A shuttle train will be operated from the Norfolk Southern station at Queen street to the Fair Grounds "every few minutes" next week. The service will be inaugurated by the railroad simultaneously with the opening of the Fair Tuesday morning and continued through the four days. Cheap fares will obtain and the train is expected to be a lively competitor of the innumerable jitneys that will do business on the Central Highway during the week. The police, by the way, are making their little arrangements for handling traffic. There will be a sufficiency of officers to guide drivers, and they will take post determined to check the speed-demon the first time he shows his head.

Season tickets, on sale at all drug stores the past few days, will not be available after Saturday night, it is again called to the attention of prospective purchasers.

Secretary F. I. Sutton of the Chamber of Commerce is preparing an exhibit for the "City of Kinston booth" at the Fair Grounds. He wants to borrow pictures and anything else appropriate, and asks that contributors to the display send in their offerings Friday or Saturday.

CHICAGO RECEPTION GREATEST PRESIDENT EVER HAD, BELIEVE

Wilson Returning East Delighted Over Way Illinois Greeted Him

A PATRIOTIC NEW ISSUE

Pleads for the "New Nationalism"—3 Speeches In Chicago — Suffragists Mobbed by Adherents of Administration

By ROBT. J. BENDER,
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Canton, O., Oct. 20.—With the echoes of the greater demonstration ever tendered him ringing in his ears, President Wilson is returning home. He and all his lieutenants are happy since his Chicago visit.

It was the "greatest yet," Secretary Tumulty said. The President is emphasizing as a big issue "a new nationalism," pleading for development of the "spirit of America in service to mankind."

Chicago Speeches Thursday.

Chicago, Oct. 19.—President Wilson came here today to explain his views on problems facing the nation. In a speech before the Chicago Press Club, the President predicted the beginning of "a renaissance of the sense of patriotic responsibility" and urged the development of progressiveness. Speaking before a gathering of women later he urged more participation of women in the affairs of the nation; and at a meeting tonight of new citizens declared for a united America.

At his every appearance the President was cheered by throngs which packed the streets.

An attempted "silent demonstration" by members of the National Woman's party in front of the auditorium developed into a near riot in which the banners opposing Wilson were torn from the demonstrators and trampled, and the women were roughly handled. President Wilson was seated in an automobile a few hundred feet away when the demonstration started, but passed into the building and was not a witness to the scene that followed.

A demonstration lasting more than five minutes greeted the President at the new citizens meeting. Men stood in chairs and cheered, waving their hats. The President stood and bowed again and again. The applause ended when a clergyman began an invocation.

"People who come to this country are expected to put their new allegiance above every other allegiance. It puts an obligation on them."

"The future of this nation depends upon the self-control and loyalty of its citizens. Only by conscience and by loyalty felt in every throb of the heart can you become true citizens."

"A free, self-governing people is a people which does not need to be watched."

The President's address was frequently interrupted by applause.

Pittsburgh, Oct. 20.—Stopping here on his return home, President Wilson was met today by William Jennings Bryan. Bryan called at the train and the two shook hands for the first time in many months. They rode together in an automobile through the parks. The meeting was unexpected.

BOARDED THE PRESIDENT'S CAR WITH A KNIFE

(By the United Press)

Pittsburgh, Oct. 20.—A man giving the name Richard Cullen, 22, of Pittsburgh, carrying a satchel, determinedly tried to jump on the running board of the President's auto during Mr. Wilson's trip around the city today. Policemen overpowered the man. The bag contained a long-bladed knife and several chisels. The clasp was unfastened. The man said he was dissatisfied with Wilson's foreign dealings, but did not admit that he intended to attack the President.

WHISKY AND NOT A LAND DISPUTE WAS CAUSE OF SLAYING

Nick Collins Killed Abraham Collins Principally Because He Thought He Had "Told on Him," Says Sheriff—Moonshiner

Jones county authorities Friday admitted that they were but little nearer to apprehending Nick Collins, who several days ago murdered Abraham Collins, a distant relative, than they were just following the shooting, when the slayer vanished. There was one slight clue, however; a well-based idea was had as to the general direction in which Collins went. It was not toward Kinston.

Whisky, and not the land dispute which the papers have claimed was the cause of the crime, was responsible for the murder in the opinion of Sheriff Hargett of Jones. The slayer was a moonshiner; "there isn't a bit of doubt about that," according to Sheriff Hargett. "He probably thought the victim had informed against him, and with the land boundary dispute as a new incentive, killed Abraham Collins." Nick Collins is of nothing like the prominence in Jones that some accounts have stated, Hargett said. He is quite well-to-do, "but of no good character." The victim was better liked; he, also, was well off.

Police Sergeant K. F. Foscoe of this city knows the slayer. He was also intimately acquainted with Abraham Collins. Neither man was of especial prominence; both were "well-fixed" and the slayer of cowardly, contentious disposition, when he lived near them.

BIG COMPANIES ARE BUYING LOT BRIGHT LEAF ON THIS MARKET

Great Activity by Buyers Friday—Breaks Near the Half Million Mark—Best Breaks of Season, Possibly

Tobacco came back with a vim Friday. The week's final breaks were the largest of the five sales days. The average price on at least one warehouse floor was "practically the highest of the season." Every warehouseman employed "strong," "great" or "fine" in answering the question, "How're prices?"

