Adjutant Cole, the dispatches say, has had a conference with Major General Wood. We presume it was a heated interview.

Lord Northcliff's greatest paper, the London Daily Mail, solemnly charges Americans to weigh most carefully the war evidence. As England is furnishing all of it, there seems to be no reason for the injunction.

The Charlotte Observer informs an anxious world that a fire in that city left the Charlotte navy yard unharmed. This reminds us of a solution of the problem of what to do with the Charlotte navy yard. Let them offer it for the use of the Swiss navy. We take it upon ourselves to say that our government won't object.

Mr. Hearst proposes a peace commission to be made up of Theodore Roosevelt, William H. Taft, and Woodrow Wilson. Before we endorse such a commission, we must respectfully inquire in the name of peace whether President Wilson will pledge himself always to sit between his two fellow-members at the sessions.

A new weekly has been launched in Atlanta called The Atlanta Saturday Night. That is some peach of a name. It beats Saturday Blade, Grit, and Sunday American all to pieces. The name is fraught with deep and portentous meaning. Shriilled by newboys it will suggest all sorts of things—murder mysteries for instance.

Rudyard Kipling is writing a series of magazine articles on Egypt. He intimates rather strongly in touching on the religious phase that the ancient Egyptian worship of animals directly was nobler than the modern worship of the bestial indirectly in our worship of Humanity with a capital H. Recent stories of atrocities in civilized Europe do suggest the thought that those who proudly boast that Humanity is their God might find something better to venerate.

England has for many years saved Turkey from being divided up among the powers, and it is not surprising that the Turks should have calmed down upon receipt of a message from Great Britain intimating that they were in danger of losing their independence as a nation. It now only remains for Ambassador A. Rustem Bey in Washington to remember that it is mighty near Thanksgiving, which is considered an excellent gobbling-up season in respect to certain haughty old strutters.

It has become known that local business interests through the Chamber of Commerce are endeavoring to keep the Coast Line from discontinuing one of the trains between here and Wilmington. It is to be hoped that the road doesn't take this step, as it would inconvenience residents of Pollocksville, Jacksonville, and other intermediate points, and discourage them from shopping in New Bern. A resident of these towns with only one train a day to and from New Bern might have to take his choice between either completing his business in a few hours in the morning or else arranging to stay in New Bern probably longer than was convenient. We understand that the A. C. L. officials when approached on the matter did not deny that they had the discontinuance under consideration. They have postponed their decision, however, so let us hope.

GERMANS HAVE GIVEN UP LEIGE

right wing of our western army extends today to the eastern armies in the neighborhood of Verdun.

"Until now the Germans have been partly successful in some parts of the extended battlefield. A general battle is still continuing.

"In the western war theatre the army of General Hindenburg is reforming after the conclusion of his pursuit. Rumors that Upper Silesia is about to be threatened with danger are unfounded."

LONDON, Sept. 16.—The Morning Post's Petrograd correspondent says:

"The First German army, although stiffened by several divisions, virtually has ceased to exist. The Germans are retreating like a panic-stricken mob. The Russians have crossed the lower reaches of the river San, without opposition.

"With the Russians already south of the San river, the significance of Przemyśl and the other strongholds of the district has been heavily discounted. These fortresses were intended to cover the great triangle between the Vistula and San rivers and the Carpathian mountains. They have proved useless for that purpose and the question is now whether the demoralized armies can even reach safety at Cracow. Other refuge there is none. The situation looks almost as bad for the eastern as for the western armies of the Germanic allies."

ROME, Sept. 16.—The Giornale Italia publishes a Petrograd dispatch saying the attention of the Russian press is centered on the attitude of the Italian government. In Russian political circles, the newspaper says, Italy's intervention is considered inevitable. According to one belief the Italian government is awaiting only the resignation of Foreign Minister San Giuliano, a partisan of the Triple Alliance.

BERLIN, Sept. 16.—It was officially announced in Berlin that General Von Hindenburg had telegraphed Emperor William that the Russian army of Vilna, composed of the Second, Third, Fourth and Twentieth army corps, two reserve divisions and five divisions of cavalry, have been completely defeated by the Germans. The Russian casualties were heavy.

Portland, Maine, Sept. 16.—Unofficial returns from Monday's State election, covering all but a few small towns, gives Oakley C. Curtis, Democratic candidate for Governor, a lead of 3,300 over Gov. William T. Haines, his Republican opponent.

Complete unofficial returns for the State legislature show that the Republicans will have a majority of three in the Senate and the Democrats a majority of five in the lower branch and two on joint ballot.

MAKE LAW REDUCE COTTON ACREAGE

Georgia Expected to Enact Such a Law—How It Can Be Done.

Many New Bern business men who have studied the cotton situation believe that the only way in which this year's surplus crop can be disposed of without loss to the farmers is by storage and by legally curtailing next year's crop.

Some have expressed doubt that the crop could effectively be curtailed by law, but others are positive that this can be done. One plan proposed is that of taxation.

Below is given a law as proposed for the Georgia Legislature. A copy of it was sent to Clerk of Superior Court W. B. Flanner by the Georgia Cotton Congress. It is of interest owing to the demand in North Carolina that Governor Craig call a special session of the Legislature to deal with the situation.

Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Georgia, and it is hereby enacted by authority of the same That from and after the passage of this act, and during the year of 1915, it shall be unlawful for anyone to grow cotton in this state unless he first obtain from the Ordinary of the county of which he is a resident, a license to grow cotton. The Ordinary shall receive a fee of ten cents for each license issued, to be paid by the applicant. The license shall certify the number of live stock he will use in plowing said cotton, and his license shall permit him to grow three 500-lb. bales per head of live stock actually used in cultivating said cotton. He shall upon harvesting his cotton make oath before his ginmer, who shall qualify as a notary, as to how many 500-lb. bales per plow he actually produced, and for each 500-lb. bale in excess of 3 to the plow he shall pay a special license of 5 cents per pound. He must exhibit his license to his ginmer upon having any cotton ginned. The ginmer shall record on the back of said license the date and number of bales ginned.

Each ginmer shall obtain from the Ordinary of his county a license for 1915 to gin cotton. He shall provide himself with a standard form book to be furnished to the Ordinary by the State Agricultural Department, in which to keep accurate record of cotton ginned. His license shall cost him $1.00, and the form book shall cost him $1.00.

Be it further enacted, That the ginmer shall collect this license tax of 5 cents per pound, receiving for his service 1-4 cent per pound, remitting the balance to the Ordinary of his county, who shall receive 1-4 cent per pound as his compensation and remit the remainder to his county treasurer for the use of that county on its schools and roads.

Be it further enacted, That anyone planting cotton in this State before obtaining license and making report afterward to ginners as above provided shall upon conviction be punished as for a misdemeanor.

Be it further enacted, That the Attorney General and Secretary of Agriculture of this State shall prepare the necessary forms and oaths to make this law effective.

Be it further enacted, That this law shall not become effective until a similar law shall have been enacted by South Carolina, North Carolina, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Tennessee, Louisiana, Oklahoma and Texas.
