Miss Lucy Simmons, daughter of Mr. P. F. She spent a month recently at the old veteran's home securing the facts from his lips for the book. He is now about 76 years of age.

Go to Howenstein's Photo Gallery to have your pictures taken—Neal building, up stairs. Synopsis of Sunday's sermons. At the Methodist church the text was from Psalm cxix, 18—"Open thou mine eyes, that I may behold wondrous things out of thy law." It was shown that the text contained three propositions by implication: (1) That there are wondrous things contained in the Law of God. (2) That these can not be discerned without the divine opening of the spirit in regeneration. (3) That with the divine opening wondrous things are discerned in the Law of God, that are always there but unseen by the unregenerated.

At the Episcopal church the text was "By the grace of God I am what I am." From the relationship of man to the God who made him, and considering human weakness on the one hand and God's almightiness on the other, we might naturally conclude that the all-loving God would help men in their struggle towards a higher life. The facts of life are an assurance that God does so help men. St. Paul realized the truth in himself. His experience and investigation asserted the necessity of divine grace or help of God's power to assist men. St. Paul knew what he had become under the influence of the Holy Spirit—the bond servant of Christ. The divine gifts are "Love, joy, peace, long-suffering, goodness, gentleness, meekness, truth." When these are found, there too we find the transforming spirit of the eternal, all-loving God.
