Apple-Raising in the Mountains.
Greensboro Herald.

Speaking of apple-raising in western North Carolina, Mr. R. F. Shower, land and industrial agent of the Clinchfield road, has converted the slope of the Blue Ridge mountains, just south of the tunnel through which Altapass is approached, into an orchard of thousands of trees. The success of his undertaking will be watched with interest.

NEWS OF THE STATE

Brief Record of Happenings of General Interest During the Past Week.

Mr. Phifer Erwin, of Morganton, N. C., one of the best known gentlemen of Western North Carolina, died Saturday.

The proposition for the establishment of a farm-life school in Gaston county was defeated in Saturday's election. The farmers' vote killed the proposition.

One man was killed, three were seriously injured and eleven other passengers in a crowded runaway street car down the steep hill sustained minor damages in a collision between the runaway, another car on the tracks and an ice wagon, at Winston-Salem last Saturday.

The Catawba County street fair at Hickory last week was a success and large crowds were present despite the unfavorable weather. Those who attended this fair pronounce it the best from the standpoint of the quality of the exhibits yet held in that section. The poultry and live stock exhibits were unusually fine.

A Wilkes county, Ga., farmer recently killed a mammoth Berkshire pig which tipped the scales at 635 pounds net weight. One shoulder of the porker weighed 79 pounds, and the leaf lard totaled 67 pounds, while the chine went up to 47 pounds. The hog was a little more than two years old and was raised and bred on the owner's Georgia farm. The dressed animal sold for over $80.

Greenlee News.

Old Fort, Nov. 14.—School started again last week after a vacation of six weeks. The attendance was not very large the first week, but more are expected later.

The boys have to cut wood at recess, but the girls get to play. "I wouldn't be a boy, would you?"

We have a strange "law" here. The girls and boys can play together at dinner-time, but they can't at recess. "Fifteen minutes after school" is the sentence.

The farmers are busy gathering corn and sowing wheat. The corn crop is very good, considering the drought.

Mrs. M. M. Burgin has returned from a visit to her daughter, Mrs. J. B. Johnson, in Morristown, Tenn.

W. H. Greenlee has gone to — on a business trip.

Miss Lennie Mackey of Asheville has been visiting Mrs. C. Mackey.
STUDENT.

Nebo Happenings.

Nebo, Nov. 12.—We all sympathize deeply with Mr. and Mrs. Lum Sigmon and family in the death of their baby child. About two o'clock last Saturday morning God called from this life little Luffin. She was six years of age. The body was taken to Glen Alpine for burial.

Rev. and Mrs. D. S. Richardson and Miss Eva Blair are attending conference at Statesville.

Miss Thessa Jamerson, Cora Rayburn and Vera Corpening spent the later part of the week at home.

Arthur McCall of Marion spent Sunday afternoon with his sister.

Messrs. Arthur Hicks and Jesse Corpening were at home Saturday and Sunday.

Card of Thanks.

We thank our many friends for the kindness, assistance and sympathy they have shown us during the sickness we have had for several months, and especially during the recent illness and death of our infant child. The many kindnesses are treasured and will ever be remembered.
MR. AND MRS. R. C. NANNEY.
