MORMONISM IN ENGLAND

Discussed at Pan-Anglican Conference

COMBINE RELIGION AND BUSINESS

English Statesmen Who Were at First Enthusiastic About Patent Law, Fear It Will Bring Retaliation From Commercial Men.

By Cable to The Sun.

London, July 18.—The rapid growth of mormonism in England was one of the subjects for discussion at the recent Pan-Anglican conference and many prominent prelates declared that they were greatly worried by it.

For some years Mormon missionaries have been going about the country and making many converts. There is a large Mormon colony in Acton, a West London suburb, and in the North of London a big Mormon church is being built.

Dr. Spalding the Episcopal bishop of Utah who was at the congress when interviewed about Mormonism said:

"The Mormon church is the only religious organization in the United States which combines in a definite way religion and business. It is not only a church claiming a unique and final revelation from God, but it is also an immigration society. Since those who accept the offer of that church of land and a home in Utah are expected to accept the Mormon faith as well, it is important that the should know what that faith is.

Joseph Smith the prophet of the Mormon church taught that Christianity had ceased to exist on earth by the eighth century and that he was therefore called to restore it. It is therefore held by the latter days saints that there is no valid Christian church save their own."

An enormous triple alliance of coal mines which will probably develop into the greatest coal producing agency in the world is about to be effected.

The Cambrian Collieries Company which recently acquired the extensive properties of the Glamorgan Coal Company is to take over the control of the Guisart Naval Collieries in South Wales.

The combined output of the mines which produce the best quality of Welsh steam coal will 2,750,000 tons a year. They will not be exhausted for sixty years. They already cover 70,000 acres and two new pits are soon to be sunk, which will in three years, give the combine—then the largest producer of coal in the world—directly employ 20,000 men with a weekly pay roll of $100,000. The capital of the mining companies will be nearly eight millions of dollars.

Perhaps the most remarkable case of martyrdom to science is that of Dr. J. Hall-Edwards, of Birmingham, who has just had his remaining hand amputated for the agonizing disease known as X-ray dermatitis.

For six years Dr. Hall-Edwards has suffered tortures getting no sleep except by the use of narcotics. As radiographer to the Birmingham General Hospital he has devoted himself to the X-ray work since its discovery and has persisted in it even after his hands became affected.

In February last his left forearm had to be amputated and now his other hand has just been taken off. All this time he has never relinquished his work and even now he is preparing a book containing his observations on the X-rays and the diseases they cause with a treatise on possible cures. He will also give details regarding inventions of his danger. Unhappily this martyr to science one of the greatest living authorities on radiography, did not invent these safe guards in time to save himself.

English statesmen who were at first very enthusiastic about the new English patent law, which means serious loss to American and German manufacturers are beginning to fear that the law will bring prompt retaliation from these countries and commercial men here are discussing what the effect would be if America which is considered more than likely should pass similar laws of its own.

British subjects holding United States patents will then have to start favorites in the United States, as well as the British law American holding British patents are now compelled to do here.

On the continent there will undoubtedly be much more rigorous enforcement of the patent laws and the manufacture by British firms of goods under foreign patents on foreign soil will no longer be a mere formality.

The ultimate result will be a loss of capital and employment for England, which will balance the loss to foreign manufacturers under the new British law, and the balance is more than apt not to be in favor of England.

The colonial bishops and clergy who have been attending the Pan-Anglican congress have been much shocked at the emptiness of the London churches and they have strongly commented on the fact that the only churches which are filled are the very high churches where the ritual is elaborate and the methods of the clergy eccentric, those in which the sermons are invariably sensational and the Free churches in which politics are openly discussed.

The clergy now go to any length to secure a good congregation. Father Stanton indulges in wild gesticulations in the pulpit and engages a magnificent orchestra, the Rev. C. Carlisle of the church; many relies on phonographs and lantern slides and so on.

PASSED BOGUS CHECKS.

A Sharper Duped a Number of Hotel Men in This State.

By Wire to The Sun.

Greensboro, July 18.—Mr. R. T. Rosemond, chief clerk at the Guilford-Bonbow Hotel, has been notified that the check for $75 which he cashed for one, C. H. Blake on June 30th is worthless and it falls on Mr. Rosemond to pay. Since receiving the notification Mr. Rosemond has learned that Blake stopped at several hotels in North Carolina recently and presented bogus checks which were cashed. From Greensboro he went to Winston-Salem and had a check for $75 cashed at the Zinsendorf Hotel. He also had worthless checks for $75 each cashed at the Central Hotel in Salisbury, and at Hotel Kenyon, in Goldsboro.

Blake arrived at the Guilford-Bonbow on the evening of June 29th and the next morning he asked Mr. Rosemond for his mail and in it he received a letter containing the $75 check and a letter purporting to be signed by B. B. Coles, treasurer of the Utica Fixture Company, of Utica, N. Y., for which concern Blake claimed to be traveling. The letter stated that the check was for expense money.

