MARION WOMEN ACTIVE IN THE ENLISTMENT OF WOMEN IN WAVES

Two young Marion women are taking an active interest in the enlistment of women in the WAVES. It was announced today by Chief Petty Officer F. O. Carver, Jr., of the Asheville Navy Recruiting Station.

They are, he said, Miss Ruth Jarrett, secretary to the McDowell Board of Education, and Miss Isabelle Roberts, deputy clerk of court for McDowell county. Both Miss Jarrett and Miss Roberts have WAVES pamphlets and other WAVES literature in their respective offices, and they will be glad to give this material to any women who are interested in knowing more about the WAVES or who are interested in making application for enlistment as a WAVE.

Miss Jarrett, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Jarrett of Marion, was educated in the Marion schools, graduating with the class of 1934 from Marion high school. Later, she took a business course there. After working in Raleigh with the Unemployment Compensation Commission and the State Board of Health, she returned to Marion to accept a position in the office of County Supt. N. F. Steppe.

Miss Roberts, a native of Marion, resided for a number of years in Bristol, Tenn., receiving her education in the schools of that city. She was graduated from the Bristol high school with the class of 1936, returning to Marion that year to make her home. She now resides here with her mother, Mrs. Amy Roberts.

Both Miss Roberts and Miss Jarrett will be glad to assist any woman who is interested in making application for the WAVES. The Navy Recruiter, Chief Petty Officer, F. O. Carver, Jr., visits Marion weekly and will be in readiness to lend such further assistance as may be necessary in the filing of a formal application for the WAVES. He can be contacted on Thursday of this week in the City Hall. Next week, he will be in Marion on Friday and Saturday, with his headquarters in the City Hall assembly room.

ROTARY CLUB REVIEWS PROJECTS OF PAST YEAR

The regular weekly meeting of the Rotary Club last Friday featured the annual report of J. A. Wier, retiring president. Mr. Wier reported an increase of two members in the enrollment.
