WORLD MUST COME TO CHURCH, SAYS KILGO

Gastonia, N. C., Nov. 23.—In opening the 27th annual session of the Western North Carolina Conference this morning, Bishop Kilgo made a brief address in which he pleaded fervently for the preservation of the purity and integrity of the church. "All this thing of trying to adjust the church to the world," he said, "is wrong."

The characters of all the presiding elders and preachers were passed with one exception. B. M. Jackson, of the Charlotte district, was charged by his presiding elder with certain conduct not in keeping with the character of a minister, and a committee was appointed to investigate the charges and report to the conference. Tonight Dr. Henry N. Snyder, president of Wofford College, Spartanburg, S. C., representing the General Board of Education, delivered an address.

DEATH CLAIMS JOE WHITE, WELL-KNOWN CITIZEN, ON FRIDAY

Passed Away at Home—Had Been Sufferer From Incurable Malady—Was Popular and Successful Businessman

Joseph D. White died Friday morning about 6:30 o'clock at his home, Caswell and McLewain streets, following a long period of poor health. He succumbed to heart trouble, pronounced as incurable long before his demise. Mr. White had anticipated his death at no far distant day and was making arrangements to clear up his business affairs, which work he had not entirely concluded when the Reaper claimed him. Only Thursday afternoon he was on the streets. The suddenness of his death came as a shock to many of his friends and the family.

He was 43 years of age, having been born July 26, 1873.

Joe White was one of the most popular men in the city. He had made thousands of acquaintances in his lifelong residence here and business channels. He was by nature very quiet. He was a man of few words, unobtrusive and almost reticent. As a businessman he was known for his cleverness and honest methods. He took over the management of a coal and wood business at the death of his father several years ago. The enterprise has been long established and was a source of considerable profit to Mr. White. He left a moderate estate in good condition.

Mr. White disliked ostentation, was always well dressed, but never gaudily, and only his intimates ever saw him exhibit enthusiasm about any matter. A rule of his life was to "attend to his own business."

Mr. White was one of the most charitable men in Kinston, although his gifts could be help it, were never published, and only his close friends were aware of his philanthropy.

About four years ago Mr. White married Miss Ava Underhill, a well known young woman of the city. She survives him, together with one daughter, Norman White of this city; two sisters, Mrs. B. B. Martin of Morehead City and Miss Lizzie White of Kinston, and his mother, Mrs. Emma White, for whom he bore great affection.

Mr. White was a member of the Knights of Pythias.

The funeral will be held Saturday morning at 10:30 o'clock, from the residence, with interment in Maplewood cemetery. It will be conducted probably by Rev. H. A. Hamble, pastor of Queen Street Methodist church.

FRANZ JOSEF DIED IN CHAIR, VERY QUIETLY

Vienna, Wednesday, Nov. 22, via London, Nov. 23 (delayed).—Death came to Emperor Francis Joseph as sleep to a child, while the sovereign was reclining in an arm chair in what he called his work room. His strength had rapidly been ebbing from 2 o'clock in the afternoon of yesterday but he refused to take to his bed. After 6 o'clock he began gradually to lose consciousness and went to the end without uttering another word, resting peacefully in his chair with his hands folded as if he were in prayer.

This afternoon a death mask of the Emperor was taken as a preliminary to the embalming of the body.

Washington, Nov. 23.—Conference between Attorney General Gregory and legal representatives of the railroads now in Kansas City.

It was said tonight that the only matter to be determined in Kansas City is whether the suit of the Missouri, Oklahoma and Gulf Railroad, decided yesterday against the government, or that of the Santa Fe, will be heard tomorrow, shall be made the test case. In substance the man selected here probed that both the Department and the railroads agree in every way to expedite and netely press the case to be determined upon to a final decision in the Supreme Court and that during the pendency of this suit the government will not begin any prosecutions of carriers for failure to apply the law. During its pendency the carriers will institute no more suits, and at its termination both parties to the agreement will be bound by the Supreme Court decision, the carriers agreeing not to bring further suits if the law is found constitutional and to drop all others. Neither party is bound by the agreement to refrain from efforts to secure legislation which might change the Adamson Act.

LOST LEGION FROM AMERICA IS LOCATED ON THE BRITISH COAST; TYPICAL UNITED STATES MEN IN THE OUTFIT; LEGIONAIRES ANGRY OVER A DESERTION

(By J. W. PEGLER, United Press Staff Correspondent.)
On the English Coast, Nov. 9.—(By Mail)—The "lost" American Legion of Canada's army was found today by the United Press.