Blake showed this letter to Mr. Rosemond and by smooth argument convinced him that the check was o. k., and it was cashed. The check was properly endorsed by Mr. Rosemond and it went to Utica, for payment, but the protest papers coming back with it stated that no such firm as the Utica Fixture Company had an account with that bank in Utica.

Since leaving Winston Blake has not been heard from, but the Hotel Men's Association have taken the matter up and an effort is being made to locate him.

He is described as being about 40 or 50 years of age, having dark complexion, grey moustache, wearing heavy eye glasses, weighing 150 pounds, neatly dressed and presenting a pleasing appearance, which readily dispels any suspicion of his being a crook.

CALLS BRYAN A CHAMELEON. He Characterizes the Democracy as a Regenerate.

By Wire to The Sun.

New York, July 18.—A cablegram has been received from William Randolph Hearst in reply to a message transmitted to Mr. Hearst from Samuel Compers, "stating that in view of the democratic stand for labor it would be an act of greatest patriotism for the independence party to endorse the democratic platform," and urging him not to run a third ticket, as it would elect Mr. Taft.

Mr. Hearst's cablegram follows:

"Paris, July 18.—Tell Mr. Compers that I am not authorized to speak for the membership of the Independence League, but according to my personal standards, a purer patriotism consists in laboring to establish a new party which will be consistently devoted to the interest of the citizenship, and particularly to the advantage and advancement of the producing classes. I do not think the path of patriotism lies in supporting a discredited and decadent old party, which has neither conscientious conviction nor honest intention, or in endorsing chameleon candidates who change the color of their political opinion with varying hue of opportunism. I do not think the best benefit of laboring men lies in supporting the old party because of a sop of false promise, when the performance of that party while in power did more to injure labor than all the injunctions ever issued before or since. I have lost faith in the empty professions of an unregenerate democracy. I have lost confidence in the ability, in the sincerity and even in the integrity of its leaders. I do not consider it patriotism to pretend to support that which, as a citizen, I distrust, and detest, and I earnestly hope the independence party will give me an opportunity to vote for candidates that are both able and honest, and for a declaration of principles that is both sound and sincere. (Signed)

"WILLIAM RANDOLPH HEARST."

ALL ROADS TO RAISE RATES

Advance to be 10 to 40 Cents on Hundred

OPERATION ABOUT SEPT. 1ST.

Territory Effected is Controlled by Southern Freight Association and Southeastern Mississippi Valley Association.

By Wire to The Sun.

Louisville, July 18.—All roads operating south of Ohio and east of Mississippi, it is announced today, will raise the freight rates ten to forty cents on the hundred, the advance to become operative in all probability about Sept. 1, as thirty days notice must be given when new tariffs are filed, with interstate commerce commission.

The territory effected is controlled by the Southeastern Freight Association and Southeastern Mississippi Valley Association.

The railroads, however, are confronted with grave danger in making this advance according to the interstate commerce commissioner, Judson Clements, who says the roads can be brought to book under the Sherman law.

James J. Hill, chief owner of the Great Northern and Northern Pacific, is just back from a fishing trip in Canada, and said in New York today:

"The roads must raise the rates or the country will die. He is not in favor of cutting wages, but the railroads of the United States must raise the rates of loose six hundred million dollars a year and that loss would eventually fall on the American people and cause suffering."

TRINITY COLLEGE NOTES.

Special to The Sun.

Trinity College, Durham, July 18.—Prof. A. C. McIntosh, of the department of law of Trinity College, has just closed a contract with the Edwards and Broughton Printing Company, Raleigh, for the printing of a case book on the law of contracts, prepared by Mr. McIntosh for the use of law students. The book will cover the entire subject of contracts with North Carolina cases, and in it will be numerous brief notes giving the substantial differences between the North Carolina law and that of other jurisdictions where such a difference exists in points of sufficient importance to deserve mention. As North Carolina is an old state and our court has always been conservative, and many very able lawyers have been members of it, every point of value can be fully and practically illustrated from our own reports. While the book will not be by any means confined to the North Carolina law of contracts, the student who proposes to practice in North Carolina will have double advantage of knowing the law of contracts in general and a thorough familiarity with the North Carolina authorities. The annotations will also give references to later cases and to leading authorities of other jurisdictions and to text writers, where a more extended discussion of all important points may be found, thus enabling the student to investigate intelligently any point by means of the full law library of the college, and also rendering the book up to date and of practical use in his practice after graduating.

Dr. and Mrs. John C. Kilgo, left this morning for the western part of the state. President Kilgo will return to the college the first of next week, but Mrs. Kilgo will remain some time on a visit to her daughter, Mrs. Kope Elias, Jr., at Governor's Island.
