Here's all you have to do.

Read the biographical sketch below and decide what man in history it describes. Then look through the advertisements in this issue to find his name. You will find his first name in one ad and his last name in another. Look c a r efully! It may be contained in fine type. The first two adults living within the city limits, first student over 12 and first student under 12 to bring the Progress to the office Thursday morning and show us the names as they appear in the ads, will receive free prizes.

No phone calls. You must call for the passes in person.

IMPORTANT! PLEASE NOTE! In order to give the county readers the same opportunity our town readers have to particiapte in the contest, county passes will not be awarded until Saturday morning. The first rural reader arriving Saturday morning with the correct solution will be awarded a pass. Here is this week's biography. Read each word carefully, then look for the answer in the display ads: Born at Caprese in Tuscany and was of the ancient family of the counts of Canossa. He became a distinguished Italian painter, sculptor, architect and poet. Having distinguished himself in sculpture and painting, he was commissioned (together with Leonardo de Vinci) to decorate the senatehall at Florence with a historical design, but before it was finished in 1505, he was induced by Pope Julius II to settle in Rome. He painted the dome of the Sistine Chapel. His last considerable works in painting were the two large pictures: the "Conversion of St. Paul," and "The Crucifixion of St. Peter."
