Giving a Luncheon.

An important point to remember always in entertaining is that it is not nearly as important to serve many courses or much in each course as to serve everything very prettily and take infinite pains in the garnishing of the different dishes and the way that they are passed and served.

Here is a suitable menu: Grapefruit cut in halves, the fruit scooped out carefully, the tough membrane and seeds removed and the fruit flavored with lemon juice and powdered sugar and a little maraschino. If you wish, and put back into the halves with a few candied cherries used for decoration on top of each half. This course should be ice cold, and each half should rest on a plate with a dolly and be eaten with an orange spoon or teaspoon.

For a second course have bouillon in cups, but do not have crotons; they are not en regie at a luncheon. It would be superfluous to have the orange juice, oysters and bouillon. Orange juice by itself would be rather an unusual course, and it would not be advisable, and oysters on the half shell are seldom seen now at a luncheon.
The grapefruit will not cost any more than the other two courses and is exactly the thing for the first course.

Creamed salmon in ramekins served individually will be correct for the fish and third course, and brown bread sandwiches, the bread cut very thin and the sandwiches in fancy shapes, will be a good addition.

Halves of broiled chicken served on toast with currant jelly, potato croquettes and green peas or French string beans will be all right for the substantial course, but it would not do at all to have chops afterward.

Omit that course altogether; the birds are enough for the meat course.

Roman punch may come after the birds, served individually in punch glasses or ice molds. Waldorf salad served in apples, with cream cheese, heated crackers and bar-le-duc jelly will make a good salad course. Do not pass olives with it. If they are served they should be a separate course, coming between the bouillon and fish. They should be passed with radishes, celery stalks and salted nuts.

Strawberry shortcake would be a better dessert than ice cream, or you might serve a frozen pudding with a sauce if you prefer it to strawberry shortcake. As a final course have bou-bons and fruit and serve coffee in demitasses in the parlor after luncheon.

Chocolate passed in cups with whipped cream on top would be correct if it is liked. The chocolate cups and saucers should be removed when the table is cleared for dessert. If an additional course is desired have between the fish and fowl fried sweet-breads with green peas and have some other vegetable with the birds.

The oyster fork may be put on the oyster plate or at the left of the cover at the head of the other forks, put a little slanting, or laid regularly by the forks. The knives are always put on the right of the cover. With the menu given above you will need only one knife for the birds and a small silver knife for the salad course, for the cheese and bar-le-duc. Have the table prettily decorated with spring flowers and boubons and decorations to match.

Loxter Novelties.

The hostess who is tired of plain lobster salad, lobster farci or lobster Newburg will find a pleasant change in lobster cocktail as a first course, in fried lobster for a fish course and in creamed lobster on toast as main dish for a family lunch as well as a fish course.

For the cocktail cut the meat of boiled lobster into good sized pieces—about half the size of an oyster—and serve in a sauce made of a tablespoonful each of Worcestershire sauce, tomato ketchup and lemon juice, flavored highly with cayenne, a drop or two of tabasco, salt and a teaspoonful of fresh grated horseradish.

Mix the lobster in this sauce and let it stand on the ice until well chilled.
Serve in glasses like the oyster cocktail. Instead of the ketchup a pleasant change is made by using chili sauce or Oscar sauce in the dressing.

Cut as big and shapely pieces as you can get for the fried lobster, which is first boiled. Dip in eggs and breadcrumbs, fry in boiling fat just before serving and drain on brown paper.
Serve with a hollandaise sauce, to which are added chopped olives and a little onion juice, or with a sauce tar-tare mixed with fresh peas.

Do not boil lobster that is to be served on toast and marinate in a little lemon juice for a few minutes. In the meantime make a rich cream dressing or white sauce, highly seasoned with cayenne and a few drops of onion.
Add the lobster to the hot sauce. Let it simmer only for five minutes and serve at once on hot buttered toast.

Celery Toast.

Cream a tablespoonful of butter, one of flour and one-half teaspoonful salt and add three eggs of milk. Cook until it thickens and then add one-half cupful of chopped celery which has been cooked until tender. Pour over slices of buttered toast and serve

"Supper Ready"

When you get back to camp, tired and hungry, you do not want to spend the evening getting supper ready. You want a stove you can start up in a minute—that will cook quickly and well.

For camp, houseboat or bungalow, a New Perfection Oil Cook-stove is the ideal cooking device. It is ready for use in a moment. It saves all the trouble of cutting wood and getting in coal. It does not overheat or make dirt in a kitchen; there are no ashes nor smoke.
It requires less attention and cooks better than any other range.
