

SUPPLEMENT TO MARION PROGRESS

Marion, N. C., Feb. 26, 1920

The southern division of the American Red Cross and the University of North Carolina have pooled interests and equipment and will establish at the 1920 summer school at Chapel Hill a school of public welfare offering a twelve weeks course for social workers of every kind and a special six weeks training course for North Carolina superintendents of public welfare.

The grand total of all the gold ore produced in the United States since 1792 is but about half of the amount of the last United Victory bond issue.
