—We learn from the Bakersville Enterprise that a bloody row occurred at a grocery of Miss Tipton in Bakersville, Vance county, a few days ago, in which three Patterson brothers, Mann Garland and Nelson Adkins all made a part. Knives, pistols and rocks were freely used. It is said Tipton had died from a wound inflicted by Garland and Wiley Tipton's son was fractured by a rock thrown by his brother Moses.

—At announced elsewhere where the municipal election will take place on Monday, May 7th. Mr. James Morris is an excellent option, there will probably not be any opposition to him. He has announced himself a candidate. We have no heard of any candidates for aldermen, but it is believed the old board will be re-elected, as everybody seems to be satisfied.

—A competitive examination will be held in the court house in Asheville on May 15th and 16th for the purpose of selecting a Notary Public at Ashtopolis. The applicants must be between the ages of 15 and 25 years. Dr. W. D. Hubbard, Chas. A. Webb and R. L. Madison will constitute the board.

SENATOR VANCE.

It is with sadness we announce the death of the greatest North Carolinian, Zebulon B. Vance. He was the faithful, fearless and honest champion of people's rights, and for more than 30 years one of the most prominent leaders of the Democratic party in this State. His place in the hearts of our people cannot be filled, and his position as our representative in the Senate will be hard to fill.

The remains of Senator Vance were interred at Asheville on Wednesday. Many business houses, and public buildings were draped in mourning, and thousands of people attended the funeral.

Married.

The home of Mr. G. G. Eaves, near town, was the scene of a quiet and beautiful wedding on last Tuesday at 3 o'clock p. m. The contracting parties were Mr. J. W. Streetman and Miss Daisy M. Eaves, both of this place.

A large circle of invited friends had assembled in the parlor and just as the clock struck three the groom with the bride leaning upon his arm entered the parlor, among the beautiful and impressive ceremony was solemnized by the Rev. T. J. Rogers, pastor of the M. E. Church. Both the bride and bridegroom made the usual response in clear and audible voices.

The bride was dressed in a beautiful steel grey suit and looked charming beyond expression.

The bride is the daughter of our affable townman, Mr. G. G. Eaves. She is most highly esteemed for all the traits and accomplishments of lovely womanhood. The face is remarkable for its beauty of feature and for a brilliant expression which makes the ideal start when one looks upon her. She has beautiful eyes, soft and soulfully luminous, capable of expressing every sentiment of their beautiful possessor. An exquisite refinement, delicacy and gentleness is betrayed in her every movement. She is eminently possessed of that rare loveliness of disposition which makes womanhood a charm to society and a blessing to all mankind.

The groom is one of Marion's most popular, enterprising and energetic business young men and stands high in his profession as a druggist.

After receiving the congratulations of their many friends the bridal party drove to town and at 8 o'clock a beautiful, sumptuous reception was given the bride by her Aunt, Mrs. James Morris, at residence on Morgan street, here the beauty and civility of Marion assembled. Supper was announced at 9:30 o'clock and the guests repaired to the dining room to refresh the luncheon, where one beheld a most beautiful table, laden with the most delicious viands, such that would tempt the appetite of the most fastidious epicure.

The table and dining room were beautifully and artistically arranged, showing the superb taste of the charming hostess.

Supper being over the guests returned to the parlor, where they engaged in pleasant social converse until the hour of parting came.

The happy pair have the best wishes of a host of admiring friends, for a long and supremely blissful wedded life. May the misty shien of happiness ever enshroud them and obscure from them all else but things most conducive to happiness and as some rain in each life must fall may there only be enough clouds in theirs to make their sunset more glorious.

The array of bridal presents were many, handsome and attractive.

The groom extends to the happy couple his warmest congratulations, wishing them a life as bright as the day upon which they pledged their troth.

HONORABLE CRIME.

A Wife and Child are Killed in Vance County by a Brutal In-law.

Bakersville Enterprise of April 14th.

Tenage Carver's beyond any doubt, one of the most brutal and fiendish murders in the civilized world. His atrocities and blood curdling deeds are as brutal as can be imagined. About five months ago he and his wife were living at Paint Gap, Vance county. His little child, who was about two months old appeared to be sick and began to cry. Carver, the brute, seized the helpless infant and dealt it a blow on the head which caused its death. He then started to bury the child all alone. As he passed by the house of some neighbors they persuaded him to let them dress the corpse. To this he agreed and they discovered that the skull of the child was broken and that the bones of its arms were fractured. In a few days after the birth of the child he indulged in brutal conduct towards his wife. The attending physician, Dr. English warned the husband against such a course. He still persisted and the result was that the poor woman whom he had vowed to love and cherish, was carried to an untimely grave. By the brutal action of this man his wife and child were both vitally murdered.

