ocated the men in a barn three miles from the jail. A battle with revolvers followed, but the guartet eluded the officers in the darkness.

At Moundsville two foreigners escaped from the jail. In some manner they had obtained possession of seven keys, which were necessary for the opening of seven doors leading to the exterior.

At Charleston, for the sixth time within a year, two men sawed their way to freedom.

One of the men, under sentence on a murder conviction, was later recaptured, and the other prisoner is being trailed with bloodhounds.