At 2 o'clock it was estimated that around 440,000 pounds of the weed was on the market. Part of this would have been marketed earlier in the week had it not rained and other things on the farm interfered. Planters were pleased to the extent of six-inch grins by the day's developments.

The big companies are buying as if their lives depended upon it—have been for a couple of days past. One is known to have excelled itself for this season on Friday. The independents are "pushing the big fellows for all they are worth."

SCENARIO OF GRIPPING SERIAL WILL APPEAR IN THE KINSTON FREE PRESS

The Free Press has arranged with the Grand Theater and the Pathe Exchange to publish the scenarios of the copyrighted story, "Shielding Shadow," to be shown at the Grand for fifteen weeks, starting December 9. The scenarios will be run one week preceding the presentation at the Grand.

Scenario writing is very lucrative to those who have the talent and the film companies are always in the market for acceptable plots for their film production. Aside from the interest in the story of "Shielding Shadow," the publication of the story in the scenario form will give to the readers of The Free Press an exact form in which a story should appear to be acceptable to a film company.

The next speaking will be at Airy Grove school, in Vance township, on Wednesday.

SOME OF NATIONAL AILMENTS NEED G. O. P. DOCTORS, STATES

Roosevelt Promises to Have Something Interesting to Say In Speeches In New Mexico Next Week—Reply to Baker

(By the United Press)

Amarillo, Texas, Oct. 20.—Colonel Roosevelt expects to have a few words to say to Secretary of War Baker apropos the Secretary's comparison of the Carranza revolution with the American revolution. He will make some "spicy comment" in his New Mexico speeches Monday.

Roosevelt is planning to discuss issues which "need Republican doctors to fix them up."

HONOR OF THE MOOSE IS AT STAKE, SAYS

By GEORGE CREEL,
(Written for the Democratic National Committee.)

In this election nothing is so much at stake as the honor and self-respect of the men and women who made up the Progressive party. They banded in the name of humanity, raised the standard of social justice, and vowed their lives to the defeat of the sinister figures in control of the Republican party.

What is the situation today? Mr. Roosevelt hobnobs with Taft and Root and Cannon, and Perkins, Robbins and Everett Colby sit in councils with Penrose, Crane and Hitchcock. Behind Hughes is Wall Street, the German-American Alliance, child labor exploiters, reactionary employers and every Tory influence that hopes to restore the days of Hannaism. Search through the Republican platform, line by line, and not a single reference to social justice will be found. Read the speeches of Hughes and it will be seen that it is the humane legislation of President Wilson that he attacks most bitterly.

Watch Hughes as he journeys from State to State. In not one has he failed to consort exclusively with the bosses and reactionaries against whom the Progressives fought in 1912, even going so far as to ignore Hiram Johnson in California on the eve of an election. In his repeated declaration, "I desire a reunited party," he betrays utter inability to grasp Progressivism as a spiritual revolt, viewing it as nothing more than the expression of disgruntled factionalism.

The Progressive who goes back to the Republican party must crawl on his knees. He must recant his "lunatic heresies." He must swallow his condemnation of Cannon, Root, Hemenway, Crane and Penrose, and acclaim them wise, good and all-powerful. In plain words, he must confess that he lied in 1912; in plainer action he must admit that he is not a free American citizen, but a chattel to be bound and delivered whenever Theodore Roosevelt finds a price that suits.

LYCEUM ATTRACTION IN BAPTIST CHURCH

The first number of the Mothers' Club lyceum course will be presented in the First Baptist church Friday evening. The Misses Lowry and Lawrence, versatile entertainers, are scheduled to appear. Much interest is being shown by the public in the club's efforts to raise a playground fund, and since the proceeds will go to that cause a large audience is expected to witness the initial number. The entertainment is of the highest class. The program rendered has been flatteringly commented upon by papers in several parts of the country. It is largely musical.

Violent Counters Testify to Importance of Sully-Sailliesel—Long Stretch of Important Highway In Allied Hands

By HENRY WOOD,
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

With the French Armies advancing on Bapaume, Oct. 20.—Since Wednesday night the Germans have been making terrific counter attacks against the village of Sully-Sailliesel, conquered by the French in a brief, violent battle a few hours before. The fury of the German counters evidences the importance they attribute to the position by capturing it, the French removed one of the Teutons' strongest defenses to the southeast of Bapaume, which German prisoners had repeatedly boasted was untakeable. At the same time they widened the breach in the German lines to a depth of more than 11 miles. They extended the French possession of the Peronne-Bapaume highway four and a half miles by the quick capture of Sully-Sailliesel and gave an example of the power of the French infantry.

NORFOLK SOUTHERN TO GET RID OF ITS SURPLUS HOLDINGS

The Norfolk Southern Railroad has decided to place on the market for sale all real estate owned by the company that will not be needed in the future development of its property, said a statement Friday. As the lines of the company have been extended from year to year, numerous tracts and parcels of land have been acquired, the retention of which, owing to changed conditions, is no longer necessary. The company's future policy will be to dispose of this property as promptly as it can be sold, and devote the proceeds to the improvement of the railroad, it is stated. "In some towns along the line of its road the company owns nearly every lot," the statement says. In charge of the sale of the property is M. S. Hawkins, assistant to the president, whose address is Norfolk.