Carver married Miss Tiney Smith of this county. He is still at large in crass, Creek, and others are after him. His wife while on her death bed related the above tragic story to her mother.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

Hon. W. T. Crawford Secures $30,000 Additional Appropriation for Mail Service at Small Country Offices.

Hon. Richmond Pearson and Opinion in Washington City of his Letter, Declaring Himself a Candidate for Congress.

Special Cor. Marion Record.

The Democratic Congressman of the 9th district won quite a victory in the House of Representatives on the 6th inst. The Post-office Department appropriation bill was under discussion, and Mr. Crawford offered an amendment, which prevailed, diverting $30,000 of the $6,000,000 appropriated for star route service, to aid people, who are to be benefitted by new or "special" offices, in establishing regular star routes, thus enabling persons in remote sections to secure mail facilities.

The basis of the pay of a "special mail carrier," or a carrier at a "special office," by which the Department means an office not on a regular star route, has always been unfair and unreasonable. It is determined by the stamps cancelled at the office which the carrier serves, he receiving as compensation two-thirds of the cancellation. The absurdity of such a system will appear upon the statement of an illustration. Suppose A carries mail to an office named Anacostia, and B is carrier to Alexandria, a "special office." Suppose the distance is the same to each office and the roads equally good or bad, and that stamps cancelled at Anacostia, during a quarter, amount to $15.00, while cancellations at Alexandria amount, for the same quarter, to $75.00. Though the work done be the same, one would get $10.00 while the other got $25.00, under the present law.

Mr. Crawford not only seeks to cure this manifest injustice, but his amendment gives more money to small offices, in sparsely settled communities, so that the Department can maintain those routes established, and establish others, rather than abolish any offices. This is not only to the interest of country people, who live remotely from towns, or from a regular star route office, but is an advantage to any business man starting any enterprise in the country, but who does not want to go from 3 to 6 miles for his mail.

This only shows, what a prominent lawyer told me not long ago, that Mr. Crawford is a wide-awake and industrious man, and is always looking out for the interests of the plain and poor people, who put him where he is, and whose servant he is.

Different opinions prevail here as to Mr. Pearson's proposed candidacy for Congress. Many Democrats think Mr. Crawford will be able to defeat him more easily than he could beat a regular moss-back republican, like Jim Moody, Pritchard or Ewart, for the reason, that they could at least poll the full Republican strength, while Mr. Pearson can get the vote of neither Democrats, Populists or Republicans, on the platform laid down by him, in the Asheville Citizen, because he is too flirtatious with all parties, and so "independent" (such styles himself) that he is not in line with or on the platform of any of them.

In National politics he is for:

1. Protection.
2. The restoration of silver—whatever he means by that.
3. An Income Tax.

In State politics he is (as he expresses it):

1. Honest Elections.
2. An effective system of County Government.

For a Southern man, who was elected as a Democrat from Buncombe county to the Legislature (where "honest elections" for "honest persons") to declare for a protective tariff, for protection of the sake, when thousands of Republicans, even, are abandoning such a principle and policy, is surprising.

The South, with her river of three hundred millions of dollars of gold, flowing from her cotton fields every year, ought to have been and would today be the richest section on earth, if it had not been for a protective tariff, which has given immunities bound to New England and Eastern Manufacturers, who have piled up fortunes beyond the dreams of ancient avices, while leaving the farmer, and his raw products to take care of themselves, after the farmer is forced, by law, to sell in the cheapest market and buy in the high markets of the world! Mr. Pearson wants the South to have more of this. God save the mark!

The County Government question is res judicata, and that by the will of the majority of North Carolina voters. We, the Democrats, have fought this battle with the Republican party in North Carolina three or four times, and have whipped them each time, until our last majority was 40,000!

FROM OUR EXCHANGES.

Brief News Notes From Various Points in the United States.

F. S. Kearse, of Augusta, Ga., was in love. His girl went back on him. He compromised the matter, not with a breach of promise suit, but used a small pocket knife, cutting his throat, from which injury he died. In the meantime the girl had changed her mind, and wrote him a letter that she would marry him. The letter arrived just after he died. Her heart was broken and his throat was cut. They will never meet again unless it be on the other shore.

