LOCAL INTEREST

Fair and colder.

For North Carolina: Fair and somewhat colder tonight. Sunday partly cloudy. Moderate West winds.

Greene County Court.

Judge Thomas H. Calvert will preside over a two-weeks term of Superior Court to be convened at Snow Hill December 10. The docket is light.

Will Go to the Army.

Roy H. Leach Friday at Greensboro was examined for the army quartermaster's department. He passed without a defect. Mr. Leach has been appointed to a first-class clerkship. He expects to enter the service in about two weeks. His physical rating was exceptional.

Juniors Will Go to Church.

The local council of the Junior Order of United American Mechanics will attend church Sunday at 11 a. m. The members are requested to meet at the hall at 10:30. The annual Thanksgiving sermon to the council will be preached by Rev. John H. Griffith, the rector, at St. Mary's Episcopal Church.

Death Prominent New Bern Man.

Charles B. Hill, United States commissioner, is dead at his New Bern residence. Mr. Hill was 56 years of age, a member of the Episcopal Church, a native of Clayton and had served as commissioner 17 years. He was elected treasurer of Craven County by the Republicans in 1898, serving two years. He had resided at New Bern since 1870. He is survived by his wife, one son and one daughter. He was known to many Kinstonians. The funeral was to be conducted at 3:30 p. m. Saturday.

Thankful for Comfort Bags.

Corp. J. W. Leggett, 119th Infantry, who has been spending a short furlough here, brought to The Free Press a request from Kinston boys in that regiment other than members of the band, who have already sent their thanks, that through its columns they be allowed to return their sincere gratitude for the comfort bags sent them by Kinston women. The bags have come in very handy, he stated, and the recipients are appreciative "more than words can tell."

Bound Over.

Otis Perry, white, and Jonah Oglesby, colored, arrested at a moonshine still at Kennedy's millpond Thursday, Friday were held in $100 bail each by Magistrate K. F. Foscoe. Both men declared they hoped to be at the still by accident when the officers arrived.

Dr. Hurt Here on 9th.

Dr. John Jeter Hurt, the Wilmington minister who will be the men's community series speaker for December, will make three addresses instead of one, at the First Baptist Church Sunday, the 9th. And instead of speaking to men only Dr. Hurt will speak to "everybody." He will deliver three "great war messages." At 11 a. m. his subject will be, "If Germany Were to Win the World War, What?" At 3:30 p. m. he will have for his subject, "If the Allies Should Win, Then What?" At 7:30 p. m. he will tell of "America at the Council Table of Peace."

If You're Skilled This Way the Army Wants You.

"Aviation section, Signal Corps; 1,000 men wanted for skilled mechanics before December 15. This is a big job but a vitally necessary one. Aero and balloon squadrons must be kept going forward. America must be strong in the air." New recruiting posters assert the above. The local recruiting station is conducting a special campaign in common with all other stations to recruit men for the air service—mechanicians, engine repairmen, etc. Movies are to be shown throughout the Nation. Each day the sergeants here will use gratis space in The Free Press to tell of the army's needs. Here, for instance: "A mechanic—auto mechanic—who has been part of an automobile racing team knows the difficulty of keeping motors tuned up to the highest pitch. Airplane motors, because of their hard usage, require constant attention. If you have had experience in the care and operation of large automobiles—4s, 6s, 8s and 12s—if you can make adjustments and minor repairs you'll answer the need. The man in the air soon learns to appreciate the benefits of a good mechanic on the ground."

YOU!

(By Pauline Werth Hamlin of The Vigilantes)

I cannot help wondering if we are going to be driven to a dreadful realization that we are at war when it is too late.

I do not for an instant doubt that were the Germans actually marching through New England, as they invaded France, we would rise as one man and give of our money to the last penny, of our food to the last crumb and of our strength to the last ounce.

If the American people would only come to the realization that the success of this war depends upon individual service! So many people seem to feel that it does not matter much what they do, so they go on eating sugar, beef and wheat, heedless of the daily appeals for food conservation.

But remember this, that your neighbor may think the same way, and on and on until the outcome will be that the boys "Over There" will be putting up a losing fight because you thought what you might conserve would not amount to anything. This is the time for egotism to rule. You count. Everything you save counts. And you means YOU.
