Farm and Garden

GROSBEAK IS OUR FRIEND.

Much Malignant Little Bird is Active Enemy of Destructive Insects.
 The grosbeak is a very much maligned bird and instead of being destructive to crops he is, on the contrary, of great benefit, according to farmers' bulletin 456, just issued by Secretary Wilson. The bulletin states that seven kinds of finches, commonly known as the grosbeak, summer within our boundaries. A majority of these are good friends of the farmer and deserve to be widely known in order that their services may be appreciated. The grosbeaks are easily distinguished from other finches by their stout form, bright plumage, massive bills and melodious voices. They live largely in agricultural regions and secure most of their food about cultivated lands. They perform invaluable service in destroying many of our worst insect pests.

The rose breasted species is a great destroyer of the potato bug. He breeds over Kansas and the mountains of Tennessee. The investigations of the department show that the bird is fond of green peas, but invariably consumes enough injurious insects to more than offset the damage. He has become famous for his preying on the Colorado potato beetle, and no less than one-tenth of the total loss it causes has been proved to be the potato beetle. It attacks the emerald beetle. It has proved an active enemy of the Rocky mountain locust during that insect's ruinous invasions, and among the other pest it consumes are the spring and fall cankerworms, orchard and forest tent caterpillars, tussock, gypsy and brown tail moths, plum curculio, arly worm and cinch bug. In fact, it attacks the worst enemies of agriculture.

The cardinal or redbird species ranges from southern Mexico. Lower California and Arizona north to Iowa and Ontario and east to the Atlantic coast. They are permanent residents, spending the summer and winter in the same locality. It has been claimed that they pull sprouting grain, but no evidence of damage to either grain or other crops is shown from over 500 examinations. On the contrary, they do much good. They feed on locusts, periodical cicada, the Colorado potato beetle, the rose chafer, cotton worm.

plum or cherry scale, the zebra caterpillar of the cabbage, the cucumber beetles, billbugs, locust flea beetle, corn ear worm, cotton cutworm, southern fig eater, codling moth and boll weevil and, in addition, are great consumers of injurious weed seeds.

The black headed grosbeak hails from southern Mexico and invades North Dakota and Nebraska. It fills the same place in the west that the grosbeak does in the east. It is a foe to the worst pests of horticulture, the scale insect composing a fourth of its food.

The blue grosbeak breeds over the southern two-thirds of the United States and is greatly destructive to weevils, grasshoppers, locusts, caterpillars and worms.

The gray grosbeak inhabits Texas, Arizona and New Mexico. It is a consistent enemy of the boll weevil and cotton worm. It also consumes great quantities of harmful weed seeds.

The bulletin in its plea for the protection of the grosbeak says: "Present investigations prove that the services of the grosbeak in destroying insect pests are invaluable. Each kind pays especial attention to certain pests which if unchecked would cause enormous loss. Few of our birds are to be credited with more good and with fewer evils than the grosbeak, and none more clearly deserves protection by the practical farmer."

Grain Speculator is a Curse.
 It's the business of the farmer to raise the grain; it's the business of the grain dealer to receive, clean and market the grain; it's the business of the miller to grind the grain, and it's the function of the speculator to buy the surplusage of the 5,000,000,000 bushels of grain produced in this country as a speculation, and any farmer, grain dealer, miller, artisan or professional who attempts to reap a livelihood from fluctuating grain prices is a quack speculator, a counterfeiter and a curse.—J. Ralph Pickell, Secretary Council of North American Grain Exchange.

Swiss Cow Bells.
 It is the custom of Swiss mountaineers to hang bells on the necks of their cows, and so accustomed and attached do the animals become to these bells that the deprivation of them is felt as a punishment. If any cow has been guilty of straying or unseemly behavior, a breach of discipline or any vicious trick the displeasure of the herdsman is not testified by blows, but by temporary deprivation of her bell, and this seldom fails to reduce her to order and to prevent a repetition of the offense.

Kill More Than Wild Beasts.
 The number of people killed yearly by wild beasts don't approach the vast number killed by disease germs. No life is safe from their attacks. They're in air, water, dust, even food. But grand protection is afforded by Electric Bitters, which destroy and expel these deadly disease germs from the system. There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address F. J.
