Public Sentiment a Coward.

The Observer says Miss Ethel Sossaman has the honor of donning the first bloomers seen in Charlotte, and that instead of being laughed at was complimented.

Public sentiment is a coward. The time has been when such conduct would not have been tolerated in Charlotte or any other place.

As to be hated needs but to be seen. But seen too oft, familiar with her face.

So it is with the bloomer costume. It is a monster of so frightful a men as to be hated needs but to be seen.

At one time Madam Bloomer, the inventor of the outlandish costume and advocate of "dress reform" and her followers, were so unpopular as to be excluded from respectable society.

Cotton brought nine cents in Charlotte Tuesday of last week for the first time, it is said, since 1891.

Capt S. A. Ashe is to begin the publication of a weekly Democratic paper in Raleigh to be called the State.

Spain has put a debt on Cuba of $315,000,000. As it has a population of 1,500,000 it is as well to be fighting for freedom as to be starved by paying heavy taxes.

President Cleveland, accompanied by the members of his cabinet and their wives and Private Secretary and Mrs. Thurber, left Washington Monday to visit the Atlanta Exposition.

In the Federal Court at Greensboro last week a negro school teacher was convicted of sending an obscene letter through the mails and was sentenced to three years in Albany penitentiary.

Rev. George H. Church, who has been preaching at regular intervals on the streets in Statesville, said, in the course of his last Saturday evening's sermon, that he had more respect for the man who was brave enough to openly sell whiskey than he did for those who issued license to such a man.

At the recent term of Sampson Superior Court a deputy sheriff permitted a prisoner to escape and the grand jury promptly indicted the sheriff. The penalty for allowing a prisoner to escape is fine or imprisonment or removal from office, or all three.

J. T. Paysour, a conductor on the Chester and Lenoir Railroad, was instantly killed in the depot yard at Lenoir Thursday night.

A dispatch of the 15th from Ishpeming, Mich., says: The remains of the 4-year-old daughter of Adolph Lufreuer, who mysteriously disappeared last June, were found to-day in the attic of the building over a store in the center of the city, where the family lived.

The Burke County Fair last week was quite a success. The exhibits were neither large nor numerous, but were very fine.

Old people who take the medicine regularly the bowels and kidneys will find the remedy in Electric Bitters. This medicine does not stimulate and excite, no whiskey nor other intoxicant, but acts as a tonic and alterative.

The Southern Railway being the only line of transportation entering the exposition grounds, it has undertaken to proudly assert its recognition of this great responsibility, and has provided the most ample and accommodating terminal facilities, both at Lloyd Street Station, adjoining the Markham House, and immediately opposite the Union Depot in this city, and also at the grounds of the exposition itself.

The Southern Railway has arranged a system of quick train service between the city and the grounds such as the South has never before witnessed. These trains are arranged so as to be run within three minutes of each other, and afford a perfect connection.

Golden-Rod.

By the river, where the Willows green and golden, it's easy to find the golden-rod, to the brook's edge, where the water flows, where the sunbeams shine in splendor, and the birds are singing.

So, more bright do June's rich flowers in their brilliant colors seem; Not more grateful are the Lilies which all through the summer dream.

Not more sweet are the daisies which dance the daisies on the sod, Then in December, and October, gleams our own dear Golden-rod.

Purple mistletoe, my tapers, and soft in this sweet October weather, draw a light veil over the days; Yet there glows as though unretraced the rays of the sun god, in its own rare grace and beauty, gleaming, grateful Golden-rod.

What the Crocus is to spring time, and the Pinks are to June, What the shining sands of summer are to August's changing dune, What old landmarks are to pathways, that we have from childhood trod, So, into the sweet October, is her glowing Golden-rod.

—Dart Fairthorne.

BRIEF ITEMS OF INTEREST.

This county wants road improvements.

Weeds grow in cool weather, and some of them seem almost to defy the frost. Do not leave any of them in condition to start with vigor next spring.

Save all of the wood ashes for the enrichment of the garden and the fields.

The cabbage crop of this county is very short this year. Plant more next spring.

Grass seed sown just before freezing weather will be dormant through the winter, germinating very early in the spring.

The quality of the cotton is the highest ever seen in this State.

Eighty-five per cent of the amount of fertilizers sold in this State last year has been sold in the fiscal year now about to close. The decrease was more perceptible in South Carolina and Virginia than in North Carolina.

There are sixteen new cotton mills now being built in this State.

Experiments demonstrate that cooked potatoes have a feeding value equal to 25 per cent to that of corn. For pigs, especially when mixed with ground feed, cooked potatoes are a very satisfactory food.

THE GROWTH OF WHITE OAK.

Maj. J. Hotchkiss, of Staunton, Va., who was one of the eminent judges at the World's Fair has been preparing a report of the forestry exhibit from which the following interesting fact is learned: In the year 1787 a patent for 10,000 acres of land in the forests of Virginia was surveyed and the usual mark, probably by a big knife, was blazed on the trees. Mr. Hotchkiss has found five corner trees thus blazed, and has cut out blocks showing the mark made at the survey and also showing the rings of growth from the point of the original mark which rings correspond in number with the 107 years which have passed since the patent was surveyed. The average growth in white oak is only about four one-hundredths of an inch a year. The marks are as sharply defined as the lines where two different kinds of wood are joined, and yet the outside of

A Poultry Division at the Experiment Station.

The North Carolina Agricultural Experiment Station has added another division to the several already in operation, which will be known as the Poultry Division.

Among the specific studies for this division will be first to ascertain the best breeds of poultry which can be recommended for different sections of the State, how to raise them economically, including the best treatment for diseases and insects, and how to prepare and ship to market all poultry products.

It will be the endeavor to foster the industry in North Carolina so that a profitable and financially paying business may be inaugurated in any locality or on any farm. It is but little capital is required, the returns for the investment should always be large.

The Station proposes to publish educational bulletins to bring the matter before the attention of the people of the State, and to extend such knowledge to all who raise poultry, as would be of benefit in the management, preparation, and shipment to market.

The poultry manager in charge of the Poultry Division of the Experiment Station will be Mr. F. E. Hege now of the Riverside Poultry Farm of Newbern, N. C. He will enter upon his work on December 1st, on the farm of the Station adjoining the State Fair grounds.

The raising of poultry and poultry products for market (in North Carolina) is susceptible to great extension, and the new departure by the Station will without doubt contribute largely to that end and will prove of great and far-reaching value.

Two Lives Saved.

Mrs. Phoebe Thomas, of Junction City, Ill., was told by her doctors she had Consumption and that there was no hope for her, but two bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery completely cured her and she says she never had her life.

Mr. J. H. Rogers, 129 Florida St., San Francisco, had had a cold, approaching Consumption, and tried without result everything else then bought one bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery and in two weeks was cured. He is naturally thankful, it is such results, of which these are samples, that prove the wonderful efficacy of this medicine in Coughs and Colds. Free trial bottles at Morphew & White's Drug Store. Regular size 50c and $1.00.
