J. Hyman Mewborne's land and runs N. 43 E. with Mrs. L. L. Parrot's and W. O. Moseley's lines 1716 feet to a stake; thence N. 21 degrees and 38 minutes West 1893 1-2 feet to a stake; thence N. 59 degrees and 52 minutes West 1515 feet to a stake; thence N. 40 1-4 West 1633 1-2 feet to a stake; thence S. 79 West 723 feet to a stake in the East edge of said road; thence with said road S. 21-4 E. 368 feet; thence S. 38 1-2 East 769 feet; thence S. 32 1-4 E. 1293 feet; thence S. 30 1-2 E. 1557 feet; thence S. 27 E. 800 feet; thence S. 23 1-2 E. 913 feet to the beginning. 176 and 72-1000 acres, more or less, excepting, however, from the foregoing description about 30 acres heretofore conveyed by R. A. Wooten to his wife, Emma Wooten, which is situated on the South side of the above described tract of land, and lying on the South side of the lead ditch through the Bright new ground. This 23rd day of August, 1916.
