LOCAL INTEREST

For North Carolina: Fair tonight and Wednesday. Gentle shifting winds.

Give to Red Cross.
Three hundred and sixty shipyard employes at Morehead City have given a day's wages to the Red Cross. The men get from $2 to $10 a day.

Banks to Close Thursday.
The banks of Kinston will be closed all day Thursday in celebration of the Day of Prayer set aside by President Wilson.

Attends Oil Men's Meeting.
Mr. N. B. Moore has gone to Atlanta to attend the annual convention of the Interstate Oil Mill Superintendents' Association. The convention will be held May 29-31. Mr. Moore is president of the association.

Give to Jewish Relief.
Miss Ethel Greenburg of Durham, Zionist worker, here in the interest of the Palestine restoration movement, says Kinston's Jewish people have doubled their original donation of $200. The Nation's $1,000,000 allotment has been oversubscribed.

Bonds Are Small.
Liberty bonds received at the Farmers & Merchants Bank here are small but attractive. The shortness and narrowness of the bonds detract in no wise from the glory of the cause which they represent and their safety as pledges of the United States of America.

Auction Sale of Property.
Property of the late Mrs. S. C. Parrott was sold at auction at the Court-house Monday, together with some shares of local mill stock. A two-story brick building of the Parrott estate at 113-115 West Blount Street was purchased by R. F. Churchill and B. R. Taylor for $15,400. The site has a frontage of 50 feet.

Registration of German Women.
Chief of Police Skinner calls attention of German alien females "residing here"—there probably is no such critter—to the registration to be conducted in the Nation from 6 a. m. Monday, June 17, to 8 p. m. June 26. Any such person residing here, permanently or temporarily, will be required to register with the chief. Male German aliens were registered some months ago.

Automobile Stolen.
A Ford touring car owned by Mr. J. B. Leonard was stolen from his residence in Northwest Kinston late Monday night. The thief was not identified. The car had not been recovered Tuesday morning. Mr. Leonard had retired. He heard someone start the machine about 11:45 o'clock. The moment the motor started he "came to" with a full realization of what was taking place. It was too late. The car was gone.

Colored Red Cross Subscription.
The colored people have given $237.80 in cash to the county's Red Cross subscription. More is yet to come, including $61.29 in pledges from Institute Township colored people. W. H. Murphy was chairman for the colored people's campaign. County Chairman C. A. Jeffers is winding up the details of the drive in Lenoir. The Southern Division total has climbed to $4,740,642. North Carolina gave $916,683.

Have Taken Them All In.
Unidentified thieves who steal cakes, small change, tobacco, etc., have about completed the round of the North Kinston grocery stores. Sunday night the shops of W. A. Kornegay & Co., North Independence, and Richard Rouse, North McLelean Street, were entered, together with that of J. W. Scott, Queen Street near Gordon. At Kornegay & Co.'s nothing was taken. Small hauls were made at the other places.

Not "at" Kennedy's Mill.
The arrest Sunday of Thad. Tyndall, charged with retailing whisky, did not occur "at" Kennedy's Mill, as stated Monday in The Free Press. While Tyndall lives in the vicinity he does not reside at the mill nor on the Kennedy property, this paper is requested to state. The statement was made in a broad sense, and the intention was to give the approximate locality rather than the exact spot on which Tyndall lives.

Dressed Like a Cannibal.
An unidentified negro at the county jail is violently insane. He was arrested by Policeman John Taylor and Special Officer W. F. Doyett in the vicinity of the Atlantic Coast Line passenger station. Apparently he was about to shed his clothes. He has since done so. Jailer Thomas Conway is worrying over how to induce the unfortunate man to augment the hat and coat which constitute his costume at present. According to the man he wants to go to Kinston, "75 miles from here." This is not very enlightening, especially when he insists that he is from North Carolina and nowhere else.

Free Press' Schedule for Thursday.
The Free Press office will be closed Thursday, May 30, from 10 to 11 o'clock in the morning, in order that the people employed there may attend the services of prayer and thanks in their respective churches. Only one edition of the paper will be printed Thursday and the office will be closed as early as possible in the afternoon in order that as much of the day as can be arranged for may be spent in the spirit of President Wilson's proclamation. The job department will be shut down all day. Advertising patrons are requested to have their Thursday's copy in the office Wednesday afternoon if possible. No changes can be guaranteed after 9 o'clock Thursday morning.

Canning School.
A canning school will be conducted by Miss Adna Edwards, home demonstration agent, in the basement of Gordon Street Christian Church and on an adjoining lot Thursday and Friday. The school will be attended by about 25 canning club members from a number of communities. They will receive instruction in the use of different types of canning outfits, using tin and glass, in exhibit packs, and in keeping records for canning clubs. Miss Edwards explains that all the preparations were made before the President issued his proclamation making Thursday a Day of Prayer. The young women who attend will spend a night in Kinston and will be shown some attentions by the Chamber of Commerce. A public demonstration will be a feature of the school.

The ordinances providing for the installation of sewage closets or properly constructed sanitary privies in every house in the county used as a dwelling.
