Newport News Trolley May Charge More on Certain Conditions

If it can be shown, however, at any time that the figures produced by the petitioners to sustain their request are incorrect, and old fare is to be restored.

BYRD TO CONDUCT HIS CASE

Claims That President Barringer Was Anxious to Have Him Removed—Declares He Was Thrown Out Without Reason and Violation of Rules.

By Wire to The Sun.

Blacksburg, Va., Aug. 20.—Declaring that he has been arbitrarily dismissed from the faculty without cause and without even the semblance of a hearing, as provided in the regulations, Dr. Walter J. Quick, chief of the bureau of animal husbandry and dean of that department at the Virginia Polytechnic Institute, at Blacksburg, has appealed to the board of visitors, and has engaged Hon. Richard Evelyn Bryd to prosecute his case.

The board will meet on Friday night, and from what can be gathered there will be a prompt adjustment of the trouble or the first developments in one of the most sensational fights that has affected a public institution in Virginia for many years.

Dr. Quick, according to Mr. Bryd, was induced to come here from Indiana about a year ago and to accept a position at the head of the animal bureau of the Virginia Polytechnic Institute. Dr. Quick brought with him the very best recommendations that could be desired.

Rules Demand Recorded Vote
The rules of the board regarding the dismissal of an officer call for a recorded vote, and that at least two-thirds of the members shall be recorded in the affirmative before any final action can be legally and properly had.

It is alleged by Dr. Quick in his bill of complaint, that there was no recorded vote, and that no reasons have been assigned for his sudden and summary discharge. For all these alleged misdeeds on the part of the board, Dr. Quick is through his counsel, asking for a rehearing, and it appears as if the matter will develop into a spectacular one before it is over.

It is understood, though not stated by Dr. Quick or his counsel, that Dr. R. B. Barringer, the new president of the Virginia Polytechnic Institute, was interested in the removal of Dr. Quick and certain other officers who were called upon to "walk the plank" at the same time, and the president will in all probability be one of the principal witnesses in the case. According to present indications, there may be other serious developments which may prove of great interest to the public, and at the same time seriously affect the institution.

Dr. Quick's claim in a nutshell is that he was dismissed with no charges facing him, and without any semblance of hearing.

The members of the board who will finally hear the case of Dr. Quick are: J. C. Carrington (rector), Charlotte; R. J. Noel, Radford; L. D. Kline, Vaucluse; L. E. Johnson, Roanoke; G. G. Kizer, Norfolk; J. S. Musgrave, Southampton; H. M. Smith, Richmond; P. F. St. Clair, Pulaski; Joseph D. Eggleston, Prince Edward, and John W. Churchman, Augusta.

A Former Investigation
The Virginia Polytechnic Institute went through the fires of investigation concerning its management about two years ago, just before Dr. McBryde voluntarily retired, and the legislative committee having the matter under advisement gave the institution a clean bill of health. Ever since the recent change of management there have been mutterings of discontent and unrest, and it is believed that the coming inquiry will go a long way toward bringing about some amicable settlement.

The investigation will begin on Friday, and will probably last for several days.

ARM AMPUTATED

In Church Yard and Buried in Grave Yard

Hanover Court House, Va., Aug. 20. Historic interest has been revived in the famous old Walnut Grove Church, in Hanover county, through the re-ignation of the Rev. Charles H. Ryland, D. D., for many years the pastor. In discussing the incident yesterday, Rev. R. H. Pitt, D. D., editor of the Religious Herald, recalled the fact that the church was used as a field hospital during the battles around Richmond.

"In the later 70s, while a student at Richmond College and pastor of Walnut Grove," said Dr. Pitt, "I took out with me Dr. J. L. M. Curry, who was to preach for us. We arrived at the church just as the Sunday school was adjourning, and wandered around under the glorious trees for a few moments.

"Presently I observed in a clump of bushes a piece of garden paling, standing upright, with something rudely carved upon it. Pulling it up for closer inspection, I found the name of a soldier, his rank, his company, and regiment. I recall that he was a lieutenant, and was from Mississippi; a date, and then these strangely touching words that told the whole story:

'His Right Arm'
"Some gallant fellow had lost his arm; it had been amputated in the old church; some comrade had buried it, and had marked its place of sepulture in this simple fashion. More than fifteen years afterwards we had stumbled upon it. I made full memorandum of the inscription and replaced the simple monument.
Refused Anaesthetic
"I am not anxious to put any strain on my reputation for veracity, but I must complete my little story. I came to Richmond to be pastor of the Venable Street Church in 1880. A year or so afterwards I was one day talking with the late beloved physician, Dr. John Jackson, who had served as surgeon in the army, and told him of the incident, showing him the full memorandum which I then had. He quickly said: I remember him. I performed the operation. I recall him distinctly because he refused to take any anaesthetic."

Don't forget, that we have a large supply of lawn hose, any length. Attractive prices. J. S. Basnight Hardware Company.
