Confederate Veterans' Camp.

During the session of the Legislature there will be a meeting of Confederate veterans from all sections of North Carolina held in Raleigh for the purpose of organizing a State Confederate Veterans' Association, or other organi-zation. This society or association or union, or whatever it may be termed, will look after the interests of the old soldiers gonerally, ask for such legis lation as they deserve and require, and see that they get it as they should, etc. There will be considerable other work for it to do, also.

The Colored Vote.

Directly after the election some peo ple made the charge that negroes had not been allowed to vote in this State. But the official returns disprove this, as more votes were polled this year than ever before, even in a presidentral election. The vote exceeded that of 1800, when no intimidation was al leged. The increase of the Democratic vote is phenomenal. The high-water mark heretofore was in 1888, when Governor Fowle received 147,000 votes or thereabouts. This year the Demo-cratic vote was 177,000.

Candidate for Clerkship.
