Twilight Sleep Pictures.

The famous motion pictures illustrating twilight sleep, a German scientific discovery of some years ago, were shown at the Grand Theatre Friday. An audience of women saw the pictures during the afternoon and men at night. Twilight sleep is employed by man surgeons to induce painless childbirth. The pictures were interesting and educational, although many of those who saw them were attracted by something other than the desire to be merely educated and interested, as was to be expected. These got little satisfaction.

The European War

It fills me with pain and with sorrow When I think of the war o'er the sea; 'Cause I know it could have been averted By a bit of advice from me. Now, if the Kaiser, or who is responsible For the wholesale murder of men, Had sipped thru a straw a Chero Cola, This war would never have been. No matter how his system was loaded With chagrin, malice and hate! A few sips of delicious Chero Cola Would have caused his thoughts to abate. It's funny how it does when you drink it, How it gets up under your skin; It kills old malice and hatred, And places on your face a grin. It's the drink that produces good humor, This Chero Cola of which I speak; It cheers up your system with gladness, And makes out of chagrin a sneak. Americans use it in their battles, Their every-day battles of wits; And they say it's very responsible For the good side of the bargain each gets. They've found it the best ammunition, Far better than powder and shot; For these things to make the system are dangerous, But Chero Cola in bottles is not.
