RISE ABOVE THEM

When triends deride and try to pull thee down Or foes assail, and ridicule and frown: When serpent hiss essays thy voice to drown. And envy snatches for thy wished for crown. kise above them '

Make sure thine aims and purposes are right Then gird thyself with courage for the tight: Clad in the well-provided mail of honor bright. The victory shall be thine in manhood's might. Rise above them '

Seek not to put them down, but be thine aim. With mild forbearance to awaken shame: Show that you will not eringe to empty house When at the cost of honor or good name. Rise above them

Be not disheartened by man's scornful jest. Measure thyself with him by inward test With noble emulation do your best, By making thyself better, not him less. Rise above him

Above him ! not in petty influence, bought With filthy lucre, by the vain man sought. But in the greater strength of God-like thought By high unselfish aim and purpose taught Rise above them

Thy Heavenly Father's aid and guidance crave To make thyself contained and firm and brave Master of every impulse, free to roar, : 50,000 Where earth's poor fragments vex and harm no 25,000 more. 12,500 Rise above them ! 10,000 ----5,000 ROWING AGAINST THE TIDE 2,500 12,000 It is easy to glide with its ripples 12,500 Adown the stream of time, 16,000 To flow with the course of the river. 15,000 Like music to some old rhyme: 15,000 But ah ! it takes courage and patience 29,500 Against the current to ride; 45,000 And we must have strength from heaven

When rowing against the tide.

Its waters will carry us o'er.

We may float on the river's surface While our oars scarce touch the stream And visions of earthly glory On our dazzling sight may gleam We forget that on before us-The dashing torrents roar: And, while we are idly dreaming

But a few-ah, would there were many Row up the "Stream of Life;" They struggle against its surges, And mind neither toil nor strife Though weary and faint with labor, Singing triumphant they ride

Far on through the hazy distance. Like a mist on distant shore, They see the walls of a city. With its banners floating o'er, Seen through a glass so darkly. They almost mistake their way But faith throws light on their labor, When darkness shuts out their day

For Christ is the hero's captain

und shall we be one of that number, Who mind no toil nor pain? shall we moan the loss of earthly joy-. When we have a crown to gain ! or shall we glide on with the river. With Death at the end of our ride, While our brother with heaven before him Is raming against the tide ?
