Cooking Class

Many homemakers consider it a chore to use the last bits of food, although they really can provide flavor for many delicious dishes. One thing to remember about leftover meat is to use the meat in slices as long as it will slice. Try these recipes which feature leftover meat.

Leftover Slices of Meat

Dip leftover slices of meat in milk, then in bread crumbs or corn meal and fry in deep fat.

Dip slices in catchup, then corn flakes, they fry in deep fat.

Devil the slices by brushing them with a mixture of melted butter, mustard and Worcestershire sauce.

Curried Pork

- 2 cups chopped leftover pork
- 1 cup sliced onion
- 3 tablespoons pork drippings
- 4 cups diced tart apples
- 1 cup thin gravy
- 1 teaspoon curry powder
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice
- 1 teaspoon salt

Cook onions in pork drippings for 5 minutes. Add apples and cook until tender. Add the pork, gravy, curry powder, lemon juice and salt. Heat the mixture thoroughly stirring occasionally to prevent sticking. Serve hot with rice.

Ham and Egg Custard

- 4 slices of bread
- 1 cup grated cheese
- Salt and pepper
- 4 eggs
- 2 cups scalded milk
- 1 cup ground cooked ham
- 3 slices bacon cooked and crumbled

Cut each slice of bread into 4 strips. Arrange half the strips in a well greased shallow casserole. Sprinkle 1-2 cup of cheese over the bread. Arrange remaining bread over the top. Beat eggs slightly and add salt and pepper. Add scalded milk gradually. Then add the ham. Mix well. Pour over the bread and let stand 30 minutes. Sprinkle top with 1-2 cup cheese and crumbled bacon. Set custard in pan of hot water and bake in an oven 350 degrees for an hour or until a knife comes out clean.

Rice and Meat Loaf

- 2-3 cups uncooked rice
- 2 cups chopped cooked meat
- 3-4 cup gravy or stock
- 2 tablespoons margarine
- 2 tablespoons flour
- Salt
- 3 tablespoons chili sauce
- 1 tablespoon chopped onion
- Tomato sauce

Cook rice. Mix meat with gravy or stock and salt. Add flour and margarine which have been cream-

Gay Ninety Gardens Back
But with a Difference

Differing from parterre planting of the nineties, modern doorway gardens emphasize beauty of the flowers, and not a pattern.

Back in the days when women wore bustles, flowers in front yards were in fashion. Now that bustles are coming back, doorway gardens are returning, but with a difference from the fashion followed in the nineties.

Then, flowers were used to work out elaborate designs in beds of geometric shapes. This was an ancient fashion, dating back to the middle ages, known as parterre work. The beauty of the parterre was in its pattern, with the flowers used only to supply the color which developed it. Few examples of this method are now seen in this country.

Modern doorway gardens are as simple as possible in design, in order to center attention upon the beauty of the flowers. These are grouped in masses of one color, so arranged that each mass harmonizes with and sets off the others, and all provide a pleasing decoration for the house.

For these beds, annual flowers of low, compact growth are most suitable subjects. They will flower without ceasing from July until freezing weather, even in the northern states, and are easily grown from seed, when started early under protection, or in the garden itself as soon as the weather permits.

The garden illustrated is a simple arrangement of border plantings for a small house where the walk leads from the private driveway to the front door. Both house and lot will be made to seem larger by this arrangement. Bright red, or pink salvias, and the clear vivid red, pink, blue and buff verbenas will provide a brilliant decoration for a white, or grey house.

Both salvia and verbenas are slow growing, and seed should be started early in a hot-bed or greenhouse, so that plants of good size can be set out as soon as danger of frost is over. If seed is sown directly in the garden, flowers may be delayed two or three weeks. Sweet alyssum, however, will grow quickly from seed and either a dwarf white variety, or the dark purple Violet Queen Alyssum may be used. If the plants are sheared when they grow too tall, flowers will be increased, and a low growing border constantly maintained.

ed together. Heat to boiling point, add chili sauce and onion. Spread half the rice in a well-greased loaf pan, over this spread the meat mixture, cover with the remainder of the rice. Press down firmly. Steam for forty minutes. Turn out on platter and surround with tomato sauce.

Make a sauce of the butter, vinegar, currant jelly, mustard, salt and cayenne. Reheat lamb in sauce.

Barbecued Lamb

- Cold roast lamb cut in slices
- 2 tablespoons melted butter
- 3-4 tablespoons vinegar
- 1-4 cup currant jelly
- 1-4 teaspoon dry mustard
- Salt and cayenne

FARM NEWS

The 1949 national acreage goals for corn, oats, and soybeans are substantially the same as the 1948 goals.

More than three million farms—well over half the nation's total—now gross less than $1500 a year. Per capita income of persons on farms last year amounted to a little over $900, as compared with $1569 for non-farm persons.

As one of the world's most contagious and devastating maladies, foot-and-mouth disease is a serious threat to the livestock and food resources of all nations. It attacks mainly cattle, swine, sheep, and goats, but also affects other cloven-footed animals. Except for nine outbreaks of limited duration, the United States has successfully maintained its freedom from this foreign plague. It has done so largely through preventive measures applied by the Bureau of Animal Industry.
