N. C. PROJECTS WILL RECEIVE $1,267,000

OF $43,000,000 RIVERS AND HARBORS BILL JUST PASSED BY THE SENATE.

SENATOR SIMMONS PLEASED

Largest Single Item of $1,000,000 For Inland Waterway From Norfolk to Beaufort.

Washington.—North Carolina projects will receive a total of $1,267,000 from the $43,000,000 appropriation of the river and harbor bill which passed the senate after a long fight. The bill now goes to conference where it will be agreed to.

The largest item is $1,000,000 for the completion of the inland waterway from Norfolk to Beaufort. This is the project for which Senator Simmons made vigorous argument in the senate when an effort was being made by the Republicans to reduce the appropriation to $200,000.

Senator Simmons is gratified at the result of the final vote. Congressman Small, who labored incessantly in the house for the bill, is greatly pleased at the outcome. "The discussion by the opponents of the bill in the senate was neither illuminating nor constructive. I'm speaking of the result and future plans."

Mr. Small said: "There were doubtless items in the bill which might provoke criticism. This can be said of every appropriation bill passed by Congress. The idea has gotten abroad that river and harbor legislation is unpopular, and some members and senators sought to get on the band wagon. Very much of the criticism of this bill, both in the house and senate was unfounded and will not bear intelligent inspection."

"The failure of the bill at this session would have been a misfortune and would have cost the country millions of dollars in depreciation of harbors and waterways, and in dredges and other appliances owned by the government."

"After this bill becomes a law it is the purpose of the house committee on rivers and harbors to begin at once the drafting of a bill to be presented at the next session of congress. The next bill will embrace few projects, among which will be improvements of the channel in Hampton Roads extending to the Norfolk Navy Yard which has already been favorably reported by the engineers."

Treating Pyromaniac Girl.
Kinston.—Novella Chase, the 13-year-old girl who started more than a score and a half of fires in seven days' time in the home of her father, T. W. Chase, a farm tenant, and who was arrested after she had burned down the home of a brother-in-law living nearby, is now an inmate of the Caswell Training School—the state institution for the feeble-minded, near here. She is to undergo treatment for the mania which impelled her to attempt to destroy with fire everything around her.

New Movie Star.
Wilmington.—Miss Louise Daniels Worth, daughter of Mr. C. W. Worth of Wilmington, and niece of Josephus Daniels, secretary of the navy, has become a motion picture player, and friends here have been much interested to learn within the past few days that she is meeting with great success in New York. Miss Worth took the leading role in "For Uncle Sam's Navy," which was recently produced by a big film corporation.

Weeds Are Taboo in Asheville.
Asheville.—Weeds are taboo in Asheville, or will be at the expiration of the 20 days necessary to make the anti-weed ordinance just passed by the city commissioners, a law. The new ordinance provides that weeds over four inches in height shall not be permitted in the city limits. The measure is designed to free Asheville of various hay-fever weeds and make the city a mecca for the sneezers.

Big Game for Pisgah.
Asheville.—Governor Locke Craig and George S. Powell, president and secretary, respectively of the Appalachian Park Association, have received assurances that they will receive a herd of 25 elk and a herd of at least a dozen buffaloes for the Pisgah Forest Reservation near here. The elk will be delivered to St. Louis by the government, and the Southern Railway has arranged to transport them free of charge to Asheville and the park management will take them to the reservation.

State News.

North Carolina ranked fourth in lumber production in 1915, according to an estimate by the United States Forest Service.

Major Z. B. Vance of the United States army, who has been on the retired list for about seven years and living in North Carolina—at Black Mountain—has been recalled to duty and detailed as quartermaster at Fort Niagara, N. Y.

Gov. Craig and Mr. Geo. S. Powell, the latter president and treasurer of the Appalachian Park Association, have received assurances that they will receive a herd of 25 elk and a herd of at least a dozen buffaloes for the Pisgah Forest Reservation, near Asheville. An enclosure is now being made in the forest for the big game.

A Niagara Falls power company has recently bought the Linville Falls and the property for several miles up and down the river from Col. G. H. Aubry. They are perfecting plans for one of the biggest power plants in this section of North Carolina. Unless their plans are changed a big dam will be built just at the head of the falls. —Lenoir News.

Vaccinated 1,412 In One Day.
Concord.—When the Cabarrus antityphoid campaign opened a few days ago and Doctor Bulla, who is directing it, vaccinated more than 500 persons, it was thought a record was established. But now more than twice this number were vaccinated in one day, the physician's report following the day's appointments at Kannapolis, Mount Gilead school house and Concord, showing that the treatment had been administered to 1,412. This is said to be a record number for the state board of health.