Two units of real Americans already are at death grips with the Germans on the Somme, and the rest wait in an English training camp for the signal to cross the channel.

The men enlisted to fight Germans—but if any survivors ever get back to America they will settle a grudge with a deserter who gave his pals a black eye in the American newspapers. The United Press correspondent found the entire camp seething with an angry determination to end that deserter and bear him within an inch of his life.

Frank Jones of Oak Cliff, "just over the viaduct" from Dallas, Texas, summed up the Legion's attitude, as he paused in his sentry beat on a rain-swept hill overlooking the sea.

"There isn't a man in the force from the colonel down, who wouldn't give a month's pay for just one smash at that guy," he said. "He got in as a temporary officer and didn't make good. In a few weeks he'd have been down in the ranks as a private. But he went over the hill toward Michigan when he heard we were going to sail. Yellow clear through, that's his trouble. A yellow panther soldier."

Jones beckoned with his bayonet and another American Tommy came up. He was Fred Mullen of Duluth, formerly in the Twenty-second United States infantry. Mullen escorted the visitor to the temporary barracks and headquarters while Jones—a 12-year man of the United States army—resumed his swinging stride along the crest.

There was something un-British about the sentry's long pace, and the slight forward stoop of his body as he disappeared in the early evening gloom. Mullen explained that the Legion doesn't bother about a man's walk, if it gets him there.

"If you know how the world's series came out, I'll present you to Major Hart," offered Mullen. "He's originally from Brooklyn and put in 22 years in the American army. Part of his service was in the 71st New York, of New York City, in Cuba. In later years, he was chief military instructor and disciplinary officer at Elmira, N. Y., reformatory."

Major G. L. Hart, a big, muscular soldier, with a scowl engraved on his leathery face, explained that things were still upset because they had marched into camp only a few hours ago. The Legion had spent weeks under canvas, in muddy, rainy weather, their new quarters were army huts—long, narrow buildings painted a battleship color and set around in squares on a plateau.

"It wasn't that I thought they'd win," said Hart, when told the worst about the Brooklyn Robins, "but I had enough patriotism for old Flatbush to back them for a little."

Roumania in Bad Fix.

London, Nov. 24.—If German official reports are correct, Von Falkenhayn's vice has closed still tighter on Eastern Roumania. Berlin claims the occupancy of Orsova, Turmu and Severin with Craiova, which was announced captured early in the week, but this is not admitted by Bucharest. The Teutons now appear to hold three large cities in Eastern Roumania. Whether the Roumanian army, which Berlin claims has been encircled, has been able to escape is a question worrying military critics.

GRAND JURY FINDS NOT TRUE BILL IN CASE SAM'L STOCKS

State's Efforts to Bring the Farm Tenant to Trial Come to Naught

NOT LONG IN DECIDING

Report Rendered in a Few Minutes After Testimony of Kinston Witnesses Was Taken In Duplin Superior Court

The grand jury in Superior Court at Kenansville last Thursday found "not a true bill" in the case against Samuel Stocks, Greene county farm tenant accused of participating in the lynching of Joseph Black, colored, last spring after he had been taken from a cell in the Lenoir county jail here by an "automobile mob" supposedly of Greene and Pitt county men.

J. F. Skinner, chief of police of Kinston; Hedia V. Allen, the jailer, cut of whose custody Black was taken by the mob; Cleveland Loftin and Ed. Phillips, who heard gossip in Greene county after the lynching, and Claud Sumrell, a former policeman, who saw the negro taken from the jail, testified before the grand jury. All of the party are residents of this city, and returned here late Thursday night. It is said the grand jury reported in a very few minutes' after the testimony was in.

Stocks had steadfastly denied that he was a member of the mob. He was held after an investigation, which attracted interest throughout the State, conducted here by Judge W. M. Bond several months ago.

A detective named Barnes, from West Carolina, Thursday reported to be unlocated, had turned up when the local man arrived at Kenansville. Stocks has been under $10,000 bail.

"Shortly after 7 o'clock the vessel sank. An officer and two first class sub-officers and 149 sailors are missing. Sixty-four of the crew have since died from the effects of burns.

"The position of the ship, which lies in shallow water, gives hope that it may be refloated and completely repaired in a few months. The bridge is only one yard beyond water level."
