Mr. Maduary was enthusiastic over the limbless cotton. He said that it was the finest crop of cotton he had ever seen. He said that rome of the cotton was so tall that it would hardly be reached with an umbrelia. The plant is thickly studded all the way up with large bolls, and the lowest estimate is that the six scresswill yield four bales to the acre.

The weather official will make a very full report on the condition and the prospects of the cotton, and will enter will then be in a position to not as it may consider proper.

That the government officials are evineing considerable interest in the remarkable cotton is not a surprise. It is an entirely new variety of cotton, and is the best species that has been grown in this country. The government will probably buy up large quantities of the ced and distribute them among the agicultural classes, so as to insure a wide estribution and a spread of the new variety.

The seed retail at $200 per bushel, and the present owners of the six acres at Jackson's farm have been offered $25,000 for the product of the field. The cotton does not have a limb on the stalk, and has many advantages not possessed by other varieties.

Mr. Marbury will file his resort in a few days, and the government will probably take early aston in order to secure the seed that is new being grown.