Among the last words spoken by Senator Vance were the following: "Democracy is immortal!" "The word Democrat stands for human liberty and human freedom, and cannot die!"

Win. Meyers, a blockader of Yadin county, was shot last Friday while trying to escape, by Deputy Marshal Foard, of Winston. Meyers is reported dead. Foard says he shot to frighten the man, and did not intend to kill him.

Speculation is rife as to who Governor Carr will appoint to succeed Senator Vance in the United States Senate. Judge Avery, ex-Governor Jarvis, Congressman Henderson and others are spoken of. The appointment will be made in a few days.

Old Fort News.

That estimable gentleman, Dr. J. T. Reid, we are sorry to learn has been quite sick for a week past. We join his numerous friends here in wishing him a speedy recovery.

We were glad to note very good attendance at the Episcopal Church on Tuesday morning and evening; the Rev. G. W. Phelps presides in a marked degree the happy faculty of presenting Gospel truths clearly and forcibly and his discourses were listened to with much attention.

The concert for the benefit of the Methodist Parsonage afforded an evening of great enjoyment to a large crowd, and was a decided success, both in exhibition of talent and in a pecuniary way. We learn that the proceeds were about $18.

Mr. J. B. Burgin has sold a fine lot of hams to the Redwood Inn, at Asheville, at very good prices. If it were not for the fact, does this might be a lucrative business. Can we get a man to run for his coming legislature, pledged to a Dog Law? It is said that it had not been for the ravages of a lot of worthless rammers, Mr. Burgin might have had four times as many hams for a market that pays cash, but we fear that the dogs are stronger in the affections of a class of our people than even the love for money.

Mr. N. H. Mullenberg left on Sunday for his home in Reading, Pa. where he goes to fill a lucrative position.

Mr. W. H. Wetmore is in town on a visit for a few days. He is now engaged in teaching bookkeeping at Thomasville, where he has a large class. He is probably one of the most proficient teachers in the state, being a graduate of Eastman Business College.

Frank Sumner, Esq., a leading merchant of Asheville, was in town this week. Sorry to see him suffering from rheumatism.

Those progressive and wide awake farmers, Messrs. R. H. Moore and Lee Crawford, have each received lately a cill of fine blood from Tennessee.

The death of Senator Vance, the almost worshipped son of North Carolina, while not entirely unexpected is a severe shock to our people, and all, irrespective of party belief, are filled with heartfelt regret that he is taken. 'Twill take a pen of far more ability than that of mine to express the depth of feeling which this sad blow calls these sentiments, from the "New Berne Journal," written just before his death: "Turn the pages of North Carolina history and the brightest and most glorious are those illuminated by his heroic acts and splendid achievements. It is no disparagement of any other North Carolinian to speak well of Vance. Whoever may be second in the hearts of his countrymen Vance must be first. He is heroic enough for any other man to be considered as a rival of Vance in independence of action, devotion to principle, purity of purpose, and in faultless and unyielding love of the Old North state."

SIDNEY.

A Question of Law.

Sometime ago a well-known colored lady of this place named Sina Greenlee had a claim of five dollars against a colored man named Jerry Garden. Sina told Jerry that she had to have something to show for it, and Jerry gave her his note, which read as follows: "This is to certify that I, the said Jerry, are in debt to the said Sina for five dollars to be paid by Sept. 1st, but on this consideration, that if I, the said Jerry, fails to pay the said Sina the said five dollars on Sept. 1st, then the said Sina is to pay me the said Jerry five dollars."

Yours truly,
JERRY GARDEN.

When the said Sina tried to collect the said note after the first of September, Jerry made the point that the amount of five dollars was due him, and the case will go to the Supreme Court, our local tribunals of justice being unable to settle it.

COMMUNICATIONS.

Mr. Editor—Please give me space in your valuable paper to express my appreciation of the faithful and efficient work done by the good women of our church. For the past few days the members of the Ladies Aid Society have been very much interested in preparing a pleasant home for the pastor; all has been done that an active brain, kind hands and loving hearts could do, and now we are very pleasantly domiciled. We are profoundly grateful for all that has been done, and pray that God's best blessing may be abundant in the homes and kind hearts of the dear good women that have done so much to make us happy. May they be spared long to work for the Master and make glad the heart and bright and pleasant the home of their pastor.
