ROTARY CLUB

tation of the Arabian Prince, the big laugh event of the evening got underway—Babes in Blunderland. Three of the Club's youngest or "Baby" members were asked to choose their "mamas" from the audience, other than their wives. Three complete layettes including baby gowns, bonnets and bibs were rushed to the stage. When the mamas were asked to dress their babies, the fun broke loose. The babes were to be prepared for a sitdown race, their mamas to guide plug for them. What followed was so unexpected and filled with surprise that you couldn't hear a word above the mounting crescendo of laughter. Baby Matt McBrayer, encouraged by eager gesturing and pats on the back by his mama, Mrs. Charlie Smith won the prize. Dr. William (Bill) Gladden was a close second. There was something doing at the Laugh Fiesta from the very start. On arriving, guests were met by Marshal Dark and Pat Davis who presented them with "Cheerio" folders to be used in a Merry Mixer. These got the guests talking at one, on friendly terms. Prize went to Mrs. Charlie Smith.

Action favors contributed to the merriment during the dinner. Pandora's Box of wit, wisdom and satire brought 25 people to their feet at different times with humorous thrusts at human fads and foibles. Climax of the party was The Battle of the Sexes in Song. Special song books were distributed with clever words to well known tunes. General Albert Hewitt was in charge of the men. Generalissima Mrs. Pat Davis led the women. The roasting battle was declared a draw. Then joining together, as all fair partners should, they sang witty words to the tune of Auld Lang Syne.

Program Chairman Pat Davis had for his assistants, Charlie Smith, David Gray, Hubert Martin, Jack Hewitt, Albert Hewitt and Emmet Ross.

speaker questions. Kiviranna served as pastor of St. John's Lutheran Church in Tallin, Estonia, a congregation of 20,000 souls. He was also secretary of the National Church in Estonia in charge of foreign relations. In this position he traveled throughout Europe and is regarded as one of the well informed men in the United States on the European Church. He will speak with authority on his subject of the challenge of communism to Christianity.

Twice Estonia was overrun by the Russians; once before being driven out by the Nazis and once afterwards. He has a dramatic story to tell of being a refugee.

In January of this year he was called to serve the Estonian Lutheran Church in New York City, the largest Estonian congregation in North America. His congregation now consists in part of Displaced Persons re-settled in America. He therefore speaks in the interest of Europe's homeless.

On Friday Kiviranna will speak in Rutherfordton. About 20 Displaced Families will be settled in Rutherford county. His appearance in Marion at St. Matthew's Lutheran Church will give the people of McDowell county an opportunity to find out more about these Displaced Persons and about re-placing them in America.
