KENTUCKY FEUD.

Three Persons Killed and Several Injured.

By Wire to The Sun. Frankfort, Ky., Aug. 6.—The bloodiest feudist battle of years occurred at Layman, Horian county, Ky., late yesterday afternoon. Three persons were killed outright and several were seriously wounded.

One of the dead is a woman and one woman was wounded.

The trouble dates back generations between the Blantons and Taylors. The immediate cause of the shooting was a dispute over the school election.

RICHMOND HAS TRADEY

when pursued by Ellyson, who had a revolver and shot gun. When Mrs. Hechler was finally prevailed upon to speak, she inquired somewhat nervously as to whether her husband would recover or not, and asked if he had spoken of the difficulty to the police.

She then protested her undying affection for the man, saying "If you see him, give him my love. Tell him he knows I have always loved him. Tell him I am lying here alone and that I will not eat a mouthful of food until he has returned. Tell him if he dies I will take my life."

According to the police, Sergeant Sowell and Officers Jordan, Andrews, Gerring, Bradley and Bernstein, who have been working on the case and who figured in the arrest, Hechler had been greatly frightened recently by burglars. For this reason he had requested his friend Ellyson to spend the night with him and help guard against the possible invasion of his home.

The men were supposed to be each sleeping in a separate room about 2 o'clock this morning, when Hechler awoke and found his wife had left him. According to what may prove to be Hechler's ante-mortem statement, made to Police Officer Gerring, the husband, upon finding his wife gone, waited several minutes before going in search of her.

He then entered the adjoining bedroom, where he was immediately struck over the head with the butt of a revolver, and was attacked both by Ellyson and his wife. Later he was fired on by the man. Wounded in three places, he then attempted to leave his home, whereupon Ellyson, grabbing a shot gun, followed fast behind him. As Hechler entered the street and staggered off through the darkness, his supposed friend discharged the shot gun full at his back and returned into the Hechler home.

When the police entered the house later, they discovered and took with them both the revolver and shot gun. This seems singular in light of the fact that both Ellyson and Mrs. Hechler gave as their first statement that the wounded man had been shot by a burglar.

According to Mrs. Hechler's statement to a newspaper reported this morning, the first words of Ellyson, upon returning into the house were: "Oh, my God! I believe I have shot Jake." To the police Mrs. Hechler would at first say nothing, while Ellyson stated to Officers Andrews and Gerring, who arrested him, that he had not shot Hechler—that Hechler was shot by a burglar.

According to Officer Gerring, to whom Hechler made his statement, the wounded man said in substance: "Early in the evening they attempted to inveigle me into the yard by firing a pistol. I, however, did not leave my room. I believe had I done so they would have fired upon me and killed me, and that they only wanted this opportunity as an excuse for carrying out their murderous designs. I looked upon Ellyson as a friend until this assault. I now know the man in his true colors as a would be assassin and home wrecker."

"Last night I was not only assaulted by a false friend, but by my own wife in my own home."

When informed by Officer Gerring that his wife had said that Ellyson did not shoot him (Hechler), he replied: "Did she say that? Then I will tell the whole story just as it happened and let it all be known. When I left my room in search of Mrs. Hechler I found her closeted with Ellyson. To my certain knowledge they had been together at least five minutes. It was now after 2 o'clock in the morning. When I opened the door they both assaulted me. The officers of the law and the public can draw their inferences."

WAR DISPATCH CAR

From Raleigh to Camp Glenn Reached New Bern at 10:30 and Left at 2 p. m.

The war dispatch automobile, that left Raleigh at 5 o'clock Wednesday morning in charge of Mr. John Parks and his chauffeur, Mr. Thos. Harris, bearing an important message from Governor R. B. Glenn, commander in chief of the North Carolina National Guard, to Brigade General J. F. Armfield, at Camp Glenn, near Morehead, where the Third Regiment is in camp for ten days, arrived in New Bern this morning at 10:20 o'clock from Dover. The car left there this morning at 9 o'clock, making the run of 23 miles in one hour and twenty-eight minutes. The dispatchers say some parts of the roads were very heavy and muddy, obstacles on the route were met by the messengers, but were overcome with ease. The 15 horse-power Ford Roadster, showed up in splendid form on reaching the city, not a tool having had to be used in making repairs on the machine during this run down to New Bern, as none have been needed. The car is painted red and was flying the United States flag, the State flag having been torn away while coming through a narrow road, which was almost blocked with heavy undergrowth of bushes. They traveled through mud holes and water up to the axle of the machine, caused by washouts. These small obstacles delayed the messengers some, but when the struck good roads fast time was made. Messrs Park and Harris said at all places on the route favors were generously shown them by the big hearted folks which they highly appreciated. After the autoists partook bountifully of a sumptuous spread at the Gaston Hotel, they boarded the car and speeded on to Camp Glenn with the message from the Commander in Chief to General Armfield.

Pamlico Potatoes

The schooner Fannie Brevard, the well known sweet potato boat, mastered by Capt. N. B. Lee, arrived from Gatlins' Creek this morning and unloaded 50 barrels of potatoes, the variety is known by the name of Yellow Bark. They were transferred to the Norfolk and Southern warehouse, and will be shipped to the northern market, where there is always a demand for this grade of potatoes. The captain also had on board 100 bushels of yams for the local market, which he is disposing of at the market dock, and is receiving the neat little sum of $1.00 per bushel for the desirable "red yam tubers."
