Smith Serves the Red Cross

By T. J. EDMONDS,
Director of Civilian Relief of the Potomac Division.

"Well," said Smith as he walked into my office, "I've wound up all my business interests."
"What for?" I said as I rose to greet the man I had known in my home city years before.
"So I could offer myself if I'm worth having. I've got to get into the game. Anything useful and human. I'm ready for marching orders."
"Worth having?" I echoed. "You've dropped like a God-send. We've got the biggest man-sized job you ever tackled. You're going straight with the Home Service. Something useful and human? Why, in a week this thing will be gripping you so that you'll eat and sleep it!"
The Home Service Section of a big Red Cross chapter was in session. As Smith and I arrived they were discussing the problem of a soldier's wife and six children found living in two tenement rooms in a building that had been condemned because of a leaky roof, mouldy floor and lack of fire protection. They had sold most of their furniture piece by piece for current living expenses. The children had no change of clothing. There was no income and, because of the mother's condition, no possibility of one, except the expected allotment and allowance, which even when it came would not entirely meet the cost of living in the city. The Home Service worker had given a generous sum of money to meet the urgent needs, and now the committee was planning to rent better quarters, move the family, secure medical and nursing attention for the woman, outfit them all with clothing and furniture and keep regularly in touch with the family.
In Smith's next case the Home Service Section and the tuberculosis society had arranged hospital care for a man discharged because of tuberculosis contracted "in the line of duty." Some attorney had told him he would get compensation for him on a fifty-fifty basis, but the lawyer-member of the Home Service Section helped him fill out the proper form which the Red Cross office supplied and assured him that no discharged soldier or soldier's beneficiary should ever pay for col-

DANDRUFFY SCALPS LEAD TO BALDNESS.
If you have dandruff you must get rid of it quick—it's positively dangerous and will surely ruin your hair if you don't.
Dandruff heads mean faded, brittle, gray, scraggly hair that finally lies and falls out—new hair will not grow—then you are bald and nothing can help you.
The only sure way to abolish dandruff for good is to destroy the germ that causes it. To do this quickly, surely and safely and at little expense, there is nothing so effective as Parisian sage, which you can get from J. E. Hood and good druggists everywhere. It is guaranteed to banish dandruff, stop itching scalp and falling hair, and promote a new growth, or the cost, small as it is, will be refunded.
Parisian sage is a scientific preparation that supplies all hair needs—an antiseptic liquid, neither stick or greasy, easy to apply, and delicately perfumed.
If you want beautiful, soft, thick, lustrous hair, and lots of it, by all means use Parisian sage. Don't delay—begin tonight—a little attention now insures abundant hair for years to come. adv.
