McIntyre-McCall.

This from last Thursday's Greensboro News:

"Yesterday afternoon Dr. Samuel H. McCall and Miss Minnie I. McIntyre, both of Troy, N. C., were quietly married in the parlor of the Guilford hotel at 5 o'clock. Rev. C. E. Hodgins, pastor of Westminster Presbyterian church, conducted the ceremony in the presence of a few very intimate friends.

"The couple arrived here yesterday afternoon and after summoning Rev. Hodgins they proceeded to the Guilford, where the marriage took place. There were no objections to the union on the part of the parents of either, it being a case where the bride and bridegroom preferred quiet simplicity to the telltale rice and shoes.

"Miss McIntyre is the daughter of the late Rev. Dr. Kenneth McIntyre, a noted Presbyterian divine, and a popular young lady of Troy. Dr. McCall is a successful young dentist, also of that place, and the two have a host of friends throughout this state who wish them a happy married life."

Mr. McCall is a son of Mr. Samuel McCall of North Cove. We join his many friends here in extending congratulations and best wishes.

For minor reasons he and his brother stopped in the path home and his brother seeing a large snake almost under his feet excitedly warned him to "lock out." Not knowing his danger he began to step about to see what was the matter. After knocking all the leaves off the snake and thoroughly arousing its anger he discovered a large rattlesnake in the very act of striking him. The snake measured four feet and two inches long. It was the black species.

THE HOME CANNING INDUSTRY

Department of Agriculture Has Issued Valuable Bulletin on Home Canning of Fruits and Vegetables.

One of the most timely and valuable bulletins has just been issued by Mr. P. B. Shaw, assistant horticulturist of the department of agriculture, on the subject of "The Home Canning of Fruits and Vegetables."

Because of the present high prices of food products, the question of the home production and canning of fruits and vegetables is of vital importance throughout the country. There is a general belief that there is something mysterious in the commercial canning process. The great secret is a careful observance of two things—cleanliness and complete sterilization.

It is possible for every housewife to run a small canning factory in her kitchen. Fruits and vegetables can be put up in glass jars or tin cans at home much cheaper than they can be purchased, and the general quality of the home-made product is superior to the product of the average factory.

This bulletin, which is illustrated, deals with the home canner, and shows in a clear-cut way just how this can be done and how to secure the best results. A copy, which is free upon application to the department of agriculture, should be in every kitchen in North Carolina.

The prospects are that the wheat crop this year will be the best in years. The outlook for an abundance of fruit is also good.

If you hope to secure the nomination for a county office this year why not get your announcement in THE PROGRESS. It costs no more to announce yourself now than it will only a week before the primaries. Our columns are open to both parties and all candidates.
