Just what Ford service is, and why it is different from ordinary garage service. The Ford Dealer is a part of the Big Ford Family. He carries a large stock of genuine Ford parts for repairs and replacements, and he uses only genuine parts because he knows the imitation parts aren't dependable.

He has a thoroughly-equipped, up-to-the-minute garage with tools that enable his Ford mechanics to efficiently and properly make any repair—from a minor adjustment to a complete overhaul.

Now, we are Authorized Ford Dealers—a part of the great Ford Service organization which was formed chiefly to put within each community a dealer who would have more than a passing interest in Ford repairs and adjustments. Drive in or phone and we'll come for your car. Phone No. 343.

Republican National Convention in Chicago.

The Republican national committee selected Chicago, Ill., as the place and June 8, 1920, as the time for the national convention. Nine voted for St. Louis as against 44 for Chicago.

The committee also authorized the creation of two new departments of party organization to deal respectively with policies and general party welfare. The former, composed of selected members of the committee and other men and women representing labor, capital, the farmer and others, will go to work at once sorting out subjects to be dealt with in the 1920 platform. The second committee comprises an equal number of national party leaders and will function as an advisory council in the conduct of the campaign.

The plan of Will H. Hays, the national chairman, for limitation of individual campaign contributions to $1,000 formally was approved and the committee announced some changes in the apportionment of delegates to the national convention.

Two States will lose in the reapportionment of State representation in the Republican national convention, which is based on a detailed system of calculation adopted at the last national convention.

The net result will be the reduction of seven in number of delegates to vote in the 1920 convention, the total being 984 in place of 991 in 1916. North Carolina gains one, making 22, and Tennessee loses one, making 20.

Mr. Morehead, of North Carolina, was appointed on the policies and platform committee.

For Ample Navy.

Recommendations of the navy general board for the building program for 1921 include two battle ships, one battle cruiser, 10 scout cruisers, five destroyers "flotilla leaders" and six submarines.

In its recommendation the general board urged a policy of naval expansion that will guarantee protection of coast lines and the rapidly expanding merchant marine against any naval power in the world. Such protection, the board declared, can be had only by increasing American sea power to a point where it is "second to none" and maintaining it at that level.

The Fourteenth Decennial Census.

Hon. Sam L. Rogers, Director of the Census, has all machinery set up and ready to be put in motion for the 1920 census which begins on the 2nd day of January next. Very few people realize the magnitude of this work until they consider just what is to be accomplished along this line. In order to do the enumerating, it is going to require the work of 87,000 enumerators, 372 supervisors in addition to thousands of clerks and other employees used in compiling the figures. Every person in the land will be enumerated. Not only will his name be taken, but his age, sex, color, race, literacy and property holdings will also be shown. It will cover the complete holdings and standing of every man in the country, not only the owner of the palace but the occupant of the tenant house as well.

One of the most important things which will be shown in the approaching census will be the questions covering the farm. The condition of every acre of land will be shown, the farm products will be estimated, their values shown and all business of importance will be listed. It is the intention of the United States to find out just how each and every individual of the United States is living, not only as to his property holdings, but also the methods he is using on the farm. The farm implements will be listed, telephones, electric lights, water sewerage and automobiles will also be taken into consideration. In fact, every thing will be covered by this census which will have any bearing and give any information at all as to how the individual is living.

While this census is broad and comprehensive in its scope, covering every thing from a man's literacy to his property holdings, yet in its nature it is strictly confidential. Each and every officer employed by the Bureau of the Census is a sworn officer and no information obtained by these enumerators can be divulged to any party except to their superiors. Under no circumstances can the facts given be used as a basis for taxation, or for the purpose of harming any person whomsoever. The identity of the individual is lost as soon as these sheets are sent to Washington and no person need have any fear about divulging the true answer to any question asked by the enumerator.

The Bureau of the Census has always had the willing and hearty co-operation of the public in its work and it is confidentially looking forward to this same spirit of co-operation in the approaching Census.

C. C. Buchanan, supervisor of this district, has been busy during the past three months getting the district organized and everything in readiness for his co-laborers to begin their work the first of the year. There are 191 enumerators in this district, scattered through the thirteen counties comprising same. In the County of McDowell there has been appointed fifteen enumerators. These enumerators will pay a personal visit to each and every home in their respective enumeration districts some time during the month of January and it is to be hoped that each and every one will have a hearty welcome from the people whom they visit.
